

WORD AS RECEIVED FROM OSBORN

James Isbell, Volunteer Fireman, Killed When Fire Truck Overtakes Monday A. M.

Opal Simpson and Richard Collins Hurt

Funeral services for James Isbell, 18-year-old Walton volunteer fireman, who was killed Monday when a fire truck overturned in Walton, were held at the Chambers and Grubbs funeral home, Walton, at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday, with Rev. R. DeMoise officiating. Burial was in the Walton Cemetery.

According to Fire Chief James R. Allen, the accident which took the young volunteer's life occurred as the fire engine was answering a call and swerved to avoid an oncoming truck.

Firemen were called to a home in South Walton, but ironically, there was no fire, merely heavy smoke from an inoperative flue.

Two other men were injured in the same accident. They are Opal W. Simpson, 19, driver, and Richard Collins, 18, fireman, who was riding on the rear of the pumper. Both were thrown clear, but sustained severe cuts and bruises. They later were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, and released.

Fireman Isbell leaves his parents Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Isbell, Russell Springs, Ky.; two sisters, Ruth Ann and Louise Isbell, all at home, and his grandfather, Wm. Isbell of Walton.

Land Bank Declares A Dividend

The Federal Land Bank of Louisville has declared a dividend of $412,682.50 announces M. S. Kennedy, Jr. president.

It will be paid to the bank's stockholders, the 118 national farm loan associations in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, on December 22. This brings to almost $5,000,000 the amount of dividends paid by the bank since it was chartered in 1917.

The dividend just declared, explained Kennedy, is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1948. It is paid early in the fiscal year in order to give the national farm loan associations an opportunity to declare dividends so they can distribute dividend checks to their 28,000 members at annual meetings held between January 15 and April 15.

The amount of the Land Bank's dividend that each association can pass on to its farmer members will depend upon the association's financial condition and the progress it is making on its reserve program, Mr. Kennedy said.

All-Talking Picture at Independence

On Sunday night, January 4th at 7:30, everybody is cordially invited to see and hear an all-talking religious motion picture program, "Five Minutes to Live," at the Independence Baptist Church.

If you had only five minutes to live, what would you say to those around you? This is the question that Dr. H. A. Ironside, pastor of the Moody Memorial Church of Chicago, Dr. Walter L. Wilson, Dr. W. B. Riley and Dr. Oswald J. Smith answer in this film.

Also to be shown is a "Trip to the Zoo," for children. Merlita and Gene spend a glorious day at the Zoo visiting the animals. Every scene has a spiritual application. "That Boy Joe," depicts Mr. and Mrs. Hastings, who thought they were bringing up their son and daughter in the best possible way because they were lenient and let their children travel their own path, but youth does not always know the right path to travel. See how the Judge of the Juvenile Court opens the eyes of these wealthy, indulgent parents to what good home life and good influences, such as character-forming clubs, Sunday School and Church attendance can accomplish for their son and daughter.

Invite your friends. A free-will offering will be taken.

Calls Wife Christmas Night; Whereabouts Unknown

Word has been received from Cecil W. He did not mention his exact location.

Osborn, a painter and paper hanger, left his home early December 19th, starting for a job in Walton, in a 1936 car and the police and authorities of several states have been on look for him or his car every since and this phone call that came Christmas day was the first word of any kind that was received, according to reports.

Pair Enter Store at Verona

Boone county authorities are holding Arthur Stewart, 23, Crittenden, and Eddie Combs, 24, Jackson, Ky., on breaking and entering charges in connection with a robbery at the confectionery and grocery at Verona, owned by Jess Ross.

The two were arraigned before County Judge C. L. Cropper in Burlington, Saturday at 2 p. m.

According to Sheriff Irvin Rouse, Robert Thompson, who occupies an apartment above the grocery, aroused Mr. Ross Thursday night when he heard a noise in the store. The two men overtook Stewart, who had taken a money box outside. They called Sheriff Rouse, who entered the store and brought out Combs.

Stewart had $8 in cash, believed to have been taken from the box, and Combs had cigarets and other articles in his pockets. The pair gained entrance by forcing a window.

Beliefs That Matter

Lesson for January 4, 1948

THE first three months of 1948 will reintroduce us to some of the great Christian teachings in regard to God, Man, Salvation and Christian Living. While many of us have studied these great teachings again and again, we shall be greatly profited in the lessons of this quarter, looking at life in today's changing world in the light of these timeless truths.

Dr. Newton signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this Book; but these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name." John 20:30, 31. "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them; for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee." 1 Timothy 4:16.

The Story of Lydia

SEE how the above truths are borne out in the story of Lydia, Acts 16:11-15. Here was a prosperous business woman, making an honorable living. "Whose heart the Lord opened," Paul taught her the way of salvation. She and her household were baptized, she took Paul and his helpers into her home, and became a tower of strength as the Gospel was being spread throughout Europe.

Lydia was not attracted to Paul by his eloquent preaching, but by the story of God's love which Paul faithfully gave. And when she had been saved, she began immediately to translate her faith into works.

Proving Our Beliefs

JUNIOR boys and girls will like this story about Lydia because it is practical. We can see a woman opening her home to the preachers of God. We can see her in her place of business, inviting her customers to come and hear Paul preach. She was a living sermon.

Every junior boy and girl in every Sunday school in the United States can render the same vital service during 1948. There are literally millions of boys and girls in this country who have never been to Sunday school. They do not know anything about a Sunday school, but they would like to know.

You can start a movement in your community that will solve problems that the mayor and police cannot solve. They will thank you for your help, and God will bless you in time and eternity. Invite that neighbor boy or girl to Sunday school.

Belief Makes a Difference

YOU are what you believe. Ask the football or basketball coach. Ask the man who teaches people to fly planes in your community. You are what you believe. "Every one who believes that Jesus is the Christ is a child of God." 1 John 5:1. And it matters greatly what you believe. You can go wrong very easily by believing what is false about God, just as you can go wrong very easily in flying a plane by failing to believe the right thing about the laws of physics.

Beliefs That Matter

JESUS is the Christ, the Son of God. That is the number one belief that matters. It was so on the day when Jesus announced, "On this rock I will build my church," Matthew 16:18. It is absolutely basic in every relationship of life.

I meet with business and professional men every day, in widely varying walks of life, who tell me that they are sustained by this belief. During the recent war, men lived in this basic belief. In these trying days at hand and ahead, belief in Jesus as the Son of God is the norm. We cannot face these difficult days without this anchor. And all this quarter we shall be studying, Sunday after Sunday, this great truth and those that grow out of this fundamental concept.

What a privilege to teach this great truth! The Sunday school teachers of our country are the most important single group we have. By their voluntary service, they are pointing our people to the one sure road that leads to the City of God. My prayer is that they shall daily seek to qualify under the formula of 1 Timothy 4:16, "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them; for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee."

A BIBLE READING

James, chapter 3—Behold, we put bits in the horses' mouths, that they may obey us, and we turn about their whole body. Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things; behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth! And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity; so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell. But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison. —Robert F. Cooke, Bamboo Harris Apts., Hamilton, Ohio

Sue Greenup of Metcalfe county, a 4-H'er, raised all the chicks started in her grier project, and made a profit of $20 on 51 birds.

BIG CORN YIELD ON CLEARED LAND

Five acres of waste bottomland grown up to willows was made into a profitable piece of farm land by C. A. Thomas of Christian county when he cleared it two years ago, used large amounts of fertilizer and planted hybrid seed corn, noted Farm Agent H. E. Crabtree. Mr. Thomas' 1046 crop yielded 87 bu. to the acre.

The following year, Thomas plowed under 800 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer and eight loads of manure to the acre, then side-dressed the corn with 185 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre. As a result, he increased his corn yield to 103.5 bushels per acre in 1947. The average distance between rows was 40 inches, the stalks averaging 13 inches apart in the row.

DISEASE-FREE LEAF ADDS $191 AN ACRE

In a comparison of root-rot resistant tobaccos with those which are not disease resistant, J. M. Arnold of Franklin county found the former brought him $191 more per acre. S. M. Calvert of the same county found the average value per acre of the root-rot resistant varieties was $883.82 as compared with $630 for the non-disease resistant kinds, or a difference of $153 per acre. Grading was done by a Federal grader, and computations made on the basis of the government support prices, said C. M. Richardson, junior county agent.

Of 16 corn derby entrants in Fleming county, 8 have an average of 100 bushels or more per acre.

Baptist WMS Meets

The Walton Baptist W. M. S. met at the church Dec. 18th. The morning session was called to order by Mrs. Soden, second vice president. After a song, scripture reading and prayer, necessary business was transacted. Special attention was called to the fact that at the January meeting, a box of clothing will be packed and sent to Eastern Kentucky Missionaries for use in the work there. All who will contribute to this cause are asked to bring their offering of clothing to the meeting in January.

After lunch, the program for the month, as presented in "Royal Service," was directed by Mrs. Soden, several members taking part.

Those present were Mrs. Abernathy, Mrs. Julia Acra, Mrs. Bess Conrad, Mrs. Hallie Cook, Mrs. Gerude Daniels, Mrs. Blanche Franks, Mrs. Anna Johnson, Mrs. Jane Johnson, Mrs. Julia Pennington, Mrs. Mary Rector, Mrs. Bertha Soden, Mrs. Ann Soden, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Miss Mollie Chapman and Mrs. Relda Powers.

Dorcas Class Meets

The Dorcas Class of the Baptist Sunday School met in the basement of the church on December 16th to honor their teacher, Mrs. Susie Norman on her birthday.

The Christmas spirit prevailed. Tables were appropriately decorated, and a lovely covered-dish luncheon was served. Thanks to the Father in Heaven, the giver of all good gifts, was offered by Rev. A. K. Johnson, and the singing of "Happy Birthday" greeted Mrs. Norman as she took her place at the table.

Following the lunch hour, Mrs. Grace Jones directed a program consisting of Christmas songs, a Christmas devotional, and well-chosen Christmas stories.

Mrs. Blanche Franks, president of the class, then presented to Mrs. Norman an appropriate gift, a token of the love and esteem of the class, of which she has been a faithful and devoted teacher these many years.

An exchange of gifts among those present brought to a close this happy event.

In Henry county, five farmers purchased cooperatively 1,012 head of north western ewe lambs, this being the second year for such a plan.

Uncle Sam Says

United States Savings Bonds have made last minute Christmas shopping worries a thing of the past for wise Americans. In fact even though you thought about what to give members of your family or close friends for a month of Sundays you could not come up with a better idea than Savings Bonds. Think of Savings Bonds in terms of what they will do for the recipient. For example, bonds provide immediate funds in the event of an emergency and help to pay for education, travel, a new home or a dozen and one other things which members of your family dream about. Your gift of a bond makes you a partner in the realization of the fondest hope of someone you love. What more could you ask of a Christmas gift?

FLYING FARMERS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

The Kentucky Flying Farmers are planning to attend the annual Farm and Home Convention at the Experiment Station in Lexington, Jan. 27-30, according to R. H. Giltner of Emence, president of the organization. A color and sound picture will explain the use of airplanes in agriculture, and D. E. Postle of the Bell Aircraft Corporation will speak. Plans include having a helicopter on display at the convention.

LAMBS AND WOOL PAY FOR FLOCK

William Mansfield of Warren county bought 75 yearling ewes in the fall of 1946, and then 2 rams for $55 each. This season the lambs and wool from the flock paid for the entire investment, he told County Agent R. C. Hopper, and he still has the 75 ewes and 2 rams.

Uncle Sam Says

Why not step on your own personal-security self-starter to make 1948 the best year in your life? When you sign up to buy United States Savings Bonds through automatic payroll savings right where you work, or the Bonds-A-Month Plan where you bank, you're adding money that grows to your income. Those dollars you put aside, before they have the chance to sprout wings and fly away, are sure to come in handy later on—to buy a home for your family, an education for your children, or years of leisure for yourself. And, best of all, you'll be getting back more than you put in—$100 at maturity for every $75 invested today. U. S. Treasury Department

Kitty, Kitty!
Then there was the pompous looking woman who was holding forth at a club meeting and telling of the dream she had had the night before. "It was terrible," she explained. "I dreamed that all the animals that went to make up my furs were standing right there at the foot of my bed."

One of her listeners turned to another woman and said, "How silly of her to let a few alley cats frighten her."

Expert Knowledge
A thrifty man went to a lawyer for advice. After the interview the man ran into an acquaintance and told him about it.

"But why spend money on a lawyer?" asked the other. "When you sit in his office, did you see all the law books there? Well, what he told you you could read in those law books."

"You're right," admitted the advice seeker, "but that lawyer—he knows what page it's on."

NO HAT NEEDED

A crowd of admiring friends had gathered around the owner of a horse who had come in first at Santa Anita, Belmont and Jamaica race tracks. "Will you race him in the derby?" asked one.

"No," was the reply. "He'll run bareheaded like the rest of them."

—PAUL V. ROBINSON—

"If the Lord ever shows me it's wrong, I will quit it." How many times have we heard those words spoken by people who were sincere in their desires, yet found themselves bound by the chains of the tobacco habit!

I know of nothing commendable that could be said about the use of tobacco. And I dare say that there is no one who refrains from the use of it—and very few who do use it—who would recommend it to anyone else. Yet, many who use it try to justify themselves by saying, "If the Lord ever shows me it's wrong, I will quit it."

Friend, I doubt if God will ever make it any plainer to you than what is revealed in his written Word. The Pharisees and Sadducees on several occasions felt that they needed something more convincing than the words of our Lord and asked for a sign. Jesus said that no sign would be given them, and referred them to the teachings of the Scriptures (Matt. 12:38-40). I believe if we will re-examine the Word of God with an honest heart, we shall find it all-sufficient to shed light upon any subject or answer any question we would like to have answered.

Some will say, "If it is wrong to use tobacco, why is it impossible to find anything about it in the Bible?" Tobacco was unknown to the civilized world until the fifteenth century when the American Indian was found using it by the early explorers of our country. That was almost 1500 years after the writers of the New Testament had finished their work. But God, who could foresee all things, inspired the Apostle Paul to write these words, "Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God." (II Cor. 7:1).

Now let us examine the subject of tobacco from the standpoint of Christian example, as well as its harmful effects upon the human body. Then let it be judged in the light of God's truth.

1. Practically everyone will readily admit that tobacco is an enslaving habit. "For of whom a man is overcome, of the same he is brought in bondage" (II Peter 2:19). It soon binds the one who indulges in its use until few find themselves able within their own power to break that bondage. Edward J. Young in his book, "The Use of Tobacco," has said, "There is indeed no bondage more relentless, and no chain harder to break. Even the appetite of the drunkard is often more easily overcome."

If you are a victim of the tobacco habit and would like to be set free from the bondage of its enslaving powers, take courage from the words of Paul in I Corinthians 15:57: "But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

There is victory for you in Jesus. The One who set us free from the bondage of sin can also instantly break the chains of the tobacco habit. For, "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed" (John 8:36).

2. It is a filthy habit. That the use of tobacco is a filthy habit is a fact which few people will deny, and the statement needs no comment. The Word of God tells us to "cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh, perfecting holiness in the fear of God."

3. It is an expensive and wasteful habit. We hear the words of the prophet, "Wherefore do ye spend your money for that which is not bread?" (Isa. 55:2). Statistics show that America last year spent more than $3,000,000,000 for tobacco. That is enough to send every available missionary to all parts of the earth and support them and at the same time feed every hungry and starving person of the war-torn world for many months. The sad part of it is that a large percentage of this money was spent by "professing" Christians while the cause of God suffered.

4. It is an injurious habit. "The nicotine in one cigar, if extracted and administered in a pure state, would suffice to kill two men," says a prominent physician. "The smoker cannot escape the poison of tobacco; it gets into his blood, travels the whole length of the system, interferes with the heart's action, and the general circulation and affects every organ and fiber of the frame." To show the deadly effects of nicotine, it has been stated that one-fifth of a grain has produced death in a human being.

In the face of all this, let us consider the fact that our bodies are the temple of the Holy Ghost. "What, know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you?" (I Cor. 6:19). "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy, for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are" (I Cor. 3:16-17).

Father-Son Basketball Game Friday Night; Cats Play N. H. Tue.

Game Friday For Scouts

"A Feudin' and A Fightin'" are merely play words in comparison to the fight that will take place in the Walton gym Friday night when the Fathers-Sons basketball game comes off.

The way this ball game was started, is this: The fathers of the basketball boys have been telling the boys how to play all year and criticizing everything they do—so the other night the team had enough—they challenged the fathers to a ball game, with the proceeds going to the Walton Boy Scouts.

This will be a fight to the finish (and that won't take long if I know the fathers) and the fathers have agreed that if the boys beat them, they will keep their mouths shut all the rest of the year (the boys will have one heck of a time enforcing this, I bet).

Here are some of the comments about the game from a few of the participating Pops:

Jimmy Vest: "I'll hold that Dike down or bust a g - trying."

"Doc" Maddox: "I'll get that Johnny if I have to climb him over the head."

J. B. Johnson rubbed back and said: "That long drink of water, Tommy, can't outplay me."

Ois Resnour said, with a confident air: "Them kids won't be hard to hold." I would say you had better "hold".

"Wicky" Rice merely remarked that Donnie would have to step some to win.

It is also rumored that there is a slight wager on between Maynard Meadows and his Pop as to who scores most. (Don't be surprised if Maynard has lots of spend-money next week).

Coach Ellis Jack, when asked what he thought, said: "This is really our toughest game of the year—a toss-up."

Besides this feature game, there will be a preliminary, with the boys from the Grades participating. The first contest will start at 7:30, and don't forget to come—and help the Boys Scouts.

Cats Play Two Next Week

The Walton-Verona Bearcats return to the High school basketball next week, following their Christmas vacation, and they have a couple of "tough cookies" on tap. On Tuesday night, January 13th, they go to New Haven for a Boone County Conference tussle with the Tigers, and on Friday night, January 16th, they visit the Pioneers at Simon Kenton High.

The Cats won their last five starts before the holidays, and they will endeavor to maintain this consecutive string of victories, but they will have to be "on their toes" in order to accomplish this, as both of these clubs are plenty tough on their own floors.

Officers Installed at Florence

Cecil Osborn Returns Home Last Wed. Nite

Cecil Osborn returned to his home here last Wednesday night, after having been missing for several days. He was in a very nervous condition, according to reports. He hardly remembered where he had been or how long he had been gone. He was taken to Nicholas Veterans Hospital, Louisville, where the examining physician reported an operation would be necessary as well as a long period of rest.

Cecil returned on his own accord, and immediately the warrant issued for him was withdrawn, since it was issued only so that Cincinnati authorities would have the power to arrest in finding him.

Everyone is glad that he has returned and hope for his speedy recovery.

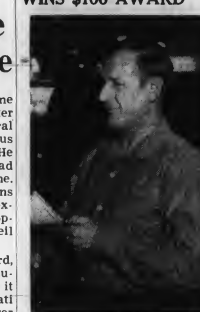

Hunters Take Heed

The critical time of the hunting season is here. Just how much game is left now for next year's seed crop is left entirely in the hands of each and every hunter—from now on to the end of hunting season. At least eight quail should be left in a covey and in areas where rabbits are hard to find, it would perhaps be better not to hunt at all. The wist huntler will be careful to see that enough seed stock is left for next year. Hawks and crows that prey upon our wild life make better targets now than during the summer. Those killed now will not get a chance to multiply and feed on chickens, game and wildlife this summer.

INDEPENDENCE MAN WINS $100 AWARD

Thomas A. Cain

Thomas A. Cain, Station Road, Independence, was awarded the 4th grand prize of $100 in the annual suggestion contest, sponsored among employees of the American Laundry Machinery Company, Norwood, Ohio. The award was presented by Harry W. Knox, Factory Manager, at a mass meeting of employees of the Norwood plant, Dec. 19th.

Mr. Cain's winning suggestion concerned an improved design for a part used on the Cascade Unload Washer, one of the Company's newest automatic laundry machines. In addition to winning the 4th grand prize, Cain participated in the fine savings his suggestion effected during the past year. Since he submitted one of the ten best suggestions of the year, Mr. Cain is eligible to receive an additional share in the savings effected by his idea during 1948.

Annual Meet Is Held At Independence

The annual meeting of the Kenton County Artificial Breeding Cooperative was held in the Independence Courthouse on January 2nd, at 1:30 p. m., and the following officers and directors elected:

President, Stanley Bird; Vice President, Leslie Riley, and Secretary and Treasurer, Geo. Damon. Directors: Leslie M. Riley, Robert F. Porter, Joe Neumeister, Marlon F. Collins, Cecil C. Northcutt, Stanley Bird and Geo. L. Folmer. Advisory Council: John W. Shaw, Earl Stein, Orie S. Ware, Geo. A. Damon, C. D. McDannold, and John M. Dwyer.

Local Director to attend the Ky. Artificial Breeding Association: Joe Neumeister.

Technician for the local Artificial Breeding Cooperative: Robert Jackson.

Robert L. Connor, Sec'y-Treas. of the Kentucky Artificial Breeding Association, and Marshall Carpenter attended the meeting and told about the development of the State Association. They pointed out that the success of the local and State Association depends on artificial breeding in other states and the importance of this work to the dairy business.

Mr. M. Riddell from the Cooperative Pure Milk Association told about the growth of artificial breeding in other states and the importance of this work to the dairy business.

C. A. Wicklund, County Agent, explained the value of the Dairy Brand Breeding and production record chart issued by the Dairy Department of the College of Agriculture, Lexington. This chart enables the individual dairymen to keep a production record and a breeding record of his cows.

According to the report of George Damon, secretary, and Robert Jackson, technician for the local cooperative, to date, there are 160 members with 1,209 cows signed up for artificial breeding in the Kenton County Artificial Breeding Cooperative.

Also Enjoy A Chick'n Dinner

Tuesday night, Dec. 30th, found a packed house at the Verona school auditorium to hear James J. Gilpin, State Superintendent of Education for the Division of Game and Fish of Kentucky. With a full stomach of baked chicken and all the trimmings, together with a battery of home-made pies, it was a colossal dinner engagement for all members and families of the club, together with their guests. The food committee, headed by Charles Ryan, had the situation well in hand, with due praise to their wives and helpers.

Mr. Gilpin reviewed the lack of game conservation in other countries and how bleak the picture might be for us if we fail to do our part in going all out for game and fish conservation. In its broadest sense here in Kentucky. What entertainment afforded hunters and fishermen during the past season is only a "drop in the bucket" of what might be made possible by a well organized conservation program in every community in Kentucky. Boone County is blessed with natural cover which is so important to successful game propagation. In the last several years farmers have made good progress in land conservation in this county, the result being more and better game food crops. All of this combined with stricter law enforcement and re-stocking programs has kept the county from being stripped clean of game by the ever increasing number of hunters each year.

In addition to Mr. Gilpin's timely and helpful address on Game and Fish Conservation, his personally conducted musical program was well received and no doubt was left as to his being an accomplished musician. Augmenting this fine entertainment feature was the game conservation movie, shown by Stanley Shelton, District Supervisor. Other Conservation Officers in attendance were Edmond Johnson and Albert Hunt.

Climaxing the evening was the enthusiasm shown for this newly formed club in the high bidding on surplus pies, auctioned off by Bill Scroggin, Club President. The proceeds will go to the building fund for the construction of a club house and baseball park.

What We Know of God

Lesson for January 11, 1948

THE Scripture for Sunday's lesson is Isaiah 40:28-31; Matthew 8:2; John 14:19; and Acts 17:23-31, with Psalm 33 as the devotional reading.

"Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? There is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint, and to them that increase strength."

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

That is the passage from Isaiah. What a promise! In this hour when men are bending beneath the burden of a war-weary world, how it gives lift to one's soul to contemplate the words of this great and blessed promise.

God Our Maker

"HE GIVES to all men life and breath and everything," Acts 17:25. One of our daily prayers should be to thank God that he has let us open our eyes to the beauty of another dawn. We must not take it for granted. It is the goodness and mercy of God that permits us to open our eyes to breathe, to have food, to think. He gives us life and breath and everything.

He causes the sun to shine and the tides to ebb and flow. He causes the rain to fall and the winds to bear their blessings. He holds the earth in its course. God is the maker of every good thing.

And He Is Our Father

NOT only is God the Creator and Sustainer of the physical universe; but he is also our Father. He knows us each by name. He cares for the sparrows, simply because they are sparrows. He cares for us because we are his children, made in his image, capable of fellowship with him. The end of man, as the Catechism clearly teaches, is to enjoy God and glorify him forever.

Read again the passage that describes Paul's visit to Athens, and how he observed that the people, though quite intelligent, were worshipping many different gods. Paul summoned them to worship the one true and living God.

When we acknowledge God as Maker and Father, we are then enabled to serve him in conscious assurance of his love and care for us as his adopted children.

Show Us the Father

READ again John 14:8-14, and join with Philip in the prayer, "Show us the Father." Jesus answered Philip, saying, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." We come to know God as Father through Jesus Christ, and only through Jesus Christ.

Jesus goes on to say to Philip; "If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it." The greatest need of our day and generation is a fresh understanding of God—his nature and his will. We can know him through Jesus Christ. And we come to know him through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Enoch walked with God. Abraham was the friend of God. David was a man after God's own heart. And Jesus came to perfectly reveal the Father. The determining factor in knowing God as Father is our willingness to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Belief in God Today

THE Bible is a Book for today—any day, every day. It reveals the purpose of creation, both of the universe and man himself. It reveals the loving concern of God for every soul. It portrays his forbearance and his mercy and his exceeding kindness, even to sinful men and women who reject his love.

Best of all, the Bible tells us the sweetest story ever told—the story of how God gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

Religion, the Christian religion, is the most practical proposition in the world. Every man is constantly in reach of God, if only he will believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. God is yonder in the loneliest watchtower of the timberlands. He is yonder on the storm-tossed ship at sea. He is everywhere, waiting to own and bless any and all who will come to him through Jesus Christ.

Land Bank Loans Are Geared To the Capacity of the Farm to Pay!

- The dollars that will pay your loan come out of the soil of your farm as so many bushels of corn, so many pounds of tobacco.
- Even when crop yields are the same, dollar production per acre may be high one year, low the next.
- That's why Land Bank loan values are based on the NORMAL earning power of the land—average yields and normal prices—not too high, not too low.
- That's why the land banks were able to meet the needs of hundreds of thousands of farmers in the depression.

Too Much Pride

Two tramps sat with their backs to an old tree. Before them was a rippling stream. The day was grand, but one of them looked down in the mouth.

"You know, Jim," he said, "this business of tramping around ain't what it's cracked up to be. Think it over; nights on park benches or in a cold barn. Traveling on freight trains and always dodging the police. Being knocked from one town to another. Wondering where your next meal will come from. Wandering, unwanted everywhere, sneered at by your fellow men. . . ."

His companion shifted slightly. "Well," he said, "if that's the way you feel about it, why don't you go and get yourself a job?"

The first sat up with a jerk. "What?" he scowled. "And admit I'm a failure?"

EASIER TO STAND

"Stackpole, I hate to encounter a bad loser."

"Yes, Murgatroyd, but I had rather play the worst loser than the best winner, any day."

Nest Trick, Too
Two stews, wandering about the waterfront, stopped at the edge of a pier. The first drunk peered into the water and then turned to his pal. "Betcha five dollars," he drooled, "that I can shstay under water for 10 minutes."

The second drunk waved a hand. "Thash a silly bet," he said. "If you shstay under water 10 minutes, you'll drown yourself."

The first drunk looked at his pal. "Ah," he hiccupped unhappily, "somebody told you the trick!"

Disappointment
The little girl wanted to see the dog doctor. The family pet had been sick and had to be taken to the vet and she wept because she missed going along.

The next time the dog took sick she coaxed and was permitted to go too. But when she came home from this visit she seemed just a little deflated in spirits and her mother asked her why. "Well," she explained, "that doctor want a dog at all; he was just a man."

The Higher Things
The new maid had a habit of leaving the kitchen radio on from morning to night, so that her mistress was almost driven crazy with the constant blaring of soap operas.

Finally she gave orders that the radio was to be silenced, whereupon the maid gave notice.

"I do not care to work," she said with simple dignity, "in a home where there are no cultural influences."

The Test
She (to husband after employing a gardener)—Why did you want me to hire the short man? The tall man has such a kind face.

Husband—My dear, when you pick a man to work in your garden, judge him by his overalls. If they're patched on his knees, you want him; if they're patched on the seat, you don't.

A man in the insane asylum sat fishing over a flower bed. A visitor approached, and wishing to be affable, asked, "How many have you caught?"

"You're the ninth," was the reply.

Still Too to Feed
"At last, my angel," said the happy man, after he had settled with the minister, "we are really and truly one."

"Theoretically, yes," rejoined the modern bride; "but from a practical standpoint it will be advisable to order dinner for two."

Leading Farm Counties

The 25 leading farm counties of the United States are in the East and on the Pacific coast. Ten of the leading counties are fruit producers. Vegetables and potatoes are the leading agricultural production in 6 of the 25 top counties. Poultry and dairy products lead in three. Tobacco, wheat and livestock other than dairy and poultry also lead in three counties. Los Angeles county ranks as the nation's top farm county, although it is 16th among the states in land in farms. The California county is first in milk production, third in oranges and eggs, and fourth in the value of vegetables, fruits and nuts. Leading counties in the East are: Lancaster, Pa.; Sussex, Del., and Polk, Fla. The leading counties on the Pacific coast are: Yakima and Whitman, Wash.; Maricopa, Ariz.; Weld, Colo., and 16 counties in California which are led by Los Angeles county. No Midwestern county was listed among the first 25 for the nation.

Explanation
A man phoned his doctor asking him to hurry over; he thought his wife had appendicitis. "Nonsense!" said the doctor. "I took your wife's appendix out three years ago and I never heard of anyone having a second appendix."

Said the anxious husband: "Ever hear of anyone having a second wife?"

Brazil's Miracle Plant

Furnishes Good Fiber

Carao, the miracle fiber plant of Brazil, is being exported in large quantities to the United States. Almost any imaginable textile can be made from carao, which also is excellent for making fine all-weather paper or strong rope.

Carao will grow wild on poor soil or stony ground. Huge parts of Brazil's northeast are covered with it. The plant has leaves about 12 feet long and will yield up to 14 percent of fiber, compared to around 4 percent for most fiber plants.

The fiber is naturally white or light tan and requires little bleaching, unlike most fibers. It is far stronger than jute, for example, with tests indicating tensile strength more than three times greater.

At the same time, carao can stand dampness much longer. In fact, British surveys carried out before the war showed that carao increased in strength after contact with water.

Suits made of carao are in common use in Brazil, especially tropicals. These suits are amazingly sweat-resistant and wear like iron.

Even for rope and cordage, carao has been found superior to manila in actual tests. Manila rope subjected to the same usage as carao rope wore out before the carao showed any deterioration.

Small quantities of carao currently being made into high-grade paper from both prepared pulp and unprepared fiber.

Differ in Color Taste

If, on rainy days, children show an inclination to stray from their playroom, it may be because the colors used in its decoration do not appeal to them, suggests a Canadian paint association. According to color experts, children first learn to distinguish between black and white, next between red and blue, and later between green and yellow, but it usually is somewhat difficult for them to distinguish between orange and yellow. Based on the belief that pastel shades which are highly pleasing to grown-ups usually have little or no appeal for small children, it is stated that the use of fairly strong colors in reasonable amounts is permissible, and in fact desirable, in a nursery or child's playroom. However, it is emphasized that this does not mean that the walls and ceiling should be vivid. It means rather that the accent colors may be strong, for too much strong color can be nerve-racking, even to a child.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

The "direct loss" figures in the above table explain why we have asked the Kentucky Railroad Commission to promptly authorize the discontinuance of passenger trains Nos. 43 and 44 between Ludlow and Pine Knot, Ky.

We believe even a quick examination of the facts will convince you, and all other fair-minded persons, that this is the only business-like thing for us to do.

DIRECT LOSS $100,000 ANNUALLY

During the three months period ending October 31, 1947, total revenues were only $4,953.89. But direct expenses alone were $30,466.73. This is a direct loss of $25,512.84. The monthly loss averages $8,504.28, or more than $100,000 a year. Actually, for every dollar these trains are bringing in, we are paying out more than $6.00 in direct expenses.

The direct expense figures do not include, as you will note, such properly chargeable items as supervision, dispatching, maintenance of way and structures, depreciation, and general overhead.

COMPARE WAGES WITH REVENUES

The cost of train fuel during the three months was $7,487.64, as contrasted to total revenues of only $4,953.89. If you think that's bad, take a look at labor costs. Wages plus payroll taxes totaled $16,005.25 — more than three times greater than revenues. Thus, just these two items show how utterly hopeless it is to expect these trains ever to come anywhere near to paying their way in the future.

Wage and fuel costs for August through October are compared with revenues in the following chart —

TRAINS NOS. 43 and 44
MONTH	Passenger and Miscellaneous Revenues	Cost of coal used	Wages and "social security" benefits for train and engine crews
August	$1,667.22	$2,486.00	$ 5,450.74
September	1,456.79	2,478.84	5,177.08
October	1,829.88	2,522.80	5,377.43
Total	$4,953.89	$7,487.64	$16,005.25

What it costs to provide a crew of 5 men to operate these two trains is shown in the following table. Wages are shown for each job during October, 1947, and include the 8¾ per cent payroll tax we must pay for retirement and unemployment insurance benefits. The 15½ cents an hour wage increase, effective November 1, is not included —

	Month of October
Engineer	$1,464.34
Fireman	1,228.33
Conductor	1,074.82
Flagman	855.89
Baggage man	754.05
Total	$5,377.43

WE WANT YOU TO HAVE THE FACTS

We'd like to talk this over personally with each of you. Since that is impossible, we are using this next best means of giving you the facts and asking for your sympathetic understanding.

The simple truth is that the traffic which formerly enabled these trains to "pay their way" now moves, by choice, over the highways. Because it's gone forever, the future thus holds only the bleak prospect of a greater loss each year.

To us, as it would be to any business, a year-after-year direct loss of more than $100,000 is a serious matter. Other businesses can, and do, promptly "plug the leak" when a product or service is no longer needed or used. Knowing the facts, we believe you will agree that the discontinuance of these trains is the only business-like thing for us to do, too.

If you care to have additional information, please write to W. H. Oglesby, Superintendent, The Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway Company, Somerset, Kentucky.

SHORT STORY

The Weed Was Dying

By

John Christopher

JOE COLIN looked at the blonde girl behind the counter as if he hadn't seen her for the last 21 years. And he hadn't. Almost to the day, come October 5. Even after 21 years a guy can't forget the birth date of his daughter.

She looked the spitting reflection of her mother, years back when Martha and Joe had decided they had made a mistake in marrying each other. It was too late then, because the kid was on its way, and even Joe knew it took a father and a mother to give it the correct backing. But if the old man hadn't had the same correct backing, Joe had decided, he was like a weed. He had to be pulled out, to let the good seed grow.

Joe had figured he was a weed, and had pulled himself out.

"Evening, mister! Can I help you?" Joe looked up. A lump settled in his throat. His daughter was smiling at him with stars in her eyes.

Twenty-two years old! When he had last seen her, she was a mere trick of one, a curly-haired kid, learning her first steps. Carrie, they had named her. After nobody in particular. Martha had just liked the name, that was all. One thing, though. Wonder if Martha had done something with "Colin"?

"I used to live here years ago," Joe said, to start conversation.

"You did?" Her blue eyes met his for a moment of sparkling interest. "Thought you'd come back and see how things have changed?" "Well, sort of." He stroked the beard. "I used to know a lot of people around here. What's your name? I might know your old man."

"Name's Lester," she told him. "Carrie Lester."

LESTER. So Martha had ditched "Colin." "Lester," Joe mused. "Heck, I knew your old man! What's he doing now?" "I don't know," she said. "Mother thinks he's out in California."

"How about you?" he asked finally. "Got a husband—or maybe a boy friend?"

Her face gave off warmth like sunshine. "A boy friend," she said brightly. "But it won't be long before the 'Mr. and Mrs.' If you're here in another 15 minutes, you'll see him. He's coming after me."

Joe grinned. "I'll be here," he said.

She brought in his meal. He just finished it when the door opened and a tall, young man in a brown tweed suit swept into the room like a stray, autumn leaf.

Her eyes brightened but politely she asked Joe his name, and introduced him. The boy, she said, was Harry Bradshaw.

"Years ago," she explained, "Mr. Colin used to live here. We got sort of acquainted while he waited for his food.

"So you kids are slated for the long walk up the altar, eh?" Joe remarked.

THE Bradford kid's face split in a long smile.

"Look," Joe said, matter of factly. "I got a few green-backs saved up. I'd like to give it to you two for a wedding present. Two hundred dollars. Maybe you'd like to buy something for the baby—when it comes. Huh?"

"No thanks," Harry said. "We certainly appreciate it, but we both work. It wouldn't be right." Joe drew out a checkbook. He grinned good-naturedly. "I'll draw up a check, anyway."

The two youngsters looked bewildered. "Go on," urged Joe. "Take it. It's good. Don't worry about me."

She took it. "You—you're wonderful! she whispered. "And I can't understand why. Thanks—a lot."

Joe smiled and walked out, breathing in the cool, night air.

Funny thing, but now he realized that something had changed in the weed. And suddenly Joe knew that after years of battling harsh winds, snow, cold, and rain, the weed was dying.

And Joe was the weed.

The young man was not very prepossessing, and he certainly wasn't overly intelligent. He had no business ability, no mechanical bent, nor any flair for the artistic. He couldn't play golf, or tennis, or football, or even croquet. Some of these facts were self-evident, the others he explained to the young woman to whom he had just proposed marriage.

Suddenly his eyes lighted up.

"Remember, children," father pontificated, "when I was a boy I often went to bed hungry, and seldom had a square meal."

"Well, father," rejoined little Richard, the smart boy of the family, "that shows how much better off you are since you have known us."

Good News or Bad?

A man who had just finished a phone conversation with his wife turned to his companion saying:

"Guess what? My wife just telephoned to tell me that she had found a large roll of bills in the pocket of a suit I have not worn in several months."

"Were any of them receipted?" queried the pessimist.

"Remember, children," father pontificated, "when I was a boy I often went to bed hungry, and seldom had a square meal."

"Well, father," rejoined little Richard, the smart boy of the family, "that shows how much better off you are since you have known us."

Good News or Bad?

A man who had just finished a phone conversation with his wife turned to his companion saying:

"Guess what? My wife just telephoned to tell me that she had found a large roll of bills in the pocket of a suit I have not worn in several months."

"Were any of them receipted?" queried the pessimist.

ALFALFA GROWING IN KENTUCKY INCREASES

Alfalfa growing is increasing rapidly in Kentucky, as farmers find that big hay crops can be had when limestone is applied to the land, according to crops men at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington.

Alfalfa in this state is usually seeded in February or March. Ten to 12 pounds of seed to the acre is the amount of seed usually used although some farmers sow 15 lbs. The seed should be inoculated.

Alfalfa land should be well drained, and in most cases an application of limestone will improve production. Many farmers report yields of three or more crops of hay a year. See your county agent for further details. Ask him for a circular called "Growing Alfalfa in Kentucky."

CLUB BOY FINDS FERTILIZER PAYS

After three years of testing, Joe Willett, McCracken county 4-H club boy, is convinced that it pays to use fertilizer in growing corn. Starting in 1945 with 2 acres of corn, he fertilized only half his field, otherwise giving the same care to the entire field. At harvest time, he picked 55 bushels of corn from the unfertilized acre and 113 bushels from the one on which he had used $19.80 worth of fertilizer. The next year he followed a similar plan, then harvested 65 bushels from the same unfertilized acre and 135 bushels from the one he had treated with plant food. In 1947, following a severe drought in his community, the unfertilized acre yielded only 33 bushels to the acre, while the fertilized acre produced 94 bushels. In each instance, young Willett more than doubled his corn yield through the use of fertilizer.

CANDLEWAX ON TABLE LINEN NOT HOPELESS

If candlewax on table linen is an aftermath of holiday entertaining, it may be removed by scraping and the use of a grease solvent, says Miss Dorothy Threlkeld, clothing specialist at the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The first step is to remove the hardened wax with a dull knife, then sponge the spot with carbon tetrachloride. Finally wash the article in warm soapy water. Although carbon tetrachloride is non-inflammable, it should not be used in a closed room because of fumes evaporating from it, cautions Miss Threlkeld.

New Haven Defeats Walton 49-48; Simon Kenton, Burlington Next

Tuesday night Coach Jack's Bears came over to New Haven for a Boone County Conference tilt with the Tigers. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair throughout most of the contest, and a brilliant last-quarter finish by the Tigers netted them a 49-48 win over the Waltonians. At the end of the first quarter the count was 2-2, and at the half it was knotted 25-25. Walton played its best ball in the third period to lead 43-33 as the quarter ended. In the final heat, the visitors, with only 2 minutes and 40 seconds to play, held a 48-40 advantage, but at this juncture they (the locals) collapsed and New Haven scored the winning points as the final bell sounded.

This finish was a calamity to the Walton followers, and a thrilling finish for New Haven fans, but generally it was a well played contest—each team playing heads-up ball. Duke Vest topped all scorers of the evening, as he tossed through 20 points, to add the W.V. cause. Johnny Maddox was next, with 14 points. Knox was high for the N. H. Tigers, collecting 17 markers, and Dempsey ran second with 11. In the preliminary set-to, the N. H. reserves bested the Walton reserves 29-17.

At Simon Kenton, Friday:
Burlington Here, Tuesday

On Friday night, Jan. 16th the Cats travel to Simon Kenton where they will meet the Pioneers, and we are sure this will be a top-notch game, as the Pioneers will be gunning for revenge, as the Cats defeated them 41-35 early in December.

The Cats will play hosts to Burlington, at the local gym on Tuesday evening, January 20th. This will be a Boone Conference game, and a real battle is expected.

Sons Defeat Dads 46-40

Last Friday at the Walton hardwood the Dads and Sons staged a basketball game that was really a "dilly." For one quarter, the first legitimate ball was played and the Sons led 17-3, with the teams composed of Willard and Donnie Rice, J. B. and Tommy Johnson, D. L. and Johnny Maddox, Jimmy and Dike Vest, and Mark and Maynard Meadows. However, after this showing, the Dads began to "cheat," such as shooting from the balcony, directly over the basket, playing 8 or 10 men at one time, or suddenly changing goals on the Sons. But it was fun to watch, and with all the questionable tallies registered by the Dads, the Sons won 46-40.

"March of Dimes" Chrm. Are Named

This January your National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis marks its tenth anniversary of service to the American public.

Today, the fight against infantile paralysis is being prosecuted on every front in the most sweeping offensive ever conducted against a specific disease. More gains have been made in the past decade than were realized in the entire century that preceded it. And the dimes and pennies that you contribute to the March of Dimes are making that progress possible.

We can't fight disease unless we have equipment and financial resources to support an all-out effort. And we can't fight disease unless every American assumes part of the burden and gets into this fight enthusiastically, with a real determination to follow through until infantile paralysis is no longer a menace to national health.

The March of Dimes is your opportunity to take part in the fight. Your help is necessary if we are to conquer infantile paralysis. So give—and give generously—that this vital work may continue.

The following are the names of the various precinct chairmen appointed by John O. McEvoy, Boone County Director, for this year's March of Dimes drive:

Burlington—Mrs. Rosie Brown, Beaver-Richwood—Mrs. Jos. Wood Big Bone—Rev. Sam Hogan

Verona PTA Holds Jan. Meeting

The Verona P. T. A. held its regular meeting on Thursday night, Jan. 8th. The meeting opened with a pledge to the flag. During the short business session, some bills were presented and paid. Reports were given by Hospitality, Publicity and Membership committees.

The Program Committee, Mrs. W. B. McCormick acting M. C. presented an imaginary radio quiz program, sans microphone, etc. This created quite a lot of hilarity. Suitable prizes were given the persons with the correct answers. A motion was made to adjourn, after which refreshments were served by the Hospitality committee.

Due to sickness in our community our attendance was smaller than usual. However, we are hoping that by February our members and prospective members will be well and able to attend our meeting. So, one and all, an invitation is extended to you to join in the social hour following the business session, while your presence designates your interest in your school and community.

The next meeting will be on Thursday night, February 12th.—Pub. Chr.

Our Relationship to God

Lesson for January 18, 1948

THE Scripture lesson for Sunday is John 4:26 and Romans 8:12-17 and 31-39, with the 103rd Psalm as the devotional reading.

The passage in John presents the dramatic story of Jesus meeting with the woman Sychar at Jacob's well, and of his discovery of the Water of Life.

There is no more convincing evidence anywhere in the Bible of Jesus as the one and only approach to God. He is the Door through which one must pass into the Kingdom, whether bond or free, rich or poor, ignorant or learned, high or low.

"I am the truth and the life and the way."

Jesus Teaches About God

IN THIS great story we see Jesus, weary from the day's arduous tasks, sitting on the curb of Jacob's well, resting. The disciples had gone across the valley to the village to buy food. The woman comes to draw water from the historic well. She did not notice Jesus until he spoke to her. He is never too busy, never too weary, to seek to bring all men to a knowledge of God's love.

He asked for a drink of water. That was his way of making contact with her. She drew back, wondering why a Jew would speak to a woman in public. But Jesus got past the immediate wall which she threw up between herself and him, and soon was teaching her the way of everlasting life, to which she responded with gratitude.

How We Worship God

READ John 4:26 and see how Jesus led the woman to worship to understand true worship. Strangely enough, she knew a good deal about Jewish rites and ceremonies, but she had never known the basic truth that "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Included in the record of how Jesus taught the woman to worship was the necessity of confessing her sin, having five husbands, and living at the moment with still another man. We cannot worship God if there is unconfessed sin in our hearts.

We often miss the joy of true worship because we fail to confess our sins. God looketh upon the heart. If there is sin in our hearts, it must be forgiven.

Our Need of God

"If YE live after the flesh, ye shall die," Romans 8:13. Here is a solemn truth that many seem to forget — apart from God we are dead. The young person who undertakes to live with eating food will soon discover that his body is wasting away and his mind is broken and dissipated. Just so with the spirit of man. We are spiritual creatures, made in the image of God. If we live by the flesh, we die spiritually.

In the preceding chapters in Romans, Paul has shown how sin worketh death. He sets forth the penalties that result from carnal thinking and behavior. But in the 16th verse he comes on to say: "It is the Spirit himself bearing witness with our spirit that we are the sons of God, or children of God," Romans 8:16.

Strong in the Lord

OUR age has made much of might — might that expresses itself in speed. We think in terms of atomic power. This lesson would help us to understand that we may be strong in the Lord. All power is with him. "All power hath been given me in heaven and on earth," said Jesus.

And this leads us to the climax of Sunday's lesson, when Paul declares:

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord," Romans 8:38, 39.

Satan had the woman of Sychar completely in his power until the grace of God lifted her feet upon the Rock of Ages. She could then stand in the midst of the people of Sychar and declare that she had met One who had released her from the bondage of sin. That is what will happen in every heart that comes to God through Jesus Christ.

24 hours of electric service for the average family served by this company. (The average for 1947 was actually 11.6 cents.)

Although the average family served by this company is using 32% more electricity than in 1941, the average bill for home electric service has increased only slightly during the same period—from 11 cents to 11.6 cents per day.

Electricity remains cheap because so far rising production costs have been absorbed by increased use and careful business management. Your electric service today is more than ever your biggest bargain.

Walton, Ky.

WE, YOUR LOCAL CHEVROLET DEALER—and every other Chevrolet dealer in America—are both proud and happy to make the following report to buyers and prospective buyers of Chevrolet products.

Again in 1947, Chevrolet built and sold more cars and more trucks than any other maker in the industry, just as Chevrolet has built and sold more cars and more trucks than any other maker for the total seventeen-year period, dating from January, 1931 to January, 1948—the modern period of motor car history.

Naturally, we as well as the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors are deeply grateful for America's outspoken preference for Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks and we are determined to do everything in our power to continue to deserve this preference in the future as in the past.

We want to thank each and every person in this community for his friendship and goodwill for this organization. We solicit and appreciate your patronage. We are doing our level best to prove that, by filling orders for new Chevrolets just as promptly as we can—even under today's trying conditions—and we are deeply and doubly appreciative of the patience and understanding of all our customers who are awaiting deliveries of new Chevrolets.

Needless to say, you buy wisely when you buy the product of the world's largest producers of cars and trucks, for that is the way to maximum dollar value! Rest assured that we'll fill your order for a new Chevrolet just as soon as it is humanly possible to do so. Meanwhile, please let us help to keep your present car or truck in good running condition by bringing it to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals.

Cats Lose to Pioneers
49-31, But Win From Burlington 35-33Florence Here
Friday Night

The Walton-Verona Bearcats engaged in a pair of basketball games the past week, and the records show one loss and one win, which gives the locals a record of 8 wins and 6 losses for the season.

The Cats went over to Simon Kenton last Friday night, and the Pioneers were not the most hospitable hosts, handing the locals a 49-31 shellacking. The winners were on top throughout the contest, being in front 10-9 at the end of the first quarter, 21-19 at the half, and 33-26 at the close of the third period. Walton, as the score indicates, was pretty much in the game during the first half, but faded in the second, and the Pioneers coasted to a win.

G. Coggage was top scorer for the winners, with 17 points. Vest and Simpson were best for Walton, with 11 markers each.

The second-team fray, which was first on the basketball menu, saw the W.-V. lads win a close 26-24 decision over their opponents.

GAMES THURSDAY NIGHT

The Boone County VFW basketball team will play a double-header Thursday night, Jan. 22 in the Walton gym for the benefit of the March of Dimes campaign for infantile paralysis. Opposing the VFW basket-ers will be the Newport Baptist and Park Hills. The first game will start at 7:30. Plan to attend—wouldn't some good basketball and help a worthy cause at the same time.

Tuesday evening, the Bearcats won their first Boone County Conference game of the season when they came from behind in the last quarter to eke out a 35-33 win over the Burlington Eagles. The game was close throughout, but the visitors held the edge until late in the final quarter, and after regaining it, saw the locals toss in the winning pair of points in the last seconds of play. At the end of the first quarter, Walton led 4-3, at the half Burlington was in front 16-12, and at the close of the third quarter, the losers were in front 23-20.

For the winning Cats, Dike topped the scorers with 12 points, and Maddox and Simpson were next with 8 markers each. Todtenber, as has been the case most of the year, was top man for Burlington, scoring 13 points; Cropper had 10, and McBee 8.

The second team game was won by Burlington, 16-9.

Florence Here Friday

Another Boone County Conference game will be played by the Bearcats, Friday evening, Jan. 23rd on the Walton floor, when they entertain the Florence Knights. This should be a spine-tingling affair, as the Knights hold a 37-35 win over the locals.

On Monday night, Jan. 26th the Blue and White will travel to Erlanger, where they play St. Henry. Earlier this year, the Cats defeated the Crusaders 50-46 on the Walton hardwood.

A Red Cross Christmas

A few days before Christmas the following letter was sent to Mrs. Elizabeth G. New, executive secretary of Boone County Chapter Red Cross, with a check enclosed for $10 from Miss Betty Littleford, Highway 42, Florence:

My dear Mrs. New:
Just can't let Christmas go by without something to our wonderful Red Cross. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you and yours. Sincerely,

It is a fine thing to know that in the hustle and bustle of the Christmas season that someone had the thought of helping suffering humanity by giving to the Red Cross.

Verona Youth Honored At Luncheon

David E. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. King, R. 1, Verona, was guest of honor at the recent annual farm awards luncheon of Courier-Journal, Louisville Times, and WHAS.

King, the 1947 4-H Club State Champion in agriculture, was presented a gold watch by Mark Ethridge, publisher of the papers and vice president of WHAS. Two years ago, King organized a 4-H Club at Verona and he has remained its only leader. He has exhibited a total of 131 state, county, and community projects and among his major awards are 25 district and county prizes. Sixty-one of his projects were valued or sold at $18,813.

William E. Davis, county agent, says that King already has completed more projects than most farmers attempt in a lifetime. A graduate of Walton-Verona High School, seventeen-year-old King is a freshman and dairy science major in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

FHA Officers Installed at Dixie Hts.

On Thursday, January 15th, the officers of the Simon Kenton Future Homemakers Chapter held an installation service at Dixie Heights High School to install the officers in Dixie's new F. H. A. Chapter. The installation was held in Dixie's Homemaking Department, which was decorated with red roses, the State and National flower, and the emblem of the Future Homemakers of America. The homes of the future are in the hands of the youth of the nation.

Norma Richardson, Simon Kenton F. H. A. president, presided at the installation by calling the meeting to order, by lighting the red candle which represents the flame of home economics and by leading the group in repeating the F. H. A. creed and purposes. White candles symbolizing the eight purposes of the Future Homemakers of America were lighted by the following Simon Kenton officers: Dorothy Masters, vice president; Nellie Barnett, secretary; Wanda Williams, treasurer; Pearl Sargent, parliamentarian; Others who went from Simon Kenton were Isabel Stahl, reporter; Joan Fennell, song leader; Helen Richardson, secretary to Mr. J. A. Caywood, and Mrs. Gayle McElroy, adviser to the Simon Kenton Chapter. Mr. R. C. Hinsdale, principal of Simon Kenton, and Mr. G. K. Gregory, principal at Dixie, made it possible for these two chapters to have a joint meeting.

The following officers were installed at Dixie: Charlotte Shelton, president; Janet Thornton, vice president; Edna Redwine, recording secretary; Joan Hafer, treasurer; Ruth Foster, parliamentarian; Judy Ellis, parliamentarian; Mildred Earls, reporter, and Betty Smith, song leader. Miss Ann Scott Giles, home-making teacher, is their instructor.

At the close of the installation, the Simon Kenton Future Homemakers presented to Dixie's president a gavel made by the industrial arts department at Simon Kenton. Last year the Simon Kenton F. H. A. Chapter was one of twenty-five chapters out of a hundred and forty-one in the state, which made the State Honor Roll. One of the chapter's goals this year is to make the honor roll again, and a requirement to do this is to help another chapter in our district start a F. H. A. Chapter. Simon Kenton Chapter completed this requirement by aiding in Dixie's installation service.

The local chapter operates a check room at home basketball games and in this manner hopes to make enough money to entertain each member's mother at a Mother and Daughter Banquet, April 2nd.

Mrs. Pallie Cragget, 87 years old, modeled an evening dress of her own design and make, at a home-makers club meeting in Grayson county.

Home-makers in Boone county canned 60,550 quarts of food and stored 22,400 pounds in freezer lockers.

Equipment
Show at Farm-
Home Conv'n

An aluminum dome, 36x72 feet, has been erected at the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, to house part of the huge equipment show being planned as a feature of the 36th annual Kentucky Farm and Home Convention, January 27-30, according to Bill Davis, County Agent. Class rooms and laboratories also will be used to display modern equipment for the home and the latest in farm machinery.

Among the equipment for the home will be three electric kitchens and one gas kitchen, two full-sized bathrooms, furnaces and other types of home heating, electric and gas ranges and other cooking equipment, a fully equipped home laundry, water supply systems, refrigerators, deep freezers, and the latest in home lighting.

Among the modern farm machinery on display will be tractors and their attachments for doing all kinds of field work, hay-driers, motorized mowers and garden machines, and special equipment for applying 2, 4-D, DDT and other modern weed and insect killing chemicals.

A new feature this year will show how farm buildings can be protected against lightning. Other exhibits will include farm building paint, making and using concrete on the farm, the removal of sulphur from well water, spray equipment and the placement of fertilizers in crop production. The equipment show will be open all of the four days, including Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The Time is Here!

The time of year has come when the mailing list of the Advertiser must be brought up to date—that means that all names on the list must show a paid-in-advance date. This is required by the Postal Inspector and he is on the way here to check our list. So, want you look at the label on your paper, and see if you are one giving the editor that headache.

The Walton Advertiser is the only paper in existence, we think, that if the same price as it used to be, and you are getting more, to boot—an average of ten pages a week all during last year—and you know that newsprint is twice as much as before—so add it all up and see that you must pay your subscription in order to keep the paper coming to you each week. Thanks!

Huge Crowd at Funeral, Mon.

Theodore Neumeister, 39, a Kenton County farmer, was crushed to death when a dead walnut tree, said to be about two feet in diameter, fell upon him in the yard of his brother, who was hewing it with axes last Saturday afternoon in a pasture on his 60-acre farm 2½ miles south of Walton, on the Dixie Highway.

Mrs. Tressa Riffe, Kenton County Coroner, said that Neumeister's chest was crushed and that he died instantly. She reported the death to be accidental.

Joseph Neumeister, brother of Theodore, who witnessed the tragedy, said they were cutting the tree down because it's condition made it a hazard to cattle in the pasture. After the tree fell, Joe cut feverishly through the trunk to free his brother, then ran for help at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neumeister, with whom Joe resides.

Theodore Neumeister, father of two children, Charles Edward, 14, and Norma Jean, 5, taught in the boys class in the Sunday School at the Walton Baptist Church, of which he was a member.

Besides his parents and brother, Joe, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. June Wilson Neumeister; his two children; another brother, Charles Neumeister, Newport, and two sisters, Mrs. Dan Roberts, Walton, and Rev. W. E. Duchemin, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. in the Walton Baptist Church, attended by a huge number of relatives and friends. His pastor, Rev. B. C. Garrett, assisted by Rev. J. C. Alford and Rev. R. F. DeMolsey, had charge of the services. Burial was in the Independence Cemetery.

The Chambers & Grubbs funeral home, Walton, had charge of arrangements.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Romans 12:1-21.

When We Work With God

Lesson for January 25, 1948

DR. E. STANLEY JONES was in Atlanta on one of his several visits, and some of us were asking him about his notable and unique experience as a missionary in the Orient. "If you had it all to go over, Dr. Jones, would you devote your life to the peoples of faraway Asia, or would you choose to live in America with its abundance of good things?" he was asked. Quick as a flash of lightning he replied: "If I had a thousand lives to give, they would all gladly go to the wistful souls of Asia."

Paul would have been enraptured in the day that he wrote II Corinthians 5:20 to 6:10, and Romans 12:1-21, to have heard someone talk as Dr. Jones talked that afternoon, for in our lesson for Sunday, Paul is summoning every Christian to the highest possible commitment to the will of God as we go forth in the task to beseech all men to be reconciled unto God through Jesus Christ, who hath taken upon himself the iniquity of us all, "that we might be made the righteousness of God in him."

Thus we come to see the significance and the meaning of the memory verse for Sunday's lesson, "We are fellow workmen for God," I Corinthians 3:9.

PEOPLE WHO WORK WITH GOD READ Hebrews' 11th chapter for a picture of some of the noble souls who really worked with God, by faith, as the writer delights to put it.

Abraham, for example, "went out, not knowing whither he went," but when he came to the end of life's day, he was accounted the friend of God. Moses, "choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season, esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt, endured as seeing him who is invisible."

HOW WE WORK WITH GOD READ again that eleventh chapter of Romans to discover how the men and women named there worked with God. Two words will quickly come to light — faith and obedience. They believed God, and they obeyed God. Junior boys and girls will do well to recall some of the heroes of history — men like Washington and Lincoln and Lee — and in every instance you will discover that they, too, believed God and obeyed God. Remember the story of Washington kneeling in prayer in the snow at Valley Forge?

We cannot work with God unless and until we believe and obey him. "Can two walk together except they be agreed?" You cannot please your earthly father unless you believe him and obey him.

Try Our "WANT ADS" for Results!

GOOD WORKMEN ESSENTIAL WE COME now to the deeper implications of the lesson, revealed in II Corinthians 5:20 to 6:10. "We then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain; but in all things approving ourselves in much patience, in afflictions, in distresses, in watchings, by kindness, by love unfeigned, by the power of God."

Here is the acid test of doing the work of an ambassador of Christ — we must first be fully committed to him before we can persuade others to accept him as Saviour and Lord. We shall not have better homes and better churches until we first have better Christians. We shall not have better business until we first have better business men.

And the only way by which we become good workmen is through the redeeming, transforming grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

JOY OF WORKING WITH GOD WHY did Dr. E. Stanley Jones answer so quickly about giving a thousand lives to the benighted, wistful souls of Asia? Because he had discovered the unspeakable joy of working with God in reconciling men unto him. The largest, surest wages in this world is the experience of working for and with God. "What I kept, I lost; what I gave, I have."

Do you believe it? It is difficult to believe until you try it. Indeed, I would say that it is beyond all imagination to grasp the meaning of working with God. You have to take Christ at exactly what he meant when he said, "Come and see."

"When we walk with the Lord, in the light of his word, what a glory he sheds on our way!"

Land Bank Loans Are Geared To the Capacity of the Farm to Pay!

- The dollars that will pay your loan come out of the soil of your farm as so many bushels of corn, so many pounds of tobacco.
- Even when crop yields are the same, dollar production per acre may be high one year, low the next.
- That's why Land Bank loan values are based on the NORMAL earning power of the land—average yields and normal prices—not too high, not too low.
- That's why the land banks were able to meet the needs of hundreds of thousands of farmers in the depression.

24 hours of electric service for the average family served by this company. (The average for 1947 was actually 11.6 cents.)

Although the average family served by this company is using 32% more electricity than in 1941, the average bill for home electric service has increased only slightly during the same period — from 11 cents to 11.6 cents per day.

Electricity remains cheap because so far rising production costs have been absorbed by increased use and careful business management. Your electric service today is more than ever your big-gest bargain.

SEAL OF APPROVAL

BURLEY AUCTION WAREHOUSE ASSOCIATION

January Sales Days: 9, 13, 15, 19, 21, 23, 27 & 29

Because the re-drying plants cannot take away the tobacco fast enough, we like all other Burley Warehouses, cannot sell but 1060 baskets per day. We have lots of room to take care of you and it is our business to see that you get the most for your crop, for it has been that way for 30 years.

Because of sickness and necessary repair work to our Warehouse, we could not get around to see each and every one of our old friends. It costs no more to sell your tobacco with us and there will be plenty of room for your family, too. Clean, comfortable rest-rooms. We have been located for 30 years at the same location—one block west of the Kentucky end of the Suspension Bridge on Route 25. When you bring your tobacco in, ask for Herb Whitley or Ed Galloway, who want to personally see that your crops are sold for the High Dollar. Remember, there is only one tobacco warehouse in Covington, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller and son, Renaker, were dinner guests of her sister, Mrs. J. K. Ammerman, and husband of Cynthia, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sayre entertained at dinner Sunday complimenting their son, Gene, on his 6th birthday. Guests included Mrs. Mabel Sayre, Mrs. Bertha Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. Bunt Scott and daughter, Kay. We join in wishing Gene many happy returns of the day.

Friends of Wm. Gross regret that he has not been so well at his home on Limaburg Road.

The sale of Mrs. Pattie Willeford on Saturday afternoon was fairly well attended considering the cold day. Mrs. Willeford, who sold her home recently to Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Munday of Devon, expects to make her future home with her brother, Walter Brown, of Verona.

Dr. N. A. Jett, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chaney and their house-guest, Mrs. Gertrude Poage, were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Oliver at their home on Route 42, Saturday evening.

Renaker Miller is the proud owner of a new car.

Three young men, namely: Billy Hon, Robt. Idol and Billy Stanley, united with the Florence Methodist Church, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Brown have sold their grocery, meat market and building on Dixie Highway near Erlanger to Lawrence (Bud) Galenstine, who will continue the business along the same lines as has been in the past. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are contemplating the purchase of a medium-size farm for their future home.

Orville Willeford of Bloomington, Ind., came over to attend the sale of house furnishings of his mother's, Mrs. Pattie Willeford. He is employed at the Bloomington plant of the RCA-Victor Corp. in Indiana.

A miscellaneous shower was held in connection with the adult class meeting at the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening for Roy Youell and bride, who were married recently. The affair was well attended and many useful and beautiful gifts were received. The bride was formerly Miss Pauline Slininger.

The March of Dimes campaign opens in Boone County this month. Let's all make an effort to reach our quota. Kindly cooperate with your solicitor.

Information has been received of the illness of Harry (Happy) Holmes in a Florida hospital. He is well known as a peanut, popcorn and ice cream vendor at the various fairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyce are now occupying the apartment in the home of Mrs. Ora Tanner, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Vickery, who departed for their new home in Louisville, during the holidays.

Rev. H. M. Hauter of Napoleon, Ind., was visiting friends in the community on Sunday.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Ira Tanner and family in the loss of wife and mother, Mrs. Minnie Tanner, who passed away at her home in Springfield, Ohio the past week.

WORMS DON'T TELL

No intestinal and fecal worms of poultry don't broadcast their presence. Usually, symptoms of worm infection are very indefinite. So, if you have the least suspicion of worms in your flock, why not play safe? Use Dr. Solisbury's AVI-TON, a convenient flock treatment for Louse Broom-worms and Cuckoo Worms.

It's easy to give Dr. Solisbury's AVI-TON—just mix in mash and treat flock 3 days. Really gets the worms!

Do Actions Speak Louder Than Words?

Of course! But words and actions together speak even louder.

For example, it is the recorded policy of the Southern Railway System "to develop the territory and to foster faith in the South, its people and opportunities."

To back our words with action...to help promote the growth and prosperity of the Southland...we place advertisements like these, month after month, in national magazines having a total circulation of 5 million copies. Over and over again we're telling the nation's industrialists, financiers, and businessmen that it will pay to "Look Ahead—Look South" for greater opportunity.

Is this words-and-action policy getting results? You'll hear a loud, inspiring answer in the whistles of thousands of new and expanding factories throughout the South!

Bearcats Drop 2 Tilts;
Dry Ridge Here Feb. 6

The Bearcats entertained the Florence Knights at the local hardwood last Friday, and if nothing more, the Cats showed consistency. In the first game of the season, they lost to Florence 37-35 and again Friday evening they lost to Florence, this time also by two points, 38-36. During the first half Walton had a slight edge, leading 7-6 at the end of the first quarter and 18-16 at the half. However, the Knights "took over" in the third period, leading 29-26 as the final quarter came up and held this edge in win.

Dike Vest was top scorer for the losers, with 11 points, followed by Johnny Maddox, with 8. Jerry Rouse was top man for Florence, also with 11 points and Lipscomb ran a close second, with 10.

The Walton reserves were nosed-out 27-26 by the Florence second stringers, in the preliminary contest.

After trailing in the first quarter, St. Henry High School of Erlanger came back to defeat Walton-Vernona High by a score of 45-33 on the Erlanger Lloyd floor Monday night. Walton started strong and held a 8-7 lead at the end of the first quarter. St. Henry came back to lead 19-14 at the half and 27-20 at the end of the third quarter.

Maddox, Walton center, led the scores, with 14 points. Vest was next high for the losers, with 12, and Dougoud led the attack for St. Henry, also with 12 points.

In the preliminary game the St. Henry reserves swamped the Walton second team, 44-17.

The locals appear to be on a to-boggan-slide, that is. Since the Christmas holidays, they have lost four games and won but one. Of course it could be that the opposition is improving more rapidly than the Cats, but to us, it seems the boys have lost their spirit as well as their team play. What's the trouble? We aren't the coach, and wouldn't try to diagnose their case, but we hope they "find themselves" before tournament time—which we hear is to be held at the Walton gym.

Cats Next Game Feb. 6th

The Bearcats are on another short vacation—their next game being on February 6th, when they entertain the Dry Ridge Cardinals at the local hardwood.

200 Attend
Burlington
Dairy Meet

Approximately two hundred farmers attended the Artificial Breeding Association Dairy meeting in the Burlington Courthouse, Jan. 15, according to Bill Davis, Co. Agt.

Paul Hanna, dairy specialist from the college, showed a technique film on artificial breeding and included in his discussion all the necessary sanitary precautions in the handling of equipment, both at the bull stud and by the inseminator. The picture showed the various inspections made on the semen to determine its worthiness for shipment. Pictures of the bulls gave breeders a quick view of the type of animals in the artificial breeding program.

Robert Conner, secretary of the KABA, was guest speaker, as Richard Duncan was unable to attend.

John Moser, president of KABA, Dr. Olds, veterinarian in the dairy department at the college, and Marshall Carpenter, manager of the bull stud were also present and made short talks.

The meeting was held to build up interest in the artificial breeding program, and it is hoped that the discussion by Mr. Conner impressed breeders of the importance of using high type sires.

Anyone wishing to sign up in the local Association should contact John Meier Taylor or the County Agent.

Because it withstands long periods under water, ryegrass is becoming increasingly popular among farmers in the overflow sections of Boyd county. County Agent H. H. Pope says many creeks often flood three to five times each winter and spring.

His Work of Salvation

Lesson for February 1, 1948

PROFESSOR WILLIAM JAMES was once asked to give a definition of Christianity. He replied, "I doubt if there is a satisfactory definition of Christianity, but I can give you an example of it — Dr. Phillips Brooks."Our lesson for Sunday tells us many things about Jesus, his work of salvation chiefly.
But before we can understand what he does, we must look again at who he was and is. We begin with Isaiah 53:1-12. Who can read those majestic words without tears? And then we come to Matthew 1:21, "And thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins." Then go on to read Matthew 9:17-28, Luke 19:1-10, and Hebrews 4:15, 16.The key verse, it seems to me, in Sunday's lesson is Luke 19:10, "The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost." Hold to that word and every door will open in this lesson.JESUS HELPS ZACCHAEUS
IN THE first ten verses of the 19th chapter of Luke we have the fascinating story of Jesus calling Zacchaeus down from the tree, forgiving his sins, and entering into his house. The disciples complained that Jesus had gone to lunch with a man that was a sinner. It was then that the Master declared, "The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."Zacchaeus is but an illustration of what Jesus seeks to do for every man. He has not come to save a few, but "whosoever will."
He will not force himself upon any man, but he waits in hope of saving every man.The "worst" boy in your community may be saved — will be saved
— if only he will do as Zacchaeus did, come to Jesus, just as he is, confessing his sin and believing on the Lord Jesus Christ.HOW JESUS CHANGES PEOPLE JESUS saved Zacchaeus by forgiving his sins and putting a new attitude in his heart. He had harmed many people, or at least they thought he had. They would not forgive him.He may not have asked them to forgive him, but when he met Jesus and was changed by the redeeming grace of the Saviour, he proposed to restore fourfold wherever he may have wronged anyone. More than that, Zacchaeus offered to give the half of his goods to the poor. He gave convincing evidence that he was a changed man. So will every man who believes in Jesus.But we must remember this, Zacchaeus bared his soul to the Saviour in repentance of his sins and believed on him as the Son of God before he manifested a changed attitude.

THE PURPOSE OF JESUS

RECALL again the words of the angel to Joseph, "Thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins." It was to save sinners like Zacchaeus that Jesus came down from heaven and died on the cross. That was and is his purpose."He went about doing good, for God was with him," Acts 10:38.
We shall never understand the work of Jesus until we come to see him at work in every age and amongst all mankind to do the will of the Father in saving any and all who will come unto him in faith believing.

"SO SEND I YOU"

JESUS calls upon you and upon me and upon every follower of his to accept as the central purpose of our lives this mission of winning lost souls unto him. "As the Father hath sent me, so send I you."I sat in a boat with two prominent business men, fishing in a private lake one afternoon last November. Mr. A. G. Candler of Atlanta and I were guests of Mr.
Carr P. Collins of Dallas. We were at his Wild Briar farm, a few miles from Dallas. We were talking about the plight of the world.
Mr. Collins said: "What is money worth if we think of it apart from the purpose of God? Unless we come back to the words of Jesus, 'So send I you,' we cannot hope to improve the sorrowful plight of our frightened day and generation. All men are lost until they come to know him as Saviour."Let this testimony of one of God's gentlemen be heard and heeded by laymen and preachers alike, and faith will give way to faith, and the kingdoms of this earth will become the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.(Copyright by the International Council of Religious Education in behalf of Protestant denominations. Released by WNU Features.)

TOP LEAF IN BOONE

Bill Feldhaus of Boone County grew 6,808 pounds of Ky. No. 16 burley tobacco on 3.4 acres. The five high baskets brought 62 cents a pound and 5,646 pounds averaged 56 cents. The whole crop averaged $55.86 a hundredweight. Feldhaus' New Year resolution is to make every acre in tobacco produce a ton of top-quality leaf, according to County Agent Bill Davis.

SHORT STORY

Legacy For Lucy

By MAUDE NORMAN

WHEN John Grahame brought a wife home from England, everyone in Glencove wondered how long the marriage would last. I had known him ever since he was a spoiled youngster who thought it was fun to see his dog chase my cat. But after I had caught him out in back of the woodshed one day, preparing to set fire to one of my cat's kittens, he had dipped in kerosene, he left me and my cats alone, because I picked up a stick and gave him the thrashing he deserved.

John must have told Lucy some terrible tales about me because she was so often acted scared to death of me at first. But she soon found out I wouldn't bite and we became good friends. That is, good as could be expected with John disliking me. She would run over sometimes when she wasn't home. When I went over there, I would sit by the front window where I could see him coming and duck out before he reached the house.

"I wasn't afraid of him, but I didn't want him bothering at her. She had it hard enough, poor child. Judge Arnold's mother had come from the same place in England. Lucy was from and they became good friends. Lucy could not spare time from her sewing to go away very often, so old Mrs. Arnold would come every week to visit her. Lucy always asked me to come over too. I'd take a plate of cookies with me so they would be some thing to serve with the usual cup of tea. That was one time John did not object to my being in his house. The fact that the richest woman in town was a friend of his wife overshadowed even my presence.

I had been taking care of Mrs. Arnold and before she died she told me she was leaving Lucy enough money so she would not have to work any more.

I didn't dare upset her by telling her John Grahame would take every penny for himself, so after thinking about it I went to see Judge Arnold and the doctor.

AT FIRST John was speechless when he heard Lucy was to receive a hundred dollars a month. Then he started making plans. "Now I can buy a decent car," he exclaimed, ignoring the fact, as I knew he would, that the money was Lucy's. "A hundred dollars every month. Oh, boy!"

The Judge cleared his throat. "The money is to be paid to your wife, Lucy Grahame, on the first day of every month," he paused impressively, "as long as she lives."

John sat down heavily. "You mean if she dies—the money stops." The Judge nodded gravely.

But you're well, aren't you, Honey," John cried. I'll wager that was the first time he had called her "Honey" in a long time. "You're fine, aren't you?"

Lucy lay back against the pillow, looking very wan. "I feel terrible," she faltered. "I'm so weak and tired."

"But that's because of the flu, isn't it, doctor?" John asked anxiously. "Tell her she'll be all right." I held my breath, then relaxed at the doctor's answer. "Your wife will need the utmost care in the future," Mr. Grahame said soberly. "She must not do anything that will tire her under any consideration."

"I'll take care of her," John exclaimed. "Anything you want, Honeys, just tell me."

The doctor's face remained perfectly blank, but if the Judge had been a less dignified man, I would have declared he winked at me.

I enjoy sitting watching John cut grass and do the chores Lucy had done for me. I would like to make a garden and keep it in order. He treats her very differently than he did before. He watches her like a hen with one chick. She understands his solicitude. He is afraid she might die and he would lose the hundred dollars a month. But she enjoys having him wait on her.

Sometimes I wonder what he would say if he knew Mrs. Arnold had left Lucy the money in a lump sum. I don't believe he would appreciate the interpretation we gave the will.

LAST TRAINING SCHOOL ON CLOTHING HELD BY KENTON COUNTY HOMEMAKERS

The last training school of a series of lessons on clothing construction for Kenton County Homemakers was given Jan. 13th in the Covington YMCA by Miss Verna Latzke, Clothing Specialist of the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky.

Instructions were presented on the little details that give clothing a professional look and which are often overlooked by home sewers. Plackets, hems and belts are important finishing touches that help to achieve the professional touch.

Clothing construction and consumer information play a large role in the program of work undertaken by Kenton County Homemakers. Reports of last year's work has just been compiled by Miss Zelma E. Byerly, Home Demonstration Agent, and the following results of the clothing program have been released: Number new garments made, 2,281; number garments repaired, 3,312; remodeled, 909, and ready-made garments altered, 596.

A course in advanced tailoring has been completed by the Arcadia, Ft. Mitchell and Forest Hills Home-makers Clubs. Eleven tailoring schools are scheduled for the spring program.

Leaders attending the recent training school, were: Mrs. Robert Hawkins, Miss Olen Douglas, Mrs. Shelby Martin, Mrs. Henry Pitcher, Mrs. Wm. E. Durr, Mrs. L. J. Rapp, Mrs. J. C. Beall, Mrs. Orie Brannock, Mrs. F. T. Evans, Mrs. Richard Ebenschweiger, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. O. H. Buck, Mrs. C. J. Megrew, Mrs. L. C. Martin, Mrs. C. L. Norris, Mrs. Wm. Summey, Mrs. Edgar Riggs, Mrs. Frank Feldkamp, Mrs. Stanley Maegly, Mrs. T. B. Renaker, Mrs. W. B. Wheeler, Mrs. Marion Martin, Mrs. Joe Kunkel, Sr., Mrs. Lily Clark, Mrs. Vincent Rettig, Mrs. Walter Porter, Mrs. Lawrence Parshall, Mrs. C. C. Dorman, Mrs. J. T. Tichenor, Mrs. John West, Mrs. Oscar Bruck and Miss Zelma E. Byerly.

GARDENER DISCUSSES HOTBEDS, COLD FRAMES

A Kentucky College of Agriculture article written by John S. Gardener tells how to make and use hotbeds and cold frames to get plants off to an early start. Full directions are given for making hotbeds to be heated by manure, flues or electricity, and how to operate them for best results. Also discussed is the use of cold frames in connection with hotbeds. Copies of the circular may be had at offices of county agents and home demonstration agents, or by writing to the college at Lexington.

Twelve Clark County Farm Bureau members sold 9,168 pounds of tobacco for $8,897.92, or at an average of $33.42 per hundred-weight. In Bourbon county, Ky. 16 tobacco has produced on an average higher yields and greater returns per acre than other varieties.

Thirty-one 4-H club members in Logan county exhibited 24,120 lbs. of tobacco, selling it for a total of $6,353.

Farmers of Green county received approximately $2,500,000 for their burley last year, Ky. 16, 41A and Ky. 25 being most popular.

SOCIAL SECURITY CARD REPRESENTS INSURANCE POLICY

Mr. Bohon, manager of the Covington office of the Social Security Administration, today stated, "Too few people realize that their social security card represents an insurance policy with the Federal Government, an insurance policy which may at death pay thousands of dollars in monthly payments to survivors. This policy may also mean monthly payments to the holder at age 65 who has worked the required length of time in employment covered by the Social Security Act."

"Each worker upon attainment of age 65 should call at the Covington office of the Social Security Administration with his card to determine his status under this program. When a worker died his survivors should contact the nearest social security office for assistance in filing claim for death benefits," Mr. Bohon stated.

Salespeople and others who were temporarily employed during the recent holiday season should now safeguard their social security cards for use in future employment. A social security card misplaced or lost causes unnecessary cost in administering the social security program and in many instances inconveniences the worker.

Mr. Bohon said that during 1947, 2,421 persons applied for duplicate social security cards in his office. The loss of some of these cards was unavoidable but he thinks far too many were lost because of carelessness or a lack of understanding of their value.

The Erlanger office, which is located in the Post Office Building, is open from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., and the Williamstown office, which is located in the JPost Office, is open from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m., on the third Thursday of each month.

The Hiseville 4-H Club has been organized in Barren county with a membership of 90 boys and girls.

3 Unions Block Labor Peace—Refuse Wage Boost Already Accepted by 19 Other Railroad Unions!

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America, representing 125,000 railroad employees, have refused to accept the offer of the Railroads of a wage increase of 15% cents an hour.

This is the same increase awarded 1,000,000 non-operating employees by an arbitration board in September, 1947. This is the same increase accepted by 175,000 conductors, trainmen and switchmen by agreement on November 14, 1947. Agreements have been made with 1,175,000 employees, represented by nineteen unions. But these three unions, representing only 125,000 men, are trying to get more. They are demanding also many new working rules not embraced in the settlement with the conductors and trainmen.

Incidentally, the Switchmen's Union of North America represents only about 7% of all railroad switchmen, the other 93% being represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and covered by the settlement with that union.

Strike Threat
The leaders of these three unions spread a strike ballot while negotiations were still in progress. This is not a secret vote but is taken by union leaders and votes are signed by the employees in the presence of union representatives.

When direct negotiations failed, the leaders of these three unions refused to join the railroad in asking the National Mediation Board to attempt to settle the dispute, but the Board took jurisdiction at the request of the carriers and has been earnestly attempting since November 24, 1947, to bring about a settlement. The Board on January 15, 1948, announced its inability to reach a mediation settlement. The leaders of the unions rejected the request of the Mediation Board to arbitrate. The Railroads accepted.

What Now?

The Unions having refused to arbitrate, the Railway Labor Act provides for the appointment of a fact-finding board by the President.

The railroads feel it is due shippers, passengers, employees, stockholders, and the general public to know that throughout these negotiations and in mediation, they have not only exerted every effort to reach a fair and reasonable settlement, but they have also met every requirement of the Railway Labor Act respecting the negotiation, mediation, and arbitration of labor disputes.

It seems unthinkable that these three unions, representing less than 10 per cent of railroad employees, and those among the highest paid, can successfully maintain the threat of a paralyzing strike against the interest of the entire country—and against 50 per cent of their fellow employees.

The threat of a strike cannot justify granting more favorable conditions to 125,000 employees than have already been put in effect for 1,175,000, nor will it alter the position of the railroads to unwarranted wage increases or to changes in working rules which are not justified.

A glance at the box shows what employees represented by the Engineers and Firemen make. They are among the highest paid in the ranks of labor in the United States, if not the highest.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Here is a comparison of average annual earnings of engineers and firemen for 1939 (green) and 1947. Also shown is what 1947 earnings would have been if the 15% cents per hour increase, offered by the railroads and rejected by the union leaders, had been in effect throughout the entire year 1947.	1939 Average Annual Earnings	1947 Average Annual Earnings	1947 Average Annual Earnings with 15% Rate per Hour Added

The Devil Thumbs A Ride

Overdose
A professor at medical school asked a student how much of a certain drug should be administered to a patient and the young man replied, "Five grains."
A minute later he raised his hand. "Professor," he said, "I would like to change my answer to that question."
The professor looked at his watch and replied, "Never mind, young man, your patient has been dead for 40 seconds."

Net Profit, $30,000

A business man had passed away, and his widow was inconsolable. She cried for three days. Then a life insurance representative appeared to help her complete a claim.

She stole a look at the amount—$50,000—sighed, and with a tear glistening in each eye, she said soulfully, "You may not believe it, but I'd give $20,000 of this to have him back!"

BAKERY TALK

We've heard that college-bred means a four-year loaf made with dad's dough. Some crust, eh?

Ready and Eager

At a revival meeting a lowly, earnest sister was giving the story of her conversion. "Friends," she said, "before this great change came over me, I felt so mean and hateful toward my uncle, that, if he had died, I wouldn't have attended his funeral. But now that I am so greatly changed I am willing to attend his funeral at any time."

No Timetable Needed

Salesman (in small town)—Say, mister, what time is it?
Native—Round about Wednesday, I think.

Salesman—No, what hour? I have to catch a train.

Distilled Water in Battery
As the battery is charged, the electric current breaks up some of the water in the cell and it passes off as hydrogen and oxygen. Impurities are left behind and gradually become more concentrated until they may interfere with the chemical action in the plates and shorten the battery's life. Thus, while tap water may be used occasionally in an emergency without harm, it should not be used regularly, particularly in hard-water regions, where the water contains calcium and other salts detrimental to the battery. Incidentally, a good source of pure water is the frost which forms on the freezing compartment of electric refrigerators. This is condensed from moisture in the air and is quite free of impurities. The water secured when defrosting the refrigerator should be saved and used in batteries.

Welding Gaining Favor

Welding, as ordinarily considered, is the method of joining metals by fusing the edges or surfaces, causing them to become molten and thereby be fused together without the use of pressure being applied. This is known as fusion welding, according to Lincoln foundation. In welding, use is made of an electrode held in a holder which is connected to one terminal of the generator, the base metal or metal being welded is connected to the other. The terminal of the generator to which the electrode is connected depends upon the kind of electrode used and determines what is known as D. C. machines. Electric arc welding now is considered a necessary part of a successful farm shop.

They Were Buccaneers

Filibuster originally meant a buccaner such as those who plundered the Spanish colonies in America, and later, adventurers who led pirate armed expeditions into countries with which the country from which they set out was at peace at the time. From this general idea, the term has come to be colloquially used to designate organized obstructionist tactics in legislative bodies. It is the practice of deliberately taking advantage of freedom of debate in the senate with a view to delay or prevent action on a measure under discussion.

YOU, TOO MUST SOMETIME FACE THIS FINANCIAL PROBLEM!

It's not a pleasant thought... but eventually every family must face the grief of death. Now, at least, you can eliminate the added financial strain that accompanies these trying times. A sound and practical BURIAL INSURANCE PROGRAM now offers you the ease of mind that comes with arranging for funeral costs IN ADVANCE... and on extremely easy payments.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

- * You pay easy premium payments as insurance.
- * You may select your choice of frequency of payments.
- * You may elect to pay extremely low premiums, payable for life; or a policy paid in full in 20 years, or 10.
- * These policies take care of all the regular expenses of a complete funeral for the insured.
- * Your own Funeral Director (Member of Kentucky Funeral Directors Burial Association) will handle all details of the funeral.
- * Use of funeral home; full motor service; and casket are furnished in addition to other services.
- * Should the insured move to another State after taking out one of these policies, it automatically becomes a conventional life insurance policy... for the same face amount and at the same low rate!

URGES BETTER GRADING

J. C. Brown, Boyle county agent, says "too many farmers have become careless in stripping and grading their crops during periods of high prices, and in the future must give this problem more careful consideration."

INDEPENDENCE R. 1

We sure have been having a little winter weather in this community the past couple weeks. Our Sunday School Supp. Mr. Paul Damon, was not able to be out Sunday on account of the lagrippe. We hope he will be back next Sunday. The crowd at Sunday School was very small on account of the bad roads and the highest bidder, Mr. Wayne Riley entertained Bobbie Stephens of Independence over the weekend.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney and son, Don, called on her mother, Mrs. Stephens, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodford Wolkling and family entertained relatives from the city, Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Pruett spent one day the past week with her mother, Mrs. L. N. Hoffman.

Mr. Harley Hanna called on his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hanna, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sturgeon moved to Mr. Reynolds' the past week from the Chas. Lancaster farm.

Mr. Billy Durr and his girl friend from Covington spent Sunday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Klein.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fennell are spending a few weeks with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Richardson, before their departure for Hamilton, Ohio, as Mr. Fennell has a position on a farm there for the coming year.

Mrs. Will Summey left Wednesday for Lexington, as a delegate from the Independence Homemakers to Farm and Home Week.

VERONA

Mrs. Bonnie Messmer is recuperating at her home after returning from the hospital last week.

Billy Mac Waller spent the weekend with his parents, between semesters from Berea College.

Miss Lizzie Noel is still sick at her home after having had the flu.

Mrs. W. E. Waller and Mrs. J. T. Lamm assisted Mrs. John Boyer and family last week. Betty Lou is doing nicely, but Mrs. Spennenberg is not so well.

HICKMAN FARMERS

SPREAD PHOSPHATE

Five years ago, only one carload of rock phosphate was used on pastures in Hickman county. In 1947, 37 cars were used and this year it is predicted farmers will buy 50 carloads. According to Farm Agent W. Thompson, the program is one of the most outstanding undertaken by farmers in that county. Most of the phosphate was used at the rate of 1,000 pounds per acre as a top dressing on legume and grass pastures and hays. Check plots indicated as high as 100 percent improvement.

County's Rural Prop'ty Shows Huge Valuat'n

Farm property in Boone county is now worth more than $11,507,000, and rural homes here and throughout the state are in the best condition in history, according to a report just released by the Title Council of America.

More than 75% of farm dwellings in Kentucky and the South are in excellent condition or need only such minor repairs as painting or general maintenance, the report revealed. Only 5.1% were in poor repair in 1940. The report was based on Bureau of the Census surveys.

"The rise in farm incomes and property values since 1940 has been accompanied by a great increase in the number of rural homes equipped with such modern conveniences as electric lights, tiled baths and showers and running water," said F. B. Ortman, chairman of the Council's residential construction committee.

Electricity, for instance, has gone into hundreds of thousands of the nation's rural dwellings since 1940, Ortman noted. More than 58% of all farm homes now have electric lights, in contrast to 31.3% in 1940. More than 32% of rural dwellings in the United States today have running water, and 20.1% have private baths, according to the Title Council report. In 1940, 17.7% had running water and only 10.6% private baths.

New Haven Player Scores 60 Points Mon.

A new high in basketball scoring for this section at least, for an individual player was reached Monday night when Weaver, a forward on the New Haven High School team, dropped in 60 points. The Tigers were play at Greendale and won by the top-sided score of 85-29. Quarter scores were: First, 23-7; second, 37-14, and third, 60-21, all in favor of New Haven. Gumm was top man for Greendale with 71 tallies.

New Haven now holds first and second place in the individual scoring race for Northern Kentucky. Knox, Tiger center, recently tallied 49 points in a game against Holy Cross, and now Weaver comes up with his 60 markers. If these boys get together, other county teams in the District tournament will really have a tough time.

Lutes-Schmidt Wedding At Florence

Graceful arrangements of all white blooms, palms and lighted candelabra decorated the Florence Methodist Church, Sunday, Jan. 25, 1948, for the marriage at 2:30 p. m. of Miss Mary Lutes, daughter of Mr. Roy C. Lutes, to Dr. William Schmidt, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt of Toledo, Ohio. The Rev. O. W. Robinson, pastor of the church, officiated. The bridesmaids, Miss Ann Lutes, sister of the bride, and Miss Barbara Haze, cousin of the groom, wore aqua faille gowns with matching bonnets. Both carried bouquets of American Beauty roses with gold streamers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was handsome in a white slipper satin wedding gown, made with a court train. Her veil of imported Swiss illusion fell from a white satin bonnet. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses and gardenias.

A small reception followed at the church. The bride, who is a member of Burlington school faculty, attended the University of Kentucky, where she was a member of Alpha Delta Phi sorority.

The groom attended the University of Toledo, and is a graduate of the Louisville College of Dentistry. He is affiliated with Delta Sigma Delta Dental fraternity. Following a brief honeymoon, Dr. and Mrs. Schmidt will reside at 302 Dixie Highway, Florence.

Bearcats Play Dry Ridge, Friday Nite

On Friday evening, Feb. 18th the Walton-Verona Bearcats will be hosts to the Dry Ridge Cardinals at the Walton hardwood. There will be two games, with the second team encounter getting under way at 7:30.

The Cats haven't been faring so well in their basketballing, and due to the Cats being one of the top teams in the Penogan Conference, prospects for a win Friday seem rather slim. However, basketball is an uncertain game and picking winners is a precarious task—so, we will just hope for the best.

The Cat average now stands at .500, having won 8 and lost a like number of games.

On Tuesday, Feb. 10th the locals go to Hebron for a tilt with the Boone County Conference—leading quintet. Following this meet, the Blue and White will play 4 games at home—Williamstown, Feb. 13; New Haven, Feb. 17; Crittenden, Feb. 20, and Hebron, Feb. 24. The season ends on Feb. 27 when the locals play at Burlington.

The Gladys Hopewell Circle of the Walton Baptist Church will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Prather, II, 21 Alta Vista Drive, on Thursday evening, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p. m.

The topic for this month is "The Unfinished Task in Our Homeland." All members are urged to attend, and please bring clippings for the scrapbook. A Valentine party will be held and members are to bring a Valentine, plus a small 25c gift.

Grows Ton and Half Of Tobacco on Acre

Al Bryant, an Adair county farmer, grew 3,080 pounds of Ky. 41A burley tobacco on one measured acre, selling the crop for $1,658.69. "Mr. Bryant apparently did about everything that he could think of in order to make his land rich enough to produce a high yield of high-quality leaf," said County Agent R. B. Rankin.

When tobacco was harvested the fall before, 1,200 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate fertilizer were broadcast and the land seeded thickly with a mixture of vetch and crimson clover seed. About 30 loads of manure were spread on the acre, and 150 pounds of ammonium nitrate were broadcast last March on the vetch and clover green manure crop.

The heavy growth of vetch and clover was turned about the time it began to bloom, and the ground worked down immediately, so the green manure would decay rapidly. Then another 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate were broadcast and worked into the soil before laying out the rows. Then 350 pounds of 5-10-5 complete fertilizer were drilled in along the rows before the tobacco was set.

Caring for the sick at home was studied by Negro homemaker clubs in Christian and Todd counties.

Mark's REMARKS

NOTE — The above is the line-type operator's idea of a "reasonably exact facsimile" of the boss, on "M" day, Feb. 1, 1948.

I have often wondered what thoughts go through the head of a man who is standing before a judge being sentenced to life imprisonment of solitary confinement for some crime—Now I know, for last Sunday morning at 10:22 Dr. Huey, just plain get sore from too much of that sandpaper sheet, deal out just such a decision—and the only thing that I was guilty of was getting myself a "double-tough" case of mumps. The sentence was three weeks FLAT in bed—and if you think that any mattress don't get big lumps in it in three days and 16 minutes, you just don't know anything about them ROCKS that they put in them these days.

It seems that when a person stays in the bed he starts to come apart at the seams—and by seams I mean back of head, two great big spots on your back, two big spots that just plain get sore from too much of that sandpaper sheet. After about one day of laying rather quiet, then you begin to try and find something to keep your mind occupied—the first thing I tried was listening to the "soap operas"—and now I don't have to worry about keeping my mind occupied, because all the grey matter has turned to "Just Plain Bull."

Tried reading—picked up a magazine, looked at the heading of an article, it said "24 minutes reading time," read the story, looked up—3 1/2 minutes gone by.

I didn't have anything to do tonight, so decided to write some "remarks"—so you can suffer right along with me. See you next week with more details.

The Nature of Jesus

Lesson for February 8, 1948

ONE of the most discerning comments on the nature of Jesus
I have ever heard came from an aged Indian in one of the western states a few years ago when I chanced to be waiting for a friend at the entrance of the reservation. This old gentleman was sitting on a large rock. I tried to speak with him, but he did not seem to understand what I said. Then my friend drove up, and introduced me to the Indian. "This man knows our Jesus," my friend said to the Indian.
His face brightened, and he held out his hand to me. "Jesus help Indian love white man," he said. Just so, Jesus helps white man love white man, too.

Dr. Newton

The lesson for Sunday is found in John 6:38-40; 13:3-17; and Colossians
1:9-20, with Philippians 2:1-11 as the devotional reading.

TEACHER AND LORD

TAKE the opening passage, John 13:3-17, where Jesus is pictured as taking a basin of water and towel, kneeling at the disciples' feet, washing their feet, and drying them.
Do you not feel the blessed Saviour's very nature flooding the scene?It requires true love, true humility, to serve in that role. Suppose someone came to render this service to you? And suppose that One was the Son of God?
Why did Jesus wash the disciples' feet? Because he loved them, and he wanted them to love other people enough to do for them anything that would convince them of the love which they had in their hearts for them. Here we see him as the great teacher."AS I HAVE LOVED YOU" BUT Peter draws back. He cannot conceive of Jesus washing his feet. Why? Because Peter did not yet understand the nature of Jesus. The memory verse for Sunday is helpful just here. Jesus said, "I love one another; even as I have loved you," John 13:34.Peter acted very naturally, even if he was tempted to say that he acted foolishly. In fact, he acted just about like any of us would have acted under similar circumstances.But when Jesus explained to Peter what he was about, Peter then asked that Jesus wash not only his feet, but also his hands and head.

THIS IS JESUS

INTERMEDIATES, young people and adults, having carefully read the passage in the 13th chapter of John, where Jesus washes the disciples' feet, will now turn to John 6:38-40, and Colossians 1:9-20, and see the expansion of this great truth over into the expressed will of God for his followers.A true understanding of this section will lead us to ponder prayer-fully the nature of Jesus in the various titles accorded him in the Scriptures — Son of Man, Son of God, Master, Rabbi, Teacher, Physician, Vine, Light, Good Shepherd, Bread of Life, Comforter, Friend and Saviour.

All of these titles he bore, and yet we see him kneeling to wash the feet of everyday people. "Thy gentleness hath made me great."
Intermediates and young people will wisely set themselves to the task of identifying the nature of Jesus in the people of their community. Such study will lead you to earnestly seek to walk in his blessed example, loving as he loved.

"WHAT THINK YE OF CHRIST?"

AND now we are ready for the climax of the lesson, when Peter declares, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God," Matthew 16:16.We cannot long stand in the presence of the story in this lesson and fail to conclude with Peter that none save the Son of God can do such wondrous things — can love as he loved.Beginning with the Incarnation, we follow through the sweeping claims of Jesus, and we know of a truth that he was very God. Convinced, then, that we are in the presence of God when we contemplate the nature of Jesus, what are we to say? Does not Isaac Watts suggest the answer?

When I survey the wondrous cross,
On which the Prince of glory died,
My richest gain I count but loss,
And poor despise on all my pride.
See, from his head, his hands, his feet,
Sorrow and love flow mingled down,
Did e'er such love and sorrow meet,
Or thorns compass'd to rich a crown?
Were there a whole realm of nature mine,
That were a present far too small;
Love so amazing, so divine,
Demands my soul, my life, my all!

FESCUE IMPROVES

MONROE PASTURES

That fescue 31 will do a great deal for the livestock of Monroe county as a winter pasture is the opinion of Farm Agent J. L. Ellis. As examples, he told how Buford Kerr and C. H. Dickerson pastured their fescue continually from Oct. 1 to Jan. 1, the cattle requiring little other feed to keep them in fine shape. Charlie Graves says that his five acres of fescue will pasture 30 head of sheep through January and

IN MEMORY—

In memory of my father (Walter Roberts) who departed this life January 30, 1947—

It has been a short time since he went away; he had such a kind, loving face.

We miss him more every day; I am sure he is blessed by God's grace.

Dad was good to all the children. He was just the right partner for our mother.

And they worked for each other. He is gone! Oh, how sad.

I hope God makes more parents like Mom and Dad.

They taught us about God's love and lived according to His word.

Now when the night grows still, I think of them taking us to worship in the little church on the hill.

What a peaceful look was on his brow when he talked of going to be with his Lord, because Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life. Who so ever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."

On earth we shall see Dad no more, but we'll meet again to sing God's praises on that beautiful shore.

Thanks be to God for the blessings we have had.

Especially a Christian Mother and Dad.

Generally That Way
A prospective bride and bridegroom were discussing their plans.
He—After we are married, I will give you to understand that I am going to wear the pants of the family.
She—That is correct. But I shall tell you which pair to wear.
Heavy Dough
Three small boys were bragging about the prowess of their dads. The first boy said: "My dad writes a few short lines, calls it a poem, sends it away and gets $10 for it."
"My dad," spoke the second lad, "makes some dots on a piece of paper, calls it a song, sends it away and gets $20 for it."
"That's nothing," spoke up the third, "my father writes out a sermon on a sheet of paper, gets up in the pulpit and reads it, and it takes four men to bring in the money."

Indians Wore Platinum
Indians of the Andes highlands wore platinum spangles and nose rings 2,000 years ago. Then for centuries the beauty and utility of the silvery white metal was ignored. "Unripe gold," Colombian Indians actually called platinum in the days of the Spanish Conquistadores. They threw it back into the streams to ripen. Men were hanged in South America and Tarist Russia for attempting to substitute it for silver and gold. Even early United States gold pieces were counterfeited in platinum.

FELLOW KENTUCKIANS:

I became an active candidate for U.S. Senator after a careful survey convinced me that I can win the Democratic nomination and final election. To that end I will wage the most energetic and thorough campaign of which I am capable.

After more than twenty years of experience as a Representative in Congress, I can as a Senator in Congress perform more useful and beneficial service than ever before to Kentucky and the Nation. Not Worth Much

The customer at the filling station asked for a change of oil.

"What do you want—in bulk or sealed cans?" The attendant asked.

"What's the difference?"

"No difference in oil," the attendant explained. "The bulk is for people who take my word for the quality and the cans for those who question my word."

"Your word is as good as mine," the customer said thoughtfully. As the attendant started to procure the oil from the bulk supply, the customer spoke up quickly, "I said your word is just as good as mine. Give me that can oil."

SUNKEN COURSE

The visitor paid his greens' fee and went out to the first tee. Taking his stance he made a wild swing and missed completely.

"By jove," he said to his opponent. "It's a good thing I found out early in the game that this golf course is at least two inches lower than the one I've been playing on."

Proud Title
Mrs. Jones, a London lady, was proudly discussing her new American son-in-law with a neighbor.

"My Gwendolyn has done very well for herself, I must say," she boasted. "After all, 'ain't every day a young girl marries an American lord."

"An American lord? Why, I ain't ever 'eard of such a thing in all my born days!"

"I wouldn't tell you a lie," said Mrs. Jones. "Ain't you ever 'eard of the American 'ousing shortage? That's why Gwendolyn's husband is so hoity-toity. He's a real American lord—a landlord!"

Just Fiction
The young man had walked from church with one of the girls of the household, but now Grandpap had cornered him as a listener over on the shady side of the porch.

The old man waxed eloquent on the exploits of his own youth, and at last, there came a story that strained plausibility to the breaking point.

The youth interrupted. "Grandpap," he said, "is that the honest truth?"

Grandpap's eyes twinkled. "Lordy no, son," he chuckled, "that's conversation."

Keeping Sharp
When the train stopped at a small southern station, the city traveler snatched out and gazed curiously at a lean animal with scraggy bristles rubbing itself against a tree.

"What do you call that?" he called curiously to a darkie hoeing the field.

"Razorback hawg, sah."

"Why is he rubbing himself against the tree?" inquired the traveler.

REVERSIBLE

Cowboy—Getting your saddle on backward, aren't you?
Dude rancher—That's all you know about it, smarty. You don't even know which way I'm going.

Not Quite Cured
An asylum patient who had been certified cured was saying goodbye to the director of the institution. "And what are you going to do when you go out into the world?" asked the director.

"Well," said the patient, "I have passed my bar examinations, so I may practice law. I have also had quite a bit of experience in college dramatics, so I might try acting." He paused for a moment, deep in thought. "Then on the other hand," he continued, "I may be a tea-kettle."

On the Fly
Two rival insurance agents were talking about the prompt payment of their claims.

"If a man died tonight," one boasted, "his widow would receive the full benefit in the first mail tomorrow morning."

"That's nothing," exclaimed the other. "Our office is on the twelfth floor of the State building. The other day a man jumped from the thirtieth floor and we handed him his check as he went past the window."

SHORT STORY

Blind Date

By FERN AUBLE

"ROD, dear," Mary Trent paused at the foot of the stairs as the inevitable bang of the front door announced the unmistakable arrival of her 17-year-old son.

She turned and came toward him, a surge of pride welling up as it invariably did when she looked at her tall son. The tight, black cap of curls with which he was everlastingly waging battle, was rumpled with the fingers of the brisk wind and his black eyes danced with mischief as he slid to a stop before his mother.

"Hi-ya, Toots!" He grinned engagingly and threw an arm around her shoulders, giving her a quick kiss.

"Oh, Rod," she said, laughing in spite of herself, "you're impossible."

He struck a pose and sighed heavily, "It's just me effervescent spirits, ma'am."

Rod followed his mother into the living room, where he sprawled down in to a chair, his long legs stretched out before him.

She looked at him for a moment speculatively, wondering just how to broach the subject uppermost in her mind right now.

She plunged in, "Rod, dear, your father wants you to ask Mr. Billings' daughter to the Festival Dance."

Rod looked at her unbelievably and then bolted upright, indignation in every line of his lean frame.

"What!" he exploded, "That drip!"

"You haven't asked anyone else yet, have you?" his mother asked.

"Not exactly, but I thought I'd drag Elly. Do I have to, Mom?"

"No, son, you don't have to, but it would be a very friendly gesture. After all, the Billings are fairly new here and Anna Marie probably hasn't made many new friends."

"That I can believe," he muttered darkly, a mental vision of the daughter of his father's boss in his mind's eye.

He turned to his mother now, despair darkening his face. "Did Dad tell Mr. Billings that I'd take her?"

"I'm afraid he did, Rod. I'm sorry, son, but after all, you haven't asked anyone else and your father would be pleased."

"Nuts!" He shoved his hands deep in his pockets and kicked at the rug despondently. "Oh, all right, she's a creep, but tell Dad I'll give my all for the family."

TWO next three weeks sped by at an alarming rate. Rod, having called Anna Marie under pressure, reflected gloomily, as he dressed for the dance.

A half hour later, he was ringing the Billings' doorbell. The door opened and a sweet-faced woman was smiling at him.

"Oh, you must be Rod," she said, opening the door wide. "Come in, won't you? Anna Marie will be down in just a minute."

"It's just me effervescent spirits, ma'am."

Rod stepped inside and stood nervously waiting for Anna Marie to come down. He looked up quickly as a faint sound reached him. He literally stopped breathing as he beheld the vision of loveliness descending the steps.

Her skin was as smooth and creamy white as the petals of a newly-opened magnolia. Her hair, caught up in a soft cluster of curls, was like a sheaf of sunbeams caught and held by the gardenias he had sent her, under pressure from his mother. Her blue eyes were like cornflowers laughing at the dazed look on his face.

"Jeepers! a dream-buss, no less," Rod breathed. And then, "Ready for the retreat, beautiful?"

The black lashes flew up and a smile curved the lovely, softly pink mouth.

"Natch," was the retort and to herself, Anna Marie added, "Glamorous."

FATTENS CATTLE ON GRASS AND ROUGHAGE

A system of fattening cattle largely on grass and roughage was presented by Prof. A. J. Dyer of the Missouri Experiment Station at the Farm and Home Convention in Lexington. Calves which weighed 400 pounds when put on feed received only 10 bushels of corn each until sold as 2-year-olds averaging 1,150 pounds.

Sixty percent of their increased weight was made on pasture, 20 percent on roughage in winter and 20 percent on a full feed of grain in dry lot. Gains through two winters and two summers were about as follows: 150 pounds the first winter, 250 pounds the first summer, 150 pounds the second winter, and 200 to 250 pounds the second summer.

Grazing one steer an acre, the Missourian got about 200 pounds of gain an acre. This was more profitable than the grain that could have been produced on the same land, Prof. Dyer said.

Green county farmers have set a goal of $1,000,000 to be derived from dairy products this year.

Uncle Sam Says

Benjamin Franklin said that it was not what a person earned but what he saved out of his earnings that counted. Millions of Americans who are buying Savings Bonds regularly know Ben Franklin was right. An allotment of $3.75 a week for Bonds for 10 years would provide you with $2,163.45. In your own interest, you should be as wise as millions of your countrymen today who are practicing what Ben Franklin preached—thrift gets results.

Making Its Point

There is a lady operating a boarding house down in Alabama who has a simple, silent, but most effective method of collecting money from delinquent boarders. A new arrival at this lady's establishment noticed at supper that one of the boarders had one fork too many beside his plate, and seemed to be acutely embarrassed over the circumstance.

"Why is he so disturbed over the extra fork?" the new boarder whispered to the gentleman seated beside him.

"Oh, that's how the landlady collects past due board bills," was the laughing explanation. "When she puts that extra implement beside the plate it simply means 'fork over.'"

QUIET, PLEASE

Professor—Gentlemen, I am dismissing the class 10 minutes early today. Please go out quietly so as not to wake the other classes.

Quite A Stunt

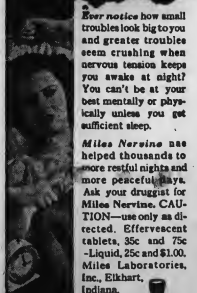

The river boy had volunteered to guide the urban visitor on a fishing trip. Bewildered at amateurish angling tactics of his charge, the youth ventured advice, but was told promptly that his counsel was not needed.

Despite his strange methods, the visitor finally hooked a small one. Now, he gazed at his catch in gleeful awe as the fish wriggled at the end of the line.

"What shall I do now, boy?" he asked.

"Well, sir," was the slow reply, "you've done so many amazing things, I think you can 'jes' climb up the pole an' git 'im."

COVER CROPS VALUABLE

Woodford county winter cover crops are worth $10 to $25 an acre for the feed they produce, according to estimates made by County Agent H. R. Forkner.

At present prices of cattle, they may be worth even more. Most of the tobacco and other cultivated land in the county is growing rye, barley, wheat, vetch or crimson clover.

THINKS TREES MIGHT PROVIDE RETIREMENT

Farm Agent Hugh Hurst of Pulaski county told members of 19 4-H clubs that one of the best bank accounts they could start would be to set walnut trees, 1,000 of which could be bought for $2.50, and set in three or four days of labor, and "Fifty years from now," said Hurst, "these trees probably will be worth $40,000, if set in good ground. I know of no better retirement plan for boys and girls to adopt."

Up His Sleeve

A group of sailors on a freighter were frequently entertained by one of their number, a sleight-of-hand performer of no mean ability, during the long evenings at sea. His act, in which cards, money and handkerchiefs were made to disappear, was enjoyed by all aboard—except one—a parrot which greeted each performance with a raucous, "Ha, ha, ha! Phooey!"

The ninth night out, in the midst of the show, a terrific storm arose and the boat sank. The prestidigitator was thrown into the ocean and managed to grasp some wreckage to support his weight.

The following morning he was startled to see his cuffed, the parrot, sitting on an upright on his improvised raft. Not a word passed between the castaways for two days. Suddenly, however, the parrot looked down, cocked his head to one side, and with a gleam in his eye demanded:

"Alright, what'd you do with the ship?"

Bearcats Trip Hebron 46-43 Tuesday Nite

The Walton-Verona Bearcats have the distinction of being the second Boone County basketball team to upset the Hebron Cardinals, and they did it the "hard way," turning the trick Tuesday night at Hebron. The Cards previous loss was to the Florence Knights, last Friday night on the winners' floor. However, it must be said that Toadvine, ace Cardinal center, was not in the lineup and probably will not play any more this season due to illness.

But Tuesday's win by the Cats was a surprise to us, at least, and reports are that the locals played a good brand of ball to win. It was a battle all the way, with Walton holding a slight edge most of the time. At the end of the first quarter, Walton was in front 11-9, and at the half the count was knotted at 20-20. The score was still tied at the close of the third period, this time 34-34, but in the final quarter the Cats forged ahead in win 46-43.

Dike Vets topped Walton scores with 18 points. "Dude" Simpson was next with 12, and Johnny Maddox came up with third place, scoring 10 points. High scorer for the contest was McGlasson, Hebron, who bagged 19 tallies.

In the preliminary game, the Walton-Verona reserves were nosed out 25-23 by the Hebron seconds, in a tight contest, which was won in the last 13 seconds of play.

WILLIAMSTOWN HERE FRIDAY

On Friday night of this week, the Walton-Verona Bearcats will be hosts to the Demons of Williamstown. These boys trimmed the locals 37-36 at Bilkwood earlier this season, so come out and see what happens this time.

THREE GAMES NEXT WEEK

Next week will be a busy one for the Bearcats, as they play three games of basketball—all at home. Tuesday night, Feb. 17th, the New Haven Tigers will come here for a return bout with the Cats, in a Boone County Conference fray. On Wednesday night, Feb. 18th, the Dry Ridge hardwood artists will be guests of the Cats. This game was originally scheduled for Feb. 6th, but was postponed due to cold weather and icy roads. Opposing the Blue and White on Friday, Feb. 20 will be another Grant County five, Crittenden. Come out, you'll see a bit of excitement, etc.

Piner PTA Holds Jan. Meeting

At the regular January meeting of the Piner P. T. A., which is held the third Thursday of every month, the president appointed a mother from each grade to make an apron and each pupil is supposed to sew a patch on it with a donation enclosed. All are to be completed by February meeting at which time all patches are to be removed.

Due to the cold weather, attendance was dropped, but those who present enjoyed the program very much.

Mr. Edgar Baker, principal of the Visalia school, gave a very interesting talk concerning the ways and means of their P. T. A. Miss Wanda Bridges entertained with popular and classical music on an electric phonograph. Also Mrs. Lewis Gabriel spoke on the subject of "What I Expect of the Teacher and School for My Children," and Mrs. W. R. Brown spoke on "What the School Teachers Expect from the Student." These speeches were very interesting to everyone.

Mr. W. R. Brown and Mr. Edgar Baker are program leaders for the February meeting, and from all reports, it is going to be very exciting, as Visalia school boys are going to play Piner boys a game of basketball, and parents of the boys are also to play the boys.

Everyone try and be present at the meeting, Thursday, Feb. 19th at 8:00 p. m. You parents come out and see what your school is doing.

Amid beautiful flowers and in an air of sweet solemnity and soft nuptial music, including "At Dawning," the love song of their choice, two hearts were made to beat as one, when Miss Eleanor Jean Carpenter, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Carpenter, of Florence, became the bride of Richard G. Keyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Keyer of Latonia. In a very impressive double-ring ceremony by Rev. W. E. Garriott at the Grace Methodist Church, Newport, on Saturday, Feb. 7th, at 10:30 a. m. their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kurz of Ft. Mitchell.

The bride was attired in a coat suit of French gray with matching hat, ornamented with black, and black accessories, and was adorned with a corsage of American Beauty and white rosebuds, intermingled with orange blossoms. Her attendant wore a beige crepe suit with brown accessories and her corsage was of pink rosebuds and carnations. The bride's "something old" was a handkerchief used by her grandmother, Mrs. Theo. Carpenter on her wedding day more than 60 years ago.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Paradise Gardens, Cincinnati for the bridal party and their immediate families, after which the happy couple departed by train for a brief honeymoon in Michigan and Canada.

The bride graduated from Florence high school and the groom is a graduate of Holmes high school, Covington. He was inducted into military service shortly after leaving school and was sent to the European theatre, where he was in active service with the Infantry in North Africa, Italy and Switzerland. Unfortunately he was wounded in action and was hospitalized in Rome, Italy for six months.

They will reside in Latonia, following their return.

Red Cross Workers Needed

The Boone County Red Cross is sadly in need of help for soliciting funds in the Annual Drive, Feb. 1-15 if you can contribute a bit of your spare time for a worthy cause, see Mrs. Allen C. Conner, Chairman of the Fund-Raising campaign.

Plain Indians Are To Play Ind. Firemen

It has been a good many years since the town of Independence has had an Indian raid—well, palefaces here they come! Plain Indians of the old west, banded together as the first Americans, will scout for the scalps of the Volunteer Fire Department basketball team at Independence on Saturday, February 14 at 7:30 p. m. The boys, all former court champs, revert to their feather days and obey Sky Chief, their coach and himself a former champion. Running Fox, White Horse, Red Feather, Boy Chief, Sky Eagle and Lone Wolf will smoke the pipe with the local braves to begin their game, and don't be surprised if they forget themselves at the sound of the team tom-tom, and break into a war dance. Boy Chief, a World Champion feather-dancer, will entertain at the half, to ancient Pawnee Indian songs.

History will be repeating itself around Independence, when Running Fox and his brethren, Sky Eagle, Lone Chief, White Horse, Boy Chief, Red Feather and Sky Chief, take up the hatchet and make for the scalps of the Firemen basketweavers.

Fox Drive Sunday At Crittenden

Foxes are so numerous in the Crittenden community that a fox drive is to be held on Sunday, Feb. 15th, beginning at 9:30 a. m. for the purpose of eliminating as many of the "pests" as possible. All proceeds from the sale of furs will be donated to the March of Dimes for Infantile Paralysis. Only shot guns are to be used—no rifles or dogs—so if you want to have some fun on Sunday, be in Crittenden at 9:30.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defense is in the spirit which prized liberty as the heritage of all men in all lands everywhere.

With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in... to do all which may achieve a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations.

— that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

EXPRESSING, SIMPLY AND WITH DIGNITY, THE THOUGHTS AND FEELINGS OF THE PEOPLE, THESE WORDS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN WILL LIVE FOREVER IN THE HEARTS OF ALL AMERICANS — STANDING BEFORE ALL THE WORLD AS A STATEMENT OF THE PURPOSES AND PRINCIPLES OF OUR DEMOCRACY.

Power of Holy Spirit
Lesson for February 15, 1948

TWO decades ago, the famous preacher, Rev. Reginald J. Campbell, declared, "The 18th Century may be characterized as the Century of God the Father; the 19th Century as the Century of God the Son; and we are praying that the 20th Century may be experienced as the Century of the Holy Spirit." That was a brave and hopeful prayer. May we claim the same hope.

"These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you. But the Comforter, which is the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you," John 14:26 and 28. Go on to read Acts 2:1-4; 3:1 to 4:31; Galatians 5:22-23 and you will have the Scripture passages for Sunday's lesson, with Ephesians 6:10-12 as the devotional reading.

PETER ACTS BRAVELY
IN THE picture of Peter and John about to enter the temple on the Sabbath, when suddenly they find themselves confronted by a sick beggar. What could they do with him and for him? He was asking for money.

Peter said, "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I thee, in the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk!"

The lame man stood up, leaping and walking and rejoicing, and went into the temple with Peter and John. Only the power of God can do such mighty works. Peter was not afraid to tackle the man's needs, since he relied upon God's wisdom and strength.

WHY PETER WAS BRAVE
PETER is often pictured as a very quick-tempered person. He was usually the first to speak in every situation. He was the leader of the group—a natural leader of men. But Peter did not assume to meet the poor man's need in his strength. Only "in the Name of Jesus."

When we forget self and rely upon the Holy Spirit for direction, we are enabled to meet and master any situation. Juniors will do well to remember these words, "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit," said the Lord of hosts," Zechariah 4:6.

Junior boys and girls can meet life's tasks in the same assurance in which Peter dealt with the lame man. If we rely upon the Holy Spirit, SECRET OF CHRISTIAN POWER "YOU shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you," Acts 1:8. That is the secret of the Christian's power. It does not originate elsewhere. It is God's gift to those who implicitly trust in him.

This great truth is particularly appealing to intermediates and seniors. Young people are keenly sensitive to the times in which they live. We live today in an hour of unprecedented power—atomic energy! But all of the marvels of modern science have not been able to give young people the sense of mastery. Rather, we are afraid. The scientists themselves tell us that this is history's most precarious age.

Only when the Holy Spirit is regnant in our hearts can we possess the power of which Paul is writing in Galatians, when he says, "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance."

WHEN WE HAVE THAT POWER
WHY, then, should we ever be weak, when we may always possess that power? This is the most searching question for any Christian. The answer will lead us to certain inevitable admissions. We become weak spiritually when we forget to pray, when we forget to read God's word, when we allow the interests of this world to blind our eyes and deafen our ears to the reality of God's presence.

The Holy Spirit will dwell within us, if only we will welcome him. He will not come unbidden; he will not remain unwanted. He cannot be made secondary. Either he guides or surrenders the reins to us.

Our lives are spiritually strong and healthy when the Holy Spirit governs. Our work is effective, our words are compelling. We speak our wisdom, but the wisdom of God. We go not in our strength, but in his strength.

Pulse Beats of the South

Close your eyes and listen!

Hummm! Hummm! Hummm!

The throbbing, ever-mounting hum of busy factories. It's the industrial South turning out endless streams of finished products.

Grrr! Grrr! Grrr!

The roar of tractors . . . the whir of machinery. It's the fertile Southland wresting treasures from the fields, forests and mines.

Bzzz! Bzzz! Bzzz!

The chatter of families . . . the carefree laughter in playgrounds . . . the optimistic talk of Southern business men. It's the people of the South enjoying the land they live and work in.

Clickety-click! Clickety-click! Clickety-click!

The continual clickety-click of railroad wheels hurrying over steel rails. It's the 8,000-mile Southern Railway System serving the South . . . 24 hours a day . . . with economical, efficient, dependable mass transportation.

Hummm! Grrr! Bzzz! Clickety-click!

These are the pulse beats of the South . . . pulse beats that have grown stronger and louder year by year . . . pulse beats that will mean even greater progress and prosperity for the land we all love—if we continue working together in the years ahead.

TUBELESS TIRE CROSS-SECTION

The construction of the new puncture-sealing tubeless tire is shown in this cross-section. The special concentric ridges molded on the beads seal the tire against the rim and prevent air from getting out around the edges while rubber washers inside and outside the valve keep the air from escaping that way. The sealant on the inner side of the tread area, a thick, gummy rubber, gives the tire its puncture-sealing qualities. The B. F. Goodrich Company has announced that the tire is now available here for the first time.

TIRE THAT NEEDS NO TUBE

Tire builder at B. F. Goodrich plant shows inner layer of thick, gummy rubber in crown of revolutionary new tire, one which requires no inner tube and at the same time is self-puncture-sealing. The tubeless tire, when mounted, looks exactly like an ordinary tire though it has several other important differences in internal construction. It is now available to the public in this area for the first time.

BARNUM GOT STUNG

P. T. Barnum, the great showman, once received a letter from a Vermont offering him a cherry-colored cat for $600. Always on the lookout for a novelty for his show, Barnum sent the $600—after getting the man's solemn word that the creature was cherry colored. A crate arrived. Barnum opened it and a black cat jumped out. Around its neck was a ribbon and from the ribbon hung a note which read: "Up in Vermont our cherries are black."

Trailways Bus Hearing Now On In Frankfort

Probably the biggest bus hearing ever held in Kentucky opened at 9:30 a. m., Tuesday in Frankfort, with Trailways trying to obtain a share of Greyhound's run between Cincinnati and Knoxville.

A. R. Steele, director of motor transportation, said that a dozen lawyers and about 400 witnesses are to appear in the 16-day hearing and the case will be heard by a 3-state board. E. R. Hays, assistant director of motor transportation will sit for Kentucky. Gene Oldham, Nashville, of the Railroad and Public Utility Commission, will sit for Tennessee. The third will be a member of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. An examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission will sit also, but in an advisory capacity only.

Trailways will present four days of testimony in Frankfort, then the hearing will move to Knoxville for four days of Trailways testimony, beginning Saturday. The hearing will return to Frankfort for four days of Greyhound rebuttal, then move again to Knoxville for 4 more days of rebuttal by Greyhound.

Steele said both bus lines have spent a great deal of money and time preparing their cases. The legal staff for Trailways will be Joe Leary of Frankfort, and R. R. Kramer of Knoxville, while the lawyers for Greyhound will be W. A. Roberts of Washington and Rodman W. Keenon of Lexington. Application of Trailways has been pending since Dec. 2, 1946, Steele said.

The bus route from Cincinnati to Knoxville carries one of the heaviest traffic loads in the nation, as it is a key route between the Middle West and the Southeast. The Greyhound route follows U. S. 25 to Corbin, then U. S. 25-W to Knoxville, Lexington and Corbin are the key intermediate points.

The route sought by Trailways leaves Cincinnati on U. S. 25, to Walton, but cuts Southwest at Dry Ridge to serve Owenton, Frankfort, Lawrenceburg, Harrodsburg, Danville and Mount Vernon. At Mount Vernon, the route hits U. S. 25 and thereafter to Knoxville, follows the road used by Greyhound.

Trailways, with offices in Indianapolis, is a nation-wide bus network, but has no link of its own between Cincinnati and Knoxville. General offices for Southeastern Greyhound are in Lexington.

W. R. Jones To Speak In Erlanger

Willis R. Jones, admissions counselor of Transylvania College, Lexington, will speak to the Greater Cincinnati Disciples Union Rally at the Erlanger Christian Church, Erlanger, on Monday, Feb. 23 at 7:45 p. m., according to Ralph Hixson, president of the Union. Mr. Jones is the son of Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, past president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and a Detroit Disciple clergyman.

Mr. Jones will speak on the subject, "Strong Features of the Disciples of Christ As I See Them." Mr. Jones held the post of admissions counselor at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, and public relations director at William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., prior to his appointment to Transylvania College. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and during the war served with the American Red Cross as a field director on both Army and Navy installations.

Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, father of Willis R. Jones, moved to Erlanger in 1910 and served a circuit of four churches: Bullittsville, Petersburg, Point Pleasant and Florence. In the fall of 1901 the Erlanger Christian Church was organized under Dr. Jones' leadership. Dr. Jones married Frances G. Willis of Bullittsville.

Walton PTA to Meet

Mrs. Ellis Jack will present members of the "Teen-Timers Club" of Walton-Vermilion High School in a Founders Day program at the February meeting of the Walton P. T. A. on Friday afternoon, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Reports from the mid-winter P. T. A. conference held recently at the John G. Carlisle school, Covington, will be heard.

All members are urged to attend this meeting as there are several important matters to be decided upon.

Mrs. Clayton Jones will preside at a silver tea, to be held at the conclusion of the meeting—Pub. Chr.

Westover Will Is Upheld In Grant Court

A jury in Grant County Circuit Court deliberated less than 30 minutes before returning a verdict upholding the will of Robert Westover, former editor and publisher of the Grant County News, who left the major portion of his estate to his assistant editor of 16 years standing, Miss Edyth Harrell.

Miss Westover left no direct descendants, but surviving family members contested the will. In a trial before Judge Ward Yager, which lasted nearly a week, attorneys for the family sought to prove the will had not been signed by Mr. Westover.

Court was held until nearly 10:00 p. m., last Friday in order that the case would not have to be continued another day.

Under the terms of the will, Miss Harrell receives ownership of the newspaper, the building in which it is housed in Williamstown, all newspaper equipment, and a sum of money now held in a Williamstown bank. The total valuation of the property and cash is estimated at better than $50,000.

Mr. Westover left an estate of $75,000, the remainder of which was distributed among his relatives. Miss Harrell said she first went to work for the deceased publisher 17 years ago for a salary of $12.00 a week.

Farmers Start Conservation Programs

Joe and Cyril Blau of Independence, Route 1, who are cooperators in the Kenton County Soil Conservation District, sowed one acre of ladino clover in April, 1947, and turned in fifteen cows and 10 young cattle late in August for five days. While they ate the clover completely down, they had good grazing while it lasted.

Eighteen Kenton County farms signed up in January to begin definite programs for soil conservation, according to Julian M. Dyer, technician in this district. This brings the number of farms cooperating with the board to 35, since the district was organized in June, 1942.

The farmers starting this program in January of this year, are as follows: Sherman Vestine, Piner; G. Klein, Visalia; C. W. Cummins, Klein Road; James Lett, Mason Rd.; Arthur Beverly, Klein Rd.; Everett R. Casson, Rector Rd.; H. F. Hoffman, Jr., Moffett Rd.; C. F. After the ceremony they returned to the home of the bride's parents on Verona Road, later leaving on a short trip.

The happy couple will make their home in Walton.

To Aid Farm Veterans

Frank Lipscomb, teacher of the veteran class in agriculture in Kenton County, recently met with the Kenton County Board of Supervisors in an effort to seek the cooperation of the Board in lending greater assistance to the twenty-four veterans in the county who are enrolled in agriculture and operating farms. The board agreed to lend every dollar in the county to the veterans assigned the county: Julian M. Dyer and Kenneth R. Kelly, to work out a complete farm plan for conservation of the farm of each veteran in the class. Of the twenty-four, plans have already been prepared on 12 of the veterans' farms.

Richwood Man Killed Last Saturday

Services for Manford Smith, 36, a brakeman for the Southern Railway, who was killed Saturday in a traffic accident near Richwood, were held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m., in the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home, Walton. Burial was in the Presbyterian Cemetery, Richwood.

Sheriff Irvin Rouse said Mr. Smith was thrown from his automobile on the Dixie Highway, a mile north of Richwood. The accident occurred when the left-hand door of the car came open, causing Smith to lose control of the vehicle.

Mr. Smith, Boone County coroner, said Mr. Smith suffered a broken neck and a skull fracture.

A passenger in the automobile, Frank Trege, Erlanger, escaped injury. Mr. Smith moved to Richwood 4 years ago from King's Mountain, Ky. He was a member of Walton Lodge, No. 719, F. and A. M., which held services at the grave.

Smith, King's Mountain; three brothers, Manuel Smith, of King's Mountain, and Morris and Granville Smith, both of Dayton, Ohio; three sisters, Mrs. Eva Jones, King's Mountain, Mrs. Celesta Williams, Waynesburg, Ky., and Mrs. Essie Martin, South Fork, Ky.

JUDGE CROPPER TO SPEAK AT VERONA

4-H GOAL IS 500

The 4-H leaders in Boone County have set 500 as the membership goal for the year 1948, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent, and Wm. E. Davis, County Agent.

Walton's high school basketball team won themselves a pair of games the past week and against pretty stiff competition. Last Friday they turned back Williamstown 46-37 and on Tuesday of this week, before a packed house, nosed out the New Haven Tigers 46-44.

In the Billtown game the visitors took an early lead and were in front 10-8 at the end of the first quarter. In the second stanza they increased their advantage, to lead at the intermission 21-14. However, in the third period it was a different story entirely. The Cats began to click and within six minutes had accumulated a 10-point lead. They outscored the Demons 23-6 to lead 37-27 at this quarter ended. The locals held their own in the final frame and the final count was 46-37 in favor of Walton-Verona.

The "big three" for Walton, in this contest, were Vest, Maddox and Simpson. The former had 14 points and the latter two men collected 13 tallies each. Henderson, a very good ball player, led the Billtown attack with a dozen points.

In the preliminary game, the local second team scored a 30-16 win over the Williamstown reserves.

The procedure was reversed on Tuesday night at the local hardwood, when New Haven came to town. The Bearcats took the lead in the first quarter, being in front 9-2 as the first period ended, but at the intermission were ahead 25-14. The locals continued at a mercurial pace throughout the third quarter and were leading 40-26 at the period ended. But the final period was a bit different story. The Tigers rallied at this point and almost took the Cats—and probably would have had no time run out on them. They outscored Walton 18-6, but the game ended before they could take the lead, and the locals were the winners 46-44. In the previous meeting the Tigers staged a last-quarter rally to win a two-point decision from the Cats.

Simpson was top scorer for the winners, bagging a total of 18 tallies. In the first half Dude matched up points with the New Haven team, each collecting 14 markers. Vest was next for the winners with 12 points. Clements was high for the Tigers with 13 points.

Verona reserves won the Walton contest from the New Haven reserves, 33-29 with Coyle leading the winners' attack with 10 points.

BENEFIT GAME FRIDAY

Friday night, Feb. 20th the Bearcats will play Crittenden, on the local floor and proceeds from a well-played contest are to be donated to the March of Dimes. Come out, you'll see a good ball game and also aid in a small way the fight against Infantile Paralysis.

Hebron Hosts Feb. 24th

The Hebron Cardinals will visit Walton on Tuesday, Feb. 24th for a Boone County Conference game—and a rousing battle it is expected to be too. Be there.

The Cats will close the regular season on Feb. 27th when they go to Burlington.

Christian Fellowship

Lesson for February 22, 1948

GEOGE WASHINGTON was a splendid example of Christian fellowship. If you will travel through the older portion of the United States, particularly in Virginia, you will come upon numerous instances of church pews marked as follows: "George Washington worshipped in this pew on blank date." Evidently, it was his custom to attend public worship in whatever community he spent the Lord's day.

Thus he entered into Christian fellowship, gaining a blessing and rendering a blessing.

The lesson passage for Sunday is found in Acts 2:37-47 and Ephesians 4:1-6, with several other passages which will be quoted before we finish the column for this week.

A HAPPY TIME IN CHURCH

READ Acts 2:41-47, and you will find a picture of a group of very happy people. Think of it, three thousand people professing faith in Jesus and receiving baptism in one day! But read on—they were not only happy at church, but they were happy because they were in the church. They continued steadfastly in the apostles' teachings and fellowship and breaking of bread and prayer.

They praised God and had favor with all the people. By their daily living they were convincing the world that fellowship in Christ is not only good on Sunday while we are at the meeting house, but good every day.

The happy homes are the homes where Christian fellowship abounds, and it is equally true in every area of life.

AT CHURCH WITH FRIENDS

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go unto the house of the Lord," Psalm 122:1.

That is poetry, you will agree, but it is also actual testimony not only of the Psalmist, but of countless junior boys and girls throughout our land who eagerly await the sound of the church bells. Boys and girls delight to go to Sunday school and worship when the life of the church is pervaded with Christian fellowship. There they meet the finest boys and girls in the community.

BELONGING TO THE CHURCH

THE passage in Acts 2:37-47 tells us how certain people, after hearing the great sermon by Peter, asked how they might be saved. He told them:

"Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit."

When we invite intermediate friends to attend Sunday school and worship services with us, and they come to know of the love of God, they, too, will want to be saved. It is then the high privilege of Christian boys and girls to lead their friends to accept Jesus Christ as Saviour, and come into the church.

In Ephesians 4:4-6, we read these words: "There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called to the one hope that belongs to your call, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of us all, who is above all and through all and in all."

ALL ONE IN CHRIST

THE above passage from Ephesians teaches clearly that there is a brotherhood of man, real and abiding, when we accept the Fatherhood of God, through Jesus Christ. This is the meaning of the church. No amount of man-made creeds can save us. No amount of ritual and ceremony can save us. We are saved by grace through faith, and that is the gift of God. When we repent of our sins and believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, we are saved, and not until then.

The one adequate solvent for the crying needs of this frightened world is the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ. Just as thousands were saved on Pentecost and again on the Lord's Day when Peter preached in Solomon's porch, so today many may be saved where the Gospel is proclaimed in its simplicity and power.

We are one in Christ, of every race and every tongue. The fellowship of Christian faith transcends every barrier—racial, economic, geographic, political, religious. We have but to proclaim the universality of this good news—proclaim it in our words and proclaim it in our daily lives. The world waits wistfully for the encompassing fellowship that is in Christ and in Christ alone.

HEAVY APPLICATION OF FERTILIZER MAY DAMAGE PLANT BEDS

Too much fertilizer may damage tobacco plant beds, says C. E. Bortner, of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. A sack of 100 pounds of mixed fertilizer used on 100 feet of bed 9 to 12 feet wide may reduce germination of seed as much as 50 percent, he says, and in dry years may cause complete failure.

He advises applying not more than 40 pounds of mixed fertilizer, such as 4-8-4 or 6-8-6, for each 100 feet of stemed bed 12 feet wide. In dry years, unless the bed is properly watered, this amount may lower germination. In dry weather, plant beds should be watered not less than once a week. On heavily burned beds, Mr. Bortner suggests the use of a low-potash fertilizer, such as 4-12-0 or 4-16-0.

Other suggestions: The use of manures or such organic material as cottonseed meal on the plant bed at the time of seeding or the fertilizer is to be avoided. Fowl, sheep and horse manure have been found to injure stand and growth of tobacco plants at concentration of 64,143 and 322 pounds respectively per 1,000 square feet of plant bed. The use of these manures also may bring weed seeds into the plant bed.

During good growing weather, if the plants are growing slowly and are yellow, the bed should be treated with nitrate. Dissolve 10 pounds of nitrate of soda in a 50-gallon barrel of water. Remove the cotton and sprinkle the nitrate solution evenly over the bed, with a sprinkling can, at the rate of 5 gallons to 18 running feet of bed 12 feet wide, or 24 running feet where the width is 9 feet. Follow at once with an equal amount of clear water to rinse the solution off the leaves and prevent burning.

Cottonseed meal worked into the top inch of soil after burning the bed has been found to reduce the stand of plants by 45 percent and the size of the plants by one-third when applied at the rate of 6 lbs. per 1,000 square feet of plant bed.

Onion Juice Aids 2,4-D

Preliminary experiments at the Michigan agricultural experiment station indicate that a 2,4-D solution receiving an addition of specially treated onion juice not only does a more thorough job of weed control but also effectively covers a greater area. The strength of 2,4-D weed killer may be stepped up from 10 to 20 times by onion juice. Approximately 20 different extracts from fruits and juices were tried, some of which had the opposite of the desired effect. Indications are that one pound of onions, properly mashed, and mixed with two and one-half gallons of water 2,4-D solution, is the most effective mixture. In the experiments, the sodium salt of 2,4-D was used.

The bright sunshine and pleasant breezes on Sunday morning made us think of the popular song, "Oh, What A Beautiful Morning," but when we got to Sunday School and found only a small number in attendance—well, it was a disappointment. The public school has an attendance officer and we sometimes think we need one in the Sunday School. Let's not play hooky but make it a "must" on our program to be at not only Sunday School but preaching services as often as possible. Let's make the "King's business," our business.

English Walnut Misnamed

The English walnut tree grows in almost every state. The commercial orchards, however, cover some 260 square miles of land, largely in California and reaching into Oregon. Their average recent yield of 70,000 tons is the largest domestic harvest of tree nuts and the largest English walnut production of any country. France, China, Italy and the Balkan countries are big walnut producers. The term English walnut, applied because the nut was carried in early commerce by English ships, distinguishes it from the American black walnut. It more appropriately could be called the Persian walnut for the land from which Roman wanderers spread it in early times.

Maskell Jackson of Bullitt county has spread 18 tons of rock phosphate on pastures.

PROTESTS RUINOUS PRUNING OF TREES

Homemakers should protest against pruning of shade trees where nothing is left but the trunk and a few large stubs of branches, says Prof. N. R. Elliott, expert in horticulture at the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

"Trees trimmed in that manner never outgrow the injury, and usually die in a few years," he said.

Dead branches of trees, and live ones which it is necessary to remove, should be taken out in February, Mr. Elliott said, as he advocated the use of a sharp saw for pruning. An axe should never be used for this purpose, he stated, and all wounds that are one inch or more in diameter should be painted with house paint or shellac.

RECORDS NECESSARY FOR BEST FARMING

Farming has become a complicated business that requires carefully kept records, says Ed Daniel of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Not only do income tax returns require records, but a farmer needs figures on his business if he is to know where he is making money and where he is losing money, Mr. Daniel declared.

Pointing out that farm expenses are rising, and may reach new levels this year, Daniel said it probably is more important than ever that farmers start between now and March 1 to keep records. He advised them to get copies of the Kentucky Farm Account Book, published by the College of Agriculture and available at county agent's offices. This book provides for property inventories and complete records for the year. Daniel said the book is easy to keep and requires little time.

Cal B. Moody of Henry county found that Ky. 56 tobacco was superior in quality and yield to Ky. 41A, Ky. 16 and Ky. 22, produced last year.

MAKES $65 A DAY PRIMING TOBACCO

An income of $130 for two days work in priming tobacco was realized by Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Raney of Oldham county. During that time, they gathered 230 pounds of leaf which sold for 58¢ a pound, Mr. Raney told Farm Agent C. L. Brown, they found it failed to provide the that he not only saved tobacco which otherwise might have been lost, but the remainder of the crop was permitted to stand until thoroughly ripe, thereby increasing its value.

Although Ky. 24 tobacco is popular with Mason county farmers, they found it failed to provide the income per acre of Ky. 16.

Verona Com.
Club Given
8-Acre Tract

Ben Doan, administrator of the J. D. Powers estate, presented the Verona Community Club an 8-acre tract of land located in Verona, just across from the Verona school grounds. This presentation was made through Attorney E. H. Walton, legal adviser for the estate. It was reported that other local attorneys, including J. L. Vest and Ward Yager, favored the disposition of this tract of land which was originally willed to the town of Verona. As the town of Verona was not incorporated, it was not in position to accept. The willer provided, in substance, for Mr. Doan to dispose of the land as he thought best, in carrying out the intended purpose of the will. Remembering Mr. J. D. Powers was a fine land conservation leader in this community as proven by the fine appearance of his farms at all times, it is believed that he would have been highly pleased to know the Verona Community Club was to follow and carry out even more than would appear as the original intent of his will.

The club plans include the construction of a water reservoir, club house, baseball park and the planting of trees and shrubs. In keeping with good conservation practices. A sizable sum has already been donated by the ninety club members, to start developing the grounds. Real community interest has been shown consistently since the forming of this club a few months back and the membership list is growing of its own accord, without the membership drive being conducted. The club is indeed grateful to all those persons helping to make this land available.

Sponsor Junior Rifle Club

At a recent meeting the Verona Community Club voted to sponsor a Junior Rifle Club, formed with members of the Walton-Verona school. Bob Hamilton, Verona, has been appointed instructor for this group. At present there are about forty students enrolled in the Junior Club. A full account of their program will be announced later, along with a full roster of officers.

"Language of Color" Topic
Discussions

"The Language of Color" was the first subject to be given in a series of lectures and demonstrations on home furnishings by Miss Vivian Cumrutt, Extension Specialist in Home Furnishings of the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, Lexington, for home demonstration club members of Kenton County, at the Federal Building, Covington, on Tuesday.

Miss Cumrutt emphasized the fact that everybody is affected by color, that cheerful, fresh colors have a measurable effect on our mental, nervous and emotional life, that the right use of color is one of the most satisfying means of attaining beauty, whether it be in the planning of a costume, table decorations or the furnishing of a home.

The Application of Color is the theme of the March meeting. The series will close with a workshop on the making of curtains and draperies.

Nineteen communities of Kenton County were represented at the meeting by the following leaders: Miss Ruth Schmidt; Mrs. Robert Hawkins; Mrs. Frank Hermes; Mrs. N. L. Leach; Mrs. Frank Hoke; Mrs. J. A. Kenney; Mrs. John Shaw; Mrs. T. S. Garriott; Mrs. R. S. Emmett; Mrs. Edw. Gornall; Mrs. Ira Porter; Mrs. Lee Riggs; Mrs. Homer Wallace; Mrs. George Morris; Mrs. G. H. Houston; Mrs. J. C. Xmas Seal Sale Quite Successful

$2,334.87 has been raised in the last Boone County Christmas Seal Sale. This could not have been done had it not been for the large amount of work done by workers from all parts of the county.

Mrs. Sibbie Reimer, president; Mrs. Kathryn Cropper, treasurer; and Miss Elizabeth Lowry, county nurse, wish to take this opportunity to express appreciation to all those who helped.

The envelopes were late getting here, and the work could not be finished in the Courthouse. At the suggestion of Mrs. George Morith, who took the largest group, envelopes were addressed by reliable people in all parts of the county, the material which had been assembled put into them, and mailed from the various post offices.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Babel Stansifer, nearly $300.00 was raised in Walton by sale of Bonds, over and above the Seal Sale. This money is all used for tuberculosis work in this county. No salaries are paid out of it. Those interested donate the time for the Seal Sale.

Homemakers'
Hobby Fairs
Mar. 29-Apr. 3

Homemakers! Don't forget the date of our Hobby Fairs—March 29 through April 3. Have you planned what you are going to exhibit? Let's have a good representation from each club. Our fairs were such a success last year, and this year we hope to have an even bigger success.

So far, we have outlined the following schedule for the different clubs: Hebron and Bullittsville will display at Hebron; Constance at Constance; Petersburg at Petersburg; Kentaboo, Gunpowder, Burlington Road and Florence will all exhibit together in the Town Hall, Florence; New Haven will display at Union; Walton at Walton; Verona at Verona, and Burlington at Burlington. Watch the papers for the exact location of these exhibits in the above-mentioned towns.

Do you have a hobby which you would like to exhibit? Bring it to the nearest exhibit center. Everyone is welcome to enter their hobby in these fairs—men, women and children. There will be separate judging of children's entries. Do come and enter your hobby—we shall be very glad to have you. You don't have to be a homemaker to enter these fairs—the homemakers are merely sponsoring them.—Pub. Chr.

Wallie Morgan
Passes Away
At Nicholson

Yoganville and Nicholson were shocked and grieved by the quiet passing of Miss Wallie M. Morgan, 73, a correspondent for the Advertiser for many years. Her burial took place in the family cemetery on the beautiful sloping hills on the old home place, February 21st, following last rites, which were impressively conducted by Rev. R. F. DeMolsey, Walton.

She leaves the following relatives: A sister, Mrs. Jessie M. Barry, Miami, Fla.; a brother, Otis Morgan, Nicholson; nieces, Miss Ann Morgan, Mrs. Sarah Butler, Miss Jacqueline Morgan, Miss Besie Morgan, Mrs. Genevieve Patton, and Mrs. Mildred Armstrong; nephews, Charles Morgan, Jack Morgan, and Wally Morgan. She was the sister of Grover C. Morgan, a realtor of Orlando, Fla., who passed away some years ago.

A woman with unusual mental power, her attainments were superior, leaving their indelible impression upon all who came under her influence. Her strength of character and will power were vividly incident to human life to a remarkable degree, and of her it may be truly written, she had a heart for every fate.

She died in the full triumph of Christian faith and left a record of usefulness and piety to be cherished in the memory of her survivors. She was a student of the Bible and an inspiration to all who came in contact with her lovable character. Fearlessly her feet entered the waters of the Jordan and with faith and sublimity she looked to the Rock of Ages to which she clung.

Her lips uttered farewell to the loved ones left behind, and dictated her earthly wishes with a mind cleared of every mist. In bidding her adieu in this life, all who knew her can truly say,

"She hath done what she could. Softly and away her breath, Gentle Death!

Let her leave thee with no strife Tender, mournful, murmuring life. She hath seen her happy day. She hath earned her heavenly reward."

HOPEWELL CIRCLE

The Gladys Hopewell Circle of Walton Baptist Church will meet Monday evening at the church to have a program in observance of Week of Prayer for Home Missions. Mrs. Ed Hankinson will be in charge of the program. The meeting will start at 7:30.

Y. M. A. MEETING

The Y. M. A. of the Walton Baptist Church will meet Friday, Feb. 26th at 7:30 in the church.

District Tournament
Opens Here March 3

YOUR LAST CHANCE—

Your last chance to pay your Town of Walton taxes, before the penalty is added, will be on Saturday, March 6, 1948. Mrs. John E. Stephenson, tax collector, will be in the Town Hall, for the first five days in March, from 10:00 a. m. until 4:00 p. m., at which time you may pay your taxes. Do not neglect this notice, or you will have to pay the penalty.

Attends Reg.
Meeting

Mrs. Elizabeth Goodridge Nestor, Executive Secretary for the Boone County Red Cross, has returned from a Regional Conference for the states of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, held in Louisville, Feb. 20th, where she had the great privilege of not only hearing him speak, but personally meeting Hon. Basil O'Connor, President of the National Red Cross.

The morning session was given over to the addresses of lesser lights, while Mr. O'Connor's speech followed the luncheon. One of the morning addresses was especially interesting to Mrs. Nestor, as it dealt with Disaster Relief in Ky. Jesse Lay of Barbourville, Ky., selected as his topic, "When Disaster Strikes." His city of Barbourville, lies in a pocket in the Kentucky mountains and has been the victim of several "flash floods," for which there is no remedy and from which there is no defense. When it rains hard in the mountains the towns in the valley suffer. The Red Cross furnished $5,500 worth of relief in 1947, and again helping them for the same cause when he left home this year.

We should be deeply thankful that our own Boone County is so seldom visited by disaster.

The keynote of Mr. O'Connor's speech was "though the purchasing power of our dollar has decreased, the needs of humanity have not."

Next week we will have some information about the new "Blood Bank Program," for you.

Attention! School children of Boone County, are you thinking about and planning for your Red Cross essay? You had better be, if you hope to win the $500 prize. The essays must be in Mrs. Nestor's hands by March 22nd, so don't put it off too long. Time does not creep, it gallops.—Pub. Chr.

Founders Day Observed by Local PTA

Founders Day was observed at a recent meeting of the Walton P. T. A., with a program presented by members of the Teen-Timers Club. Those taking part were Alva Marie Flynn, Carol DeMolsey, Virginia Lou Schwab, Glenna Allphin, Zella Simpson and Patty Johnson. Doris Hoffman was at the piano. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Ellis Jack.

Mrs. Clayton Jones conducted the business session. Committees were appointed to arrange for the serving of lunch to those who attend the Boone County basketball tournament, which will be held in the Walton-Verona school next week. General chairmen are Mrs. Dinn, Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Worthington.

Mrs. Rector and Mrs. Jones gave interesting reports on the mid-winter conference of Parent, Teacher Association, which was held recently in Covington.

A silver tea was held at the close of the meeting, with Mrs. L. Wilson, Mrs. C. Worthington, Mrs. K. Morris and Mrs. O. Griffith in charge.—Pub. Chr.

Bearcats Win
Two, Lose 1

If basketball hasn't been the main topic of conversation around these parts, for the past several months, it will be next week when the District tournament will be held in the Walton-Verona High school gym. As has been the custom, both the first and second teams of the Burlington, Florence, Hebron, New Haven and Walton schools will participate. Two games will be played each day, beginning Wednesday and ending Saturday, with the first contest, between "B" teams, getting under way at 7:30.

Admission prices are as follows: 60 cents for the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday sessions and 80c for the finals, Saturday night.

The referees are to be Willard Bass and Leroy Wetschger, both of Cincinnati.

The Dixie State Bank, Walton, is presenting the winners trophy, the Florence Deposit Bank, the runner-up trophy; J. A. Meador and M. M. Meadows, Walton, the team sportsmanship award; the Burlington Deposit Bank gave the winner trophy for the "B" team, and the Union Deposit Bank, the runner-up. An all-tournament team, picked from the five participating schools, will be chosen and these boys will receive miniature silver basketballs.

The tourney looks like a wide-open affair to us, with the team getting the breaks, receiving the "winners" trophy. Of course Hebron, winner in the Conference race, has the edge, and the New Haven school has slumped because of the illness of Knox, but it appears to us anything can happen—and may. Burlington, lower placed, Walton are all capable of playing good ball, and if any of them get "hot," look out!

So, take it easy, get all rested-up and really be in shape for the activities when they start, come next Wednesday night. Yea, team!

Bearcats Win Two; Lose One

The Walton Bearcats have been busy lately. In a one-trimed paper nanger with the hives, having played three games the past week—winning two and losing one—and at times looking like a "million," and at others, like a bunch of "punks."

Last Wednesday, the Cats played one of their best games, to defeat Dry Ridge 50-41. The locals led throughout, being in front 19-10 at the first quarter, 26-19 at the half and 34-27 at the end of the third quarter. Dike Vest, with 18 points was top man for the winners, with Simpson second, with 14. Hitch had 14 for Dry Ridge and Hedges had 15. Led by Coyle's 13 points, the W. V. second team won the preliminary, 24-17.

Another Grant County team fell before the Cats, Friday night, as they were not extended to defeat Crittenden 64-47. Again Walton led all the way, being in front 16-11 at the first quarter; 32-17 at the half, and 56-36 at the third period. Duke Simpson had a field day for the winners, and tossed in 24 points, with Vest close behind, with 23. Johnny Maddox contributed 11 in behalf of the winners. Gordon, with 15 shells, was high man for Crittenden.

The Crittenden second team was the opener 37-30.

Tuesday night in a Boone County Conference tilt, the Bearcats were defeated by the Hebron Cardinals 44-38, before a packed house. The locals looked none too good and were in the second slot throughout the game. Hebron led 13-0 at the first quarter; 26-16 at the half, and 33-26 at the third quarter. Tops for the winners was McGlasson, who scored 15 points; Carver had 12 and Johnston 10, and it was this Ed Johnston who was in Walton's half all evening—breaking up passes and rebounding. Simpson was high scorer for the losers with 11 points. Maddox had 9 and Vest 8, and had it not been for the rebounding of this Maddox boy, the Bearcats would have found the going much tougher.

Hebron's reserves won the opener 31-19.

SCRIPTURE: Acts 14:9, 10; Romans 10:13-15; Ephesians 3:8-12
DEVOTIONAL READING: Romans 10:13-15

World Mission of Church
Lesson for February 29, 1948

JOHN WESLEY said, "The world is my parish." Many another Christian has entertained this great concept, and that is precisely what Jesus wants us to understand concerning the sweep and scope of his Kingdom.

Sunday's lesson brings us to consider three great passages — A c 15:16-18; 10; Romans 10:13-15; Ephesians 3:8-12. Read these carefully, and you will feel the winds of God lifting up the flaps of the tent of your small habitation until you will catch glimpses of the far horizon.

CHURCH AROUND THE WORLD
"GO YE into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation," said Jesus, Mark 16:15. There is no backward definition of the mission of the church in these great words of Jesus. Just as Paul was summoned to cross over into Europe with the Gospel, so are we commanded to make Christ known to all lands. He loves everybody.

"Jesus loves the little children,
All the children of the world;
Yellow, brown, or black, or white,
They are precious in his sight,
Jesus loves the little children of the world."

REACHING THE WORLD
JUST as Paul went from one land to another, so may every Christian boy and girl do. Each church can reach out hands of blessing to all the world.

How? Through our gifts. Our gifts for missions, joined with the gifts of all the other members of our local church, joined with the gifts of many other churches, go out in multiplied blessing through the missionaries to make Christ known around the world.

How? Through our prayers. As we pray for the redemption of the world, we fortify the missionaries — teachers, doctors, preachers — in all the parts of the world.

How? Through our sympathetic understanding of the conditions under which people live in other lands. Just now we are giving clothes and food to help the stricken peoples of the war-ravaged lands. These gifts of material things bear their message of our Christian concern for all who suffer. Thus we are extending the reach of our individual lives and the reach of our churches to the ends of the earth.

PUBLISHING SALVATION
"HOW beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth glad tidings, that publisheth peace . . . that publisheth salvation," Isaiah 52:7.

The world mission of the church is here pictured in the exquisite language of the ancient prophet, with which words we may link the declaration of the great apostle, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved," Romans 10:13.

Publishing salvation is the chief task of the church of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the objects of this universal message are the souls of all men. There is universal need, and here is the adequate and available answer.

See how this conception of the world mission of the church brings into focus the one hope for civilization. The only voice that carries across the barriers of this troubled world through Jesus Christ. Let that word be sounded in any spot on this earth, and some waiting heart will be lifted up.

THE UNSEARCHABLE RICHES
AND what are we to say about the message we have to publish? Paul puts it well in Ephesians 3:8-12, when he declares: "Unto me, who am less than the least of all the saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ. . . ."

In another place we read about the "unspeakable gift of God," II Corinthians 9:15. The message, then, is one of unsearchable riches an unspeakable gift.

In this message is healing for the peoples of the earth. If the true mission of the church is understood and voiced in all of the ways by which the Gospel may today be given to the world, we shall see the fulfillment of the dreams of the prophets, and the angels about the throne of God will shout for joy.

As Paul changed his course in the long ago, heeding the Macedonian call, so may we today find ourselves turning about in our response to the Holy Spirit's leading; but let us not be afraid so long as we are sincerely seeking to publish glad tidings to all men.

Praises Ky. 31 Fescue

F. E. Reading of Guthrie, Ky., writes to C. C. Worthington, fescue seed dealer of Sherman, Ky. He says in his observation of Ky. 31 fescue: "I have noticed it makes a very rank growth on land that is too wet to grow corn or where water stands for days, and on land too poor to grow a crop of anything else."

It grows upright so a cow can get a mouthful; fescue has a very dense root system. It has more protein than any other grass.

On rich land it will produce from 550 to 600 pounds of seed per acre. Fescue can be cut with a binder or can be combined. Ky. 31 fescue has proven to be the best pasture grass we have ever seen for cattle or sheep, because it comes on early in the spring, and will grow and stay green in the hot, dry weather of August and the fall months.

Do not be afraid to recommend this wonder grass to your friends of Northern Kentucky.

The Newport Rotary Club voted to award $50 to the Campbell county 4-H club boy and girl making the most outstanding achievements in 1948.

ATTENDS MEETING OF FARM MACHINERY DEALERS

T. T. Elliott of Bracht has recently returned from Indianapolis, Ind., where he attended a formal opening of the new building and facilities of the J. I. Case Company branch house held February 19th, which was a get-together for all the Case farm machinery dealers in the Indiana-Michigan-Kentucky territory.

Mr. Elliott expects the new branch to be a big help to his firm in its farm-machinery service to this community. He mentions the provision of special loading accommodations for trucks as well as rail cars, and the most modern streamlined handling of repair shipments to speed up deliveries in rush seasons.

But the thing that Mr. Elliott found most impressive was not new, but old. It was a display of parts, together with the owner's work record, of a veteran tractor, the Model "CC," compared with the current Model "DC." Many improvements were apparent, of course. Yet the thing that amazed Mr. Elliott was that gears, bearings etc., from the 18-year-old tractor were worn so little that it was hard to tell them from new parts. It shows, he says, that a good tractor, with dirt and moisture kept out, and consistently lubricated, requires only reasonable upkeep to give many years of profitable service at hard work.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express to all my dear friends my most sincere thanks for all their kind expressions of love and sympathy extended during the illness and passing of my beloved mother.

BIRTHDAYS CELEBRATED AND WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Edna DeVoss entertained friends and relatives Saturday evening February 21st at her home on West Fourth Street, Covington, the occasion being to celebrate the birthday anniversaries of her brother, M. Y. Rich, and her daughter, Miss Evelyn DeVoss. Many useful and beautiful gifts were received.

While the guests were gathered around the well-laden table, with the candles lit, on a beautifully decorated birthday cake, made by Mrs. Grace Rich, a little talk of appreciation was made by J. Paul Rich, at which time he also announced the engagement of Miss Evelyn DeVoss of Covington, to Mr. Everett Williams of Newport. While no definite date has been set for the wedding, it will most probably be an event of the near future.

After prayer by M. Y. Rich, a delicious lunch was served the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Rich and Bonnie Sue, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rich and Ervan, Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Rich, all of Erlanger; Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Rich of Mount Allen; George Wren and Everett Williams, both of Newport; Miss Evelyn DeVoss, and the hostess, Mrs. Edna DeVoss of Covington.

HOMEMAKERS NO. 11 OF WALTON, MEET

Walton Homemakers, No. 2, met with Mrs. Rosella F. Sleet, with Mrs. Della Sleet as co-hostess, as it was her date to entertain.

Miss Mary Hood Gillespie gave the lesson on purse making. The club is planning a home bake sale in the near future.

Those present were Mrs. Mary Riddell, Mrs. Robert Turner, Mrs. John S. Sleet, Mrs. Vernon Porter, Misses Addie and Maggie Sleet, Mrs. Robert E. Sleet, Mattie Howlett, Mrs. Rosella F. Sleet, and Mrs. Agnes Sleet.—Reporter.

PULLET FLOCKS PAY BETTER THAN HENS

Tests at the Western Kentucky Experiment Substation, Princeton, emphasize the importance of keeping only pullets for layers and selling all old hens. Average results over a period of 11 years show that annual production of Barred Rock pullets was four dozen eggs per bird greater than that of Barred Rock hens. In the case of White Leghorns, the pullets laid three dozen eggs per bird more than the old hens. During the winter months, when egg prices are normally higher, pullets laid more than twice as many eggs as the older birds. Also, death losses were less among the pullets. These results indicate that, at present prices of feed and eggs, it is unprofitable to keep the older hens.

A 2-year comparison was made to determine the relative value of hens and pullets as breeders. It was found that pullet eggs had a slightly higher percentage of fertility and hatchability than the eggs from the older hens. Also, the percentage of strong chicks hatched was slightly greater from the pullet eggs. Pullets hatched from pullet eggs laid as well as those hatched from eggs produced by two- and three-year-old hens.

JET-PROPELLED CHICKS

You'll think you have 'em when you see Dr. Seligson's REN-O-SAL as a Growth-Stimulant. These chicks really get up and grow with REN-O-SAL in their diet. It's an easy-to-use drinking-water medicine—just drop 2 tablets in each gallon of water. Use it right from the start of the chicks' lives.

REN-O-SAL at a higher dosage is also effective for preventing the spread of coccidiosis in the flock. Keep it handy for this purpose.

ROADS FOR FARMERS STILL IN THE MUD

Better roads for farmers "still in the mud" is one of the main planks of the 1948 platform of the Crittenden county planning committee. Efforts also will be made to extend rural electrification and telephone lines. The county needs a veterinarian.

County Agent O. M. Shelby's work will include river bottom fertilizer tests, promotion of the corn derby as a means of demonstrating better yields, the ton-litter method of teaching hograising, and expansion of 4-H club work.

GETS BIG YIELD

On land that has been in tobacco for 17 years, Murphy Bros. of Russell county produced 4,780 lbs. of leaf on 1.8 acres in 1947. Farm Agent Joe Wilder notes that Mr. Wilder turned under a good crop of vetch and used 1,000 pounds of complete fertilizer plus 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

In Bracken county, 41,915 feet of diversion ditches, 43,863 feet of terraces were completed during the past year.

Tobacco Plant Bed Management

Growers who used cyanamid on tobacco plant beds last fall would be very careful about working the ground before sowing the seed, according to William E. Davis, County Agent in Boone County.

Only a light raking of the soil is necessary for sowing seed in such treated beds. Heavy cultivation or working of the ground will bring to the surface live weed seed that will, of course, destroy the effectiveness of the cyanamid. Cyanamid beds should not receive fertilizer high in nitrogen, as the cyanamid itself contains 21% nitrogen.

Heavy applications of fertilizer should be avoided on all beds regardless of the treatment used to kill weeds. Salts from heavy fertilizer applications may injure the plants, particularly in dry weather. Forty pounds of fertilizer per 100 feet of bed is sufficient. On heavily burned beds a 4-12-0 fertilizer is very satisfactory.

Many growers sow too much seed in tobacco beds. Thick growing plants are more susceptible to blue mold, as the ground under the plants receives no circulation of air to remove excess moisture. Two or three level teaspoons of seed are sufficient for 100 feet of bed, either 9 or 12 feet wide.

Beds should be boxed tight and the canvas drawn tight. This will help keep out flea beetles and cutworms. The canvas will also last longer if this practice is followed. Wildlife and angular leaf spot must be controlled in the plant bed if healthy plants are to be set in the field. A 3-4-50 Bordeaux mixture (3 pounds bluestone and 4 lbs. lime in 50 gallons of water) should be applied to the bed when the first true leaf appears and again ten days later. Fifty gallons will treat 200 feet of a 9 foot bed or 150 feet of a 12 foot bed. The mixture may be applied through the canals by sprinkling with a sprinkling can.

Blue mold may be controlled by treating with fermate, either dust or spray, twice a week from the time blue mold first appears in the community until setting time. Use 3 level tablespoons of fermate in 1 gallon of water and apply 4-6 gallons of spray per 100 square yards of bed. Two or three pounds of 15% fermate dust per 100 square yards of bed may also be used. Beds severely affected should be nitrated to hasten recovery.

More information on tobacco plant bed management may be obtained from the County Agent.

Congratulates County On Seal Sale

Louisville, Ky., February 18, 1948
Mrs. Sibbia Belmer, Burlington, Kentucky
Dear Mrs. Belmer:

Well, it certainly is very apparent that Boone County has done it again. You and your Committee, with their untiring efforts, continue to astound and baffle all the laws of average in regard to the Christmas Seal Sale. We, here at the State office, certainly do take off our hats to you and want to compliment you on the splendid sale just reported. Especially do we want to remember Miss Elizabeth Lowry, who must have been untiring in her efforts, judging from the way she bombarded us with requests for additional material. But, believe me, there is no request more welcome.

I am looking forward to the opportunity of meeting with your group as soon as it is possible to plan further and continue the program aimed at the complete control of tuberculosis in Boone County.

Again, may I offer my congratulations and thanks to you and your entire group.

Sincerely yours,
Noble J. Swearingen,
Director, Health Education
Ky. Tuberculosis Assn.

Christian Church Is To Meet In School

Beginning this coming Sunday, the congregation of the Walton Christian Church will meet in the auditorium of the Walton-Vernon school. The hours of services remain the same. Sunday School at 10:00 a. m. and the preaching and worship service at 11:00 a. m. In the evening the service will be as usual at 7:30 in the Methodist Church, where the members of our two congregations are enjoying a series of union meetings. The school house will give excellent advantages for the Sunday school and morning worship until the congregation is able to go into their own church building, which will be erected during the year. In the meantime, the congregation is showing magnificent loyalty to the cause, a loyalty that grows stronger from week to week. Appreciation for the privilege of this new meeting place that will more adequately take care of the needs of the congregation will be expressed by an enthusiasm that is even more intensified. We are indebted to the school board for this privilege, and we are grateful that we had the opportunity of renting the theater during the past three months.

Both the finance and building committees of the church have been working with a unified and courageous faith, and will be able in the near future to give definite reports of their stewardship. And the reports that you are to hear will be the most encouraging. — Fred S. Nichols.

National 4-H Club Week March 1-7

Observance of National 4-H Club Week is being held March 1-7, and special recognition will be given on the radio, in newspapers and in schools and churches.

"Creating Better Homes Today for a More Responsible Citizenship Tomorrow" was selected for the theme. This week gives every 4-H member another opportunity to rededicate himself to the ideals embodied in the 1948 club theme, the 4-H Club pledge, the ten 4-H guidelines, and the 4-H citizenship pledge; to reaffirm his intention of carrying out the 1948 goals already set, and to enlist new members in helping to live in a peaceful world through serving to the fullest in the home, on the farm and in the community.

4-H Clubs in Boone County were organized for 1948 during the past month. New members may still join until the last of March. Anyone interested in joining, is asked to contact the county extension office or 4-H officers in their local school. Following is a paragraph written by Joy Elmer Morgan on "Begin Your Citizenship in the Home."

"The foundations of your whole life—physical, emotional, and mental—are laid in the home. The well-ordered home based on love, mutual helpfulness, and intelligent cooperation is the highest achievement of mankind. It is the cradle of civilization. By living and working together in the home we acquire the virtues, habits, and skills needed for the highest success in life. By doing your part in the tasks about the home; by helping to keep it clean, orderly, and beautiful; by seeking to make it a peaceful, friendly and happy place; by learning to think, plan, and to work with others in ways that will help you to perform well your part in any community. Exalt, enrich, and beautify your home. It is the foundation of your life and happiness—the first school of citizenship and democracy."

The Personal Witness

Lesson for March 7, 1948

DR. ALBERT SCHWEITZER, described by Hermann Hagedorn as "Prophet in the Wilderness," is a living example of what Sunday's lesson is undertaking to portray, namely, living for Jesus where you are. Schweitzer, at 72, is described by Hagedorn as one who "burns like Francis of Assisi, and looks like Josef Stalin." But to the people of Equatorial Africa, he looks and acts like our Saviour Jesus did.

The lesson passage is found in Acts 8:26-30, and is the story of Philip, leaving his very successful evangelistic campaign in Samaria to follow the lead of the Holy Spirit into the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, which is desert. There he found a man in search of God, and through his witness the man was saved.

THE STORY OF JESUS
This man was not of Philip's race. He was an Ethiopian. But he was a man. And God loves every man of every race and of every condition of life. Jesus never did meet an unimportant person, nor will any true follower of his. Jesus said, "As the Father has sent Me, even so send I you," John 20:21.

This man was reading in the Book of Isaiah, where the prophet was foretelling how Jesus would suffer for the sins of the whole world. He could not understand the wonderful words. And the Spirit directed Philip to go and join himself to the eunuch. Philip ran to the chariot in which the rich man rode, asking, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" He was quick to give his witness. That is the first lesson of the lesson.

AND THE MAN LISTENED
WHEN we faithfully obey the Holy Spirit, he enables us to effectively witness for Jesus. We cannot be effective witnesses if we rely upon our own wisdom and our own judgment. The boy in your street who does not know Jesus will listen to your story if you go in the same glad obedience to the command of the Spirit of God as did Philip.

A lad told me this story. He had a neighbor who had never been to Sunday school, and he wanted to enlist this friend. He thought about it seriously. But he was not quite sure of himself. And then he prayed, asking God to direct him. The next day the boy asked him, "What are you doing Sunday morning?" With this opening the lad invited his neighbor to come along with him, and the result was that the little neighbor, of another race, accepted Christ as his Saviour and is today a regular attendant at church and Sunday school.

Try Our "WANT ADS" for Results!

TO WHOM SHALL WE WITNESS?
THE question now emerges. To whom shall we bear this witness? We cannot all go as missionaries, as did Dr. Schweitzer. Most of us must remain at home and carry on the work of our everyday pursuits of life.

But every Christian can witness. First, to those immediately about us. In every community in our beloved country are people who do not know Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord. We can witness to them, not to all of them, but to some of them, perhaps to one of them. And I would remind you that if you miss that particular person to whom you may be directed by the Holy Spirit, he or she may never know about the Saviour's love.

Second, we can share in the sending of the missionaries to earth's remotest bounds, through our gifts. I delight to think that I am in partnership with many great men and women on foreign fields, through my gifts and through my prayers.

Third, we can witness through personal correspondence with people in other lands. The present far-reaching media of relief for stricken peoples of the world affords a wonderful opportunity for this very witness. Ask your pastor for the name of some person your age in one of the lands to which your church is sending relief, and write that person a letter, telling of your joy in serving God.

The eunuch went on his way rejoicing. Why? Because Philip had taught him the way of salvation. He had been used as an effective witness in leading a man of another race to experience the peace that passeth all understanding. And Jesus is saying to us today, "So send I you."

Mass Meeting Monday at Burlington About Telephone Service

All Subscribers Urged to Be at Court House at 8 p. m. To Express Themselves

Telephone service in Boone County, according to the many complaints, is like the weather—every subscriber talks about it, but no one does anything about it—but Monday night of this week a meeting of a few subscribers was held at the Court House in Burlington, to see just what could be done toward having telephone service improved. E. G. Stephenson, manager, and several employees of the company were present.

After much discussion, a committee of five was appointed to take further steps toward improvement of telephone service in the county. This committee is composed of the following: Frank Milburn, chairman; Judge C. L. Cropper, J. C. Acree, Wilfred Scott, and A. B. Renaker.

Another meeting has been called for next Monday night, March 15th at 8 o'clock, at the Court House in Burlington. The manager, E. G. Stephenson, has agreed to be present at this meeting with some plan for immediate improvement of service, pending the general long-range plan of the company.

The chairman of the committee requests every telephone subscriber in Boone County attend this meeting next Monday night and voice their complaint as to service—if you have any complaint. It is only in this way that the company can be impressed with the need of immediate improvement in service. Be not fail to attend this meeting Monday night or forever hold your peace about telephone service in Boone County.

This committee can accomplish little without the loyal support of all subscribers.

New Haven PTA to Build Pri'cipal Home

At the regular March meeting of the New Haven P. T. A., the critical housing situation and its effect upon the community's educational program was vigorously discussed. The group wholeheartedly agreed that every effort should be made to make New Haven's school more attractive to the most capable leaders in the teaching field.

As a start in the right direction, the P. T. A. unanimously voted to build a principal's home this summer at New Haven. The group decided that the building should cost approximately $5,000 when completed, and that the sum would be raised by solicitation of donations from the voters and property holders of New Haven school district only, and from friends of the school who benefit directly from the progress of the school.

It was further decided that those unable to contribute the minimum $10.00 per family financial donation, could contribute 3 days of greatly appreciated labor, thus assuring complete community participation in this educational improvement.

Monday, March 15th at 8:00 p. m. was set as the time for the next P. T. A. meeting, when the fund-raising committees will be organized and the 45-day drive put into action. All members and friends who will help, are urged to attend.

Watch this paper for names of contributors, and watch New Haven cars and business places, which will bear pennants in the school colors, reading: "We are contributors to New Haven's P. T. A. Building Fund."

Rural Hi'way Program To Start Soon

All county fiscal court will be called on within the next three weeks for recommendations for expenditure of their rural highway allotments for the coming fiscal year, G. H. Halley, Rural Highway Director, Kentucky Department of Highways, said this week.

"We have instructed all district engineers to begin contacting the fiscal courts at once so that we may start formulating the rural highway program for the fiscal year beginning April 1," Mr. Halley said. The annual $5,000,000 appropriation for rural highways will become available on that date. It is apportioned among the counties one-third equally, one-third on a county area basis and one-third by county rural population.

The fiscal courts will recommend roads to be maintained or improved under the rural highway program. "No work financed under this program can be done legally within the limits of an incorporated village, town or city," Mr. Halley reported.

In most instances the work is done by state forces with state-owned equipment. "However," Mr. Halley said, "where counties have registered professional engineers, the rural highway fund may be used for the purchase of materials, the county to perform the work with its own forces and at its expense, if it so desires."

The Rural Highway Director said resolutions from the fiscal courts should be in the department's hands if possible by March 20 so that contracts may be prepared during the final week of the month. The recommendations will cover only the annual appropriation. Suggestions for expenditure of the secondary highway money accruing from the increased gasoline tax will be received later when a formula for the counties has been worked out.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stephenson of Carrollton spent last week with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stephenson, and son, Joe.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pennington and children of Dayton, Ohio were the Sunday breakfast guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pennington.

Funeral services for Mrs. Georgia Arnold, 73, who died last Sunday at her home here in Walton, were held Wednesday, March 10th at 2:00 p. m. in the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home, Walton. Burial was in Highland Cemetery.

A native of Carrollton, Mrs. Arnold had lived in Walton for the past 30 years. She was a member of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Misses' Society of the Walton Christian Church, and the Walton Homemakers' Club. Her husband, the late Morgan Arnold, was killed by an automobile on the Dixie Highway in 1935. He managed the Walton Tobacco Warehouse for several years and was owner of the Boone Lake farm.

Mann. Mrs. Mann introduced Miss Patty Johnson, who presented a piano selection, entitled "Serenade of the Bells." 1,200 See Finals Saturday; Hebron vs. Burlington In Regional Meet Tonight

Boone County basketball fans are most likely still recuperating from last week's 34th District tournament, held in the Walton-Verona high school gym. It was a battle all the way too—getting in, getting a seat, and the competitive play of the teams. We imagine the largest number in history, was on hand to cheer their favorites to victory.

The finals Saturday night were witnessed by approximately 1,200 fans, who saw the Hebron Cardinals cop the grand prize by defeating Burlington's Eagles 50-37.

The tourney opened last Wednesday evening, with the Hebron Cardinals tangling with the New Haven Tigers. The Cards led throughout to win 41-37. Carver scored 11 of Hebron's points and Howard had a like number for New Haven. In the preliminary game, the Hebron reserves downed Burlington's second-stringers in a slow contest 18-15.

The Walton-Verona Bearcats lost to Burlington, 35-32, in Thursday's main attraction. The game was close throughout. Todtenbier was high man of the game with 17 tallies. Vest accounted for 13 of Walton's points. The opening game of the evening, saw the Florence second team trim New Haven's reserves 31-16.

Florence and Hebron squared off in the main go, Friday night, and after a slow start Hebron started to roll in the final half to win 55-36. Carver tossed in 19 points for the winners and Elliston added 11. Baker and Rouse divided 19 points of the first quarter; 15-16 at the half, and Hebron was in front 24-22 at the close of the third period. Utz topped the Florence team with 8 points, while Leek and Berkshire divided 12 for Hebron.

In the finals of the reserve meet Saturday night, the Florence five downed Hebron 27-24 in a close game. Florence led 9-8 at the end of the first quarter; 15-16 at the half, and Hebron was in front 24-22 at the close of the third period. Utz topped the Florence team with 8 points, while Leek and Berkshire divided 12 for Hebron.

In the Hebron-Burlington championship game, the winners led all the way, being ahead 14-9 at the first quarter; 30-16 at the half, and 36-27 at the end of the third quarter. As stated previously, the final score was 50-37 in favor of the Cardinals. Toadvine led the Hebron attack with 15 points, followed by McGlasson, who tallied 11. The top man for the Eagles was Todtenbier who hung up 14 markers.

Following the final game, John Meador, chairman of the Board of Education, presented trophies to the winners and runners-up in each division, as well as a sportsmanship award to the Walton team. The officials, Willie Bessy and Leroy Witschger, selected an all-tournament team, composed of the following: Galen McGlasson, Billy Toadvine and Jimmy Elliston, of Hebron; Life Miller and Rensold Todtenbier, of Burlington; George Simpson, of New Haven; Jerry Rouse and Donald Lipscomb, of Florence; James Vest and Maynard Meadows, of Walton-Verona. These boys received miniature silver basketballs.

SHORT STORY

No Need For Words

By LILA LENNON

IT HAD been a silly quarrel, really, Peg reflected. The quarrel had started from such an insignificant thing as her new hair-do.

Now, here she was sitting alone, the alarm of the front door still ringing in her ears.

Bob had gone out alone, and on a Thursday night, too. That was what really hurt most, because Thursday nights were such special nights. The stores were all open, and after the dishes were done, Bob and Peg always went window shopping.

There never was a lot of money to spend. Sometimes they did buy one or two little things, and it was always such fun! Peg thought for a moment about how Bob used to tuck her hand under his arm and say, "Some day, honey, I'll give you all the things you want." And she had always said:

"But I have what I really want . . . you. And, what we share has no price, it can't be measured in terms of dollars and cents."

It was true, Peg reflected. You can't put a price on the magic of contentment and love and understanding.

Understanding! It was something of a shock to discover that Bob could be so critical . . . and so stubborn. And, he hadn't understood, at all.

Bob had been tired . . . but even so, all she had done was to say, "You haven't even noticed my new hair-do!"

HE SAID grumpily, "I don't know why you spent all afternoon getting that done, you look like you're getting ready to take a bath!"

Tears smarted Peg's eyes. Her words rushed out. "You'd look better with a hair-cut yourself!"

"I know it," Bob admitted, "but I hurried home so we could go shopping."

The seemed to be a broom handle stiffening in Peg's back. "I don't think I care to go shopping tonight," she answered slowly.

When the dishes were done, Bob turned to her. "Are you ready?"

Peg answered stubbornly, "I'm not going."

Bob had been equally as stubborn, though. "I won't beg you to come, Peg. I'll go alone." And he had gone, just like that.

Darkness crept over the room, but Peg didn't turn on a light. She dropped her head on her arms and remembered other Thursday nights. Bob, helping her to choose a slip, saying critically, "That looks too big for you, you're so little." Bob, being amused. "Those little pin things with the bows are sure cute!"

BUT, tonight, he was alone . . . he had wanted it that way . . . what was he thinking? Did he feel the same loneliness?

Silly? No, Peg reflected, maybe it wasn't silly, after all. Maybe it was really very important. Maybe the little things were, after all, important to real understanding. Maybe . . . it was up to her, too, to be as Bob wanted her to be.

Quickly, her hair came tumbling down. When Bob came home she would say the things that were in her heart; he'd understand.

The sound of the door opening quietly, reached her. "Peg?" Bob called.

"Here," she said softly.

He walked over to the lounge. "Why are you sitting in the dark? I was worried, I thought . . . went a light?"

"No," she answered quietly.

Bob cleared his throat. "Here . . . I brought you a little present." He thrust the small package into her hands. "Wait a minute, I'll turn on the light."

The light shone down on her head as Peg undid the folds of tissue. It made little colored beams dance up from the two tiny jeweled combs.

She turned to Bob, and all the things she wanted to say rushed to her lips, but Bob was staring at her hair tumbling to her shoulders. Then he took her in his arms and held her tight. There was no need for words.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barnett celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Saturday, Feb. 28th with a family dinner. We wish them many more years of the greatest happiness.

Mrs. L. J. Rapp entertained the Homemakers club on Tuesday, Feb. 24th. Some seventeen members and several children were present. Mrs. Florence Stein presented a reading on the "collect," which is used by most women's organizations. Mrs. J. A. Keeney gave the story of George Washington. The clothing clinic was discussed, after which the hostess served a very nice luncheon. The afternoon sewing lesson was presented by Mrs. L. J. Rapp. The clinic was held the first week in March at the home of Mrs. Denver Binder. The March meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Edith Ware.

Miss Wavelyn Riley was very agreeably surprised by a celebration in honor of her 16th birthday. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. Shaler Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Radford Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Winford Riley and daughter, Beverly, and her immediate family. Many happy returns, Wavelyn!

SCRIPTURE: Acts 20:17-36; Ephesians 4:1-6
DEVOTIONAL READING: Philippians 4:6-9

Christian Character

Lesson for March 14, 1946

WHO is the most valuable person in your community? In many communities it has come to be the custom to select the Man of the Year or the Woman of the Year, the idea usually being to name the person, through a process of sampling of public opinion, who has rendered the outstanding service of the year.

Sunday's lesson is a dramatic scene of the day of the long ago, picturing a community's tribute to a truly great man, the apostle Paul. Read Acts 20:17-36, and you will have the story.

LOVED AND HONORED
THE first impression I get from this story is the fact that these people of Ephesus loved Paul. They loved him enough to lay aside their work and hasten to the nearby seaport of Miletus to see him for the last time, and to bow down in his presence and honor him.

Why did they thus love Paul? Because he had told them about God. You need not read again the record of Paul's ministry in that important city of Ephesus to be reminded of how greatly he had served them in the name of Jesus.

Loved and honored! What a tribute to the worth of Christian character! Wouldn't you appreciate the tribute which they paid Paul as the goal out yonder to which you strive? Boys and girls of today may thus be honored tomorrow, if they will live for Jesus as Paul did.

THE POWER OF RIGHT LIVING
PAUL not only told the Ephesians how to live, but illustrated day by day in his own life what he preached to them. The most eloquent sermons are not spoken, but lived. "What you are speaks so loudly I can't hear what you say."

The boy and man who plays the game straight are putting into practice what the teacher and preacher proclaims on Sunday. The power of right living will win its way today, just as it did in the long ago when Paul witnessed for Jesus in Ephesus.

It was not easy to live for Christ in Ephesus, nor is it easy to live for him in Chicago or Los Angeles or Boston or Miami, but it is the one way to ultimately impress the world of the reality of Christianity.

PAUL'S CONSUMING PASSION
WE ARE what we are becoming, and never was this axiom of life more powerfully illustrated than in the case of Paul. "I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus," Philippians 3:14. And in Ephesians 5:6-21, Paul reviews the qualities of conduct which produce worthwhile character, admonishing all Christians to strive for these qualities.

"I live, yet not I, Christ liveth in me," is another of Paul's watchwords, and still again, "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me."

It was the consuming passion of his life to embody the teachings of Christ in his words and in his works. It is conceivable that the people at Ephesus had come to see Christ in the life of Paul, and that his daily ministry in their midst convinced them that God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself.

WHAT AM I WORTH?

THE question then emerges, What am I worth to my community? When I come to the end of the journey, will the people who know me best honor and love me for what I have done?

I can see the people of Ephesus bowing on the dock at Miletus, kissing this weary old servant of the Lord. It is a beautiful scene. This tribute meant more to Paul than all the gold of Ephesus would have meant. It was compensation of abiding worth to him. And what is vastly more important, it was glory to God which must have evoked the praise of the angels about the great White Throne.

On God's Word

John Wycliffe, in the introduction to his translation of the Bible into English in 1380, wrote as follows: "When the teachings of the Bible are generally accepted and acted on, then shall we have a government of, for and by the people." Four hundred years later the American republic was established—the first great democracy—and it was successful because the Constitution and the Bill of Rights were founded on God's Word.

Nicholson-Atwood Club

The Nicholson-Atwood Homemakers Club met at the new home of Mrs. S. W. Durr on Wednesday, March 3rd. Ten members answered the roll call by "One worthwhile thing I expect to accomplish today." The major lesson was given by Mrs. W. E. Durr and Mrs. P. D. Cooke. The lesson was "Making Seams," also belts, and the dyeing of rags for rugs. The exterior beautification lesson was given by Mrs. R. K. Hand on the treatment and pruning of evergreens and rose bushes.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. S. W. Durr and co-hostess, Mrs. Wm. Frazier.

A very interesting citizenship lesson was given by Mrs. S. C. Fisk. Two new members were enrolled: Mrs. J. R. Loomis and Mrs. H. W. Smith. Games and a social hour was enjoyed by all, after the meeting was adjourned. Those present were Mrs. F. D. Cooke, Mrs. L. G. Cummins, Mrs. R. K. Hand, Mrs. S. C. Fisk, Mrs. E. R. Elliott, Mrs. J. R.

PINER PTA MEETS

The Piner P. T. A. held its February meeting recently in the Piner school. The president called the meeting to order, and Mrs. Irene Cross, secretary, gave her minutes. At present the membership is increasing each month. After a short business session, the meeting was turned over to the program leaders, W. R. Brown and Edgar Baker, who staged a basketball game between the fathers and sons of the school.

The game was really exciting, and we must admit that the fathers played very good, but they couldn't beat the boys. The score was 22-23 in favor of the boys.

The March meeting is to be held on the 18th. Program leaders for this meeting are: Wanda Bridges, chairman; Mrs. Woodie Worthington and Mrs. W. R. Brown. The aprons, with the patches, will be opened at this time.

Everyone come out and enjoy these fine meetings.—Pub. Chr.

Everyone had all the soup, salads, celery, sandwiches, coffee, cherry pie and ice cream they could eat. Just before being seated, they surprised Mrs. Elliott with gifts.

After the supper, a short business session was held, with a devotional program.

Those who enjoyed the supper, were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Justice, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Beagle, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Beagle, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Callen, Mrs. Ralph Carnes, Mrs. Joe Rich, Mrs. Jimmy Elliott, Mrs. Woodie Worthington, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, Mrs. John McMillan, Mrs. Rose Beagle and the children, Lloyd Mullins, Junior Beagle, Clifford Flak, Carl Perry, Bonnie and Norma Jean Elliott, Jimmy Elliott, Jimmy Beagle, Lois Cheesman, Theresa Rich, Brenda J. Gages Need Testing

Now is the time to check gages on pressure cookers for accuracy, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent. The gage on a pressure cooker should be tested every year, says the specialist from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The best time for testing gages is between the meat canning and vegetable canning season. This gives the homemaker time to return the gage to the factory for repairs if the gage is registering four pounds above or below the master gage.

Anyone wishing to have their pressure cooker gage compared to a master gage, may bring the top of the cooker to the Home Demonstration Agent's office. The gage must be partially unscrewed from the top before bringing to the office.

"Live-at-Home"

Meeting March 3rd

The Boone County Live-at-Home leaders met in the County Agent's office, Burlington, March 3rd at 10 a. m., according to the Extension Office.

J. E. Humphrey and Mrs. Pearl Haak, from the college, met with the group. Mr. Humphrey's discussion was on brooding and raising poultry, and Mrs. Haak discussed "New Phases in Nutrition."

Bill Davis, County Agent, discussed garden varieties and practices in place of John Gardner, who was unable to be present.

HENRY COUNTY HERD MAKES BIG AVERAGE

Charles B. Moody, a Henry county dairyman and Jersey breeder, led the Oldham-Henry County Dairy Herd Improvement Association of 26 herds with an average production of 429 pounds of fat and 8,183 pounds of milk per cow in 365 days. High cow in the herd of 13 cows produced 650.8 pounds of fat and 12,012 pounds of milk. Mr. Moody attributes much of his success as a breeder and dairyman to his early training as a Henry county 4-H club member, he told Farm Agent Holmes Ellis.

Butler county pickle growers are cheered by an announcement of higher prices this season.

DAIRY COWS NEED PLENTY OF WATER

A dairy cow needs eight to 15 gallons of water daily, depending on her size and amount of milk produced, according to dairy specialists at the University of Kentucky.

"Assuming a cow needs 12 gallons a day and actually consumed this amount through a hole in the ice," says the statement, "she would need four pounds of alfalfa hay or two pounds of corn meal to produce the heat and energy required to warm this water to body temperature."

"From these figures it is easy to compute the cost of using feed for fuel, but this does not tell the entire story. Cows watered once or twice daily at an outside tank do not drink enough to supply their needs, and production drops. A simple heater pays big dividends under these conditions."

"Cows housed in warm barns produce a certain amount of excess heat and have shown no particular benefits from water warmer than 40 to 50 degrees, provided they have free access to and can drink often in small amounts."

Boyd county farmers last year had corn yields severely reduced by Stewart's disease or bacterial wilt.

At nine tobacco sales held in Clark county, 1,073,510 pounds of tobacco were sold for $489,900, or an average of $45.64 per hundred.

The Kingdom of God

Lesson for March 21, 1948

JESUS went back to his boyhood home in Nazareth, and on the Sabbath he went into the synagogue, "as was his custom."

They gave him the Book of Isaiah, from which he read a passage in the 61st chapter, adding, "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears," Luke 4:21.

Jesus had come to let people know about God—to reveal the Father's perfect love for all men. He loved the Bible, and was constantly reading it, which in his day was the Old Testament only. And he loved the Sabbath day, which we now call the Lord's day. Beginning with his resurrection, the first day of the week has been observed as the Lord's day. And Jesus loved the appointed places of worship, and was always found in some synagogue on the Sabbath. Don't you wish you might have been in Nazareth that day when he stood up to read the Scripture?

WHAT HE CAME TO DO
JESUS, I repeat, came to reveal God to men, which is but another way of saying that he came to tell men about the Kingdom of God. Here we shall need to read Mark 4:26-29, and Romans 14:17.

"The Kingdom of God is as if a man should cast seed into the ground," said Jesus; and Paul, in Romans 14:17, says, "The Kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit."

Jesus, then, came to establish a kingdom within the hearts of men. It means the rule of God in human hearts. What he wills, we gladly do. It manifests itself in the daily life of the individual, in the home, in the school, in the church—everywhere.

"TRY KINGDOM COME"
SO VITAL is this truth for the Christian that Jesus, in the pattern prayer, teaches us to say, "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as in heaven."

If we live in the atmosphere of this prayer, we shall embody daily the fruits of the coming Kingdom of God. If we really "seek first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness," we lift the level of life wherever we stand and serve. This is precisely what Jesus did. "He went about doing good."

We help to answer the prayer, "Thy Kingdom come," when we do with all our might what our hands find to do—in the home, in the community, in the church.

KINGDOM OF GOD AMONG MEN
IT is not enough to consider this truth in terms of some far-off dramatic event. It is a present force and factor in today's world.

One day the Pharisees asked Jesus when the Kingdom of God should come. He told them that it would not come with observation—that it is within the hearts of men.

What did he mean? I believe that he meant just this, that the Kingdom of God will and must manifest itself in the common affairs of everyday life. We may hinder its manifestation. We may retard its coming. On the other hand, we may make it manifest and hasten its spread to earth's remotest bounds.

How? By yielding ourselves to the rule and reign of God in every relationship of life. In race relations, in social service, in relief to the afflicted, in united effort for peace, in better housing, in better recreational facilities, in educational opportunities for all. The Kingdom of God is not an impractical theory, but a working principle, even as the heaven works in the loaf.

WHEN WILL IT COME?
THE Kingdom of God will come when redeemed hearts everywhere enthroned God in their whole attitude and purpose. Then, and not until then.

Will it come? This is a stubborn question. From our viewpoint, it may seem doubtful; but Jesus declares that it will come. "I have overcome the world," he declares.

The one question for you and for me, What part shall I have in the coming of the Kingdom of God upon the earth? We each decide by our willingness or unwillingness to follow him.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all.—George Washington's Farewell Address.

3 Tags belong on every bag of CHICK STARTER...

Which is Most IMPORTANT?

How do you buy chick starter? Do you look at the ingredient tag and try to figure out what it contains? Or do you look only at price tag and buy the cheapest?

Or do you ask "which feed will help me keep my chicks living and growing the best?" When you're buying feed for delicate little baby chicks, the "results" are the most important. And when you buy Purina Startena, you know you're buying results.

This Year PURINA CHICK STARTENA is Better Than Ever for Life and Growth

Boys and Girls FLY YOUR KITES Safely

Away from Electric Lines!

Kite flying is great fun but danger lurks when kites are flown near electric lines. Many a child has lost his life using wire for a kite string or climbing a pole to get a tangled kite. Play safe by following these rules:

1. Use only dry, cotton string to fly your kite.
2. Do not use metal or wire on kites.
3. Do not climb a pole to get a tangled kite.
4. Fly your kite only in open fields away from power lines or busy highways.

If your kite becomes entangled in electric wires, don't risk injury by trying to get it down yourself. Call our office and we'll send a man to remove it for you safely.

Organize Jr.
Utopia Club
at Burlington

On Thursday evening, March 18, the Courthouse in Burlington was the scene of much activity. Thirteen Boone County youths met there to organize, under the guidance of the state and county extension departments, a Utopia Club. This club will include young people who are out of school to these 25 years of age. After members reach 25, they will graduate into the present Utopia club, which was organized in 1930. This club has done much good in the county, especially in promoting and developing the annual Boone County Fair.

For the time being, the newly organized club will be known as the Junior Utopia Club, but at a later date a permanent name will be selected.

The group has chosen as a meeting date the second Thursday of each month and the Florence Town Hall as a general meeting headquarters. The club charter will hang in that building.

The purpose of the new club is primarily the same as the one now in the county, namely: To provide an opportunity for young men and women to study their economic, social and recreational needs and problems and to engage in useful enterprises and activities to the end that their life will be socially and economically more satisfying.

Stanley Aylor, elected as chairman of the meeting until the president was elected. Then, David Tanner, newly elected president, presided over the remainder of the meeting, guiding the group through the election of officers for the remaining offices. They were filled as follows: Stanley Aylor, vice president; Bobbie Huff, secretary and treasurer; Patricia Scott and John M. Taylor, directors, and Mildred King Taylor, reporter and chairman of publicity.

Plans were made to attend the District Utopia meeting to be held in Warsaw, April 3rd, by the Gallatin County Utopia Club.

Charter members of the club are: Lindy Seebree, Harold Zimmerman, Charles Aylor, Bobbie Huff, Wendell Aylor, Mildred K. Taylor, Pat Scott, Mary H. Henderson, David Tanner, Jack Turner, John M. Taylor, Marvin Long and Stanley Aylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jones, of the state office, attended the meeting. Mr. Jones gave helpful advice gained through his many years in organizing Utopia clubs. Also at the meeting were Miss Mary Hood Gillespie and Bill Davis, extension workers, and one visitor, Bernice Seebree.

Mrs. Walter King blessed the group by sending a big box of cookies, made into the shapes of rabbits, tulips and chickens, to symbolize the coming Easter season. Ice cream was also served. After the refreshments, enjoyable games were played.

Everyone left with much enthusiasm and the desire and determination to build from this nucleus a strong, solid organization.

The invitation is hereby extended, most cordially, to all Boone county youths to attend the next session, April 8th at 8:00 p. m. in the Florence Town Hall, and if you like, to join. Everyone is urged to attend.—Pub. Chr.

Conservation Program Is Under Way

The 1948 Agricultural Conservation Program is now under way, with county and community committees assisting farmers in planning their conservation work for the year.

The 1948 "Farm Worksheets" may be completed at the county office or at sign-up meetings to be held soon throughout the county.

Although less Federal assistance is available for carrying out conservation practices this year, farmers may still obtain assistance on six practices which are of major importance in the county.

At the time farmers sign their 1948 "Farm Worksheets," they may also file applications for lime and phosphate for use in the 1948 program. Those farmers desiring phosphate for use this spring are urged to make this request in the next few days at the county office, as phosphate has already been ordered for the county.

In order to qualify for payments in the 1948 ACP, farmers are required to file "Farm Worksheets" by April 30, 1948.

A top limit of $500.00 on payments to any individual participant in the 1948 ACP is fixed by the 1948 Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act. This limit applies both on conservation materials furnished by the Government and on cash payments. The limit also applies regardless of the number of acres or tracts of land owned or operated by the participant whether the participant is one person, a partnership, or a corporation.

New Haven PTA Building Drive Successful;
Some 224 People and Businesses Contribute

Folks in the New Haven school district are overjoyed with the success of their initial drive for funds to build a principal's home and improve their school. The five-day drive which started Tuesday, March 16th, resembled the traditional snowball which began with an idea and grew to astounding proportions in a relatively short time. All told the drive for donations brought in $2,797.50 in the first five days and contributions are still pouring in by mail. More than one interested organization volunteered to loan the balance of the $5,000.00 needed and the New Haven P. T. A. is most thankful for the spirit of the offer. This is the most immediate concern over the loan however, because several large contributors, including the tobacco warehouses, have indicated support and since the largest donation to date was from the Brite-Lite Warehouse, Carrollton, and it's Boone County representative, there is hope that any loan to be considered will be small indeed.

All together some 224 people and businesses have contributed to the drive. Many who are not residents of the school district requested the opportunity to participate in this public-spirited move. Service con-

Demonstration Of Tobacco
Grading

There will be a tobacco grading demonstration at the Hebron High school on April 28th at 9:00 a. m.

A U. S. Government grader of burley tobacco, who has had much practical experience with tobacco, will be present. He will be glad to work with all farmers so that you may be better qualified to grade your own tobacco, according to the Government grades. Since all tobacco is graded at the warehouse by these Government graders, you should plan to take full advantage of this valuable help. He will bring several grades of samples with him for inspection.

The Tobacco Marketing Division of the Production and Marketing administration is making these demonstrations available to the departments of vocational agriculture this spring as they have during the past several years.

It is hoped that every grower of burley tobacco can come out for this demonstration.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Walton Christian Church will meet Thursday, April 1st at the home of Mrs. Stanley Bush. The program is based upon the topic, "Our Service Through Christian Literature."

4-H Leaders Training Conference

The annual 4-H Leaders Training Conference was held in the Burlington Courthouse, Saturday, March 20. Twenty-five 4-H leaders and club officers attended.

The theme of the meeting, "How Can I Best Serve the 4-H Clubs?" was discussed by leaders, club members and extension agents. Mrs. Lillard Scott, Grant, Betty Hood, Florence, and Grant Maddox, Florence, discussed this theme, giving both the leaders and club members point of view. The extension agents led a discussion group and enumerated several ways which leaders might help club members in project work.

Howard Dean Bloss, Grant, led the group singing and sang a solo "You Rouse Me, Verona, 'Games for 4-H Clubs,'" and led the leaders and officers in two games that might be used in club meetings. John E. Crigler, president of the 4-H and Utopia Council, presided at the meeting.

STORM DAMAGES

MANY BUILDINGS HERE

The wind storm that hit this section last Friday left many buildings and homes damaged. The major damage in Walton was to the Walton Lumber Company, where a large section of roof from the warehouse was blown off. There were several homes that had sections of roof damaged. Telephone and electric light lines were damaged, and service disrupted in this entire section.

William Crier of Boyd county used a 4-D on a case of corn last year, and this year plans to use it on his entire crop of 80 acres.

Eternal Life

Lesson for March 28, 1948

"THE Lord has risen indeed," and because he lives, we too shall live. Easter is the day that reminds us of this blessed truth—the truth of eternal life. Well has Henry Burton expressed it in these lines:"There's a light upon the mountains,
And the day is at the spring.
When our eyes shall see the beauty
And the glory of the King;
When we are heart with waiting,
And the night watch seemed to long,
But his triumph day is breaking,
And we hail it with a song.""He is breaking down the barriers;
He is cutting up the way;
He is calling for his angels
To build up the gates of day;
But his angels here are human,
Not the shining hosts above;
And the drums beat of his army
Are the heartbeats of our love."BREAKFAST BY THE LAKE READ John 21:1-14 for the exquisite account of Jesus appearing to his disciples in the early morning at the sea of Tiberias. They had been toiling all night, and had taken nothing. Bringing their boats near to the shore, they saw one standing there, "but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus."Jesus told them to cast their net on the right side of the ship, which they did, and they caught 153 "great fishes." Jesus then summoned them to breakfast. He had prepared the bread and fish on coals of fire. And they did eat.BLESSED ASSURANCE BEFORE his death, Jesus had said to his disciples, "Because I live, you will live also." John 14:19, but they did not fully grasp the meaning of the great words. But that morning on the sea shore, they understood. They remembered that he had died on the cross, and now they were assured that he was really alive, for this was the third time he had appeared unto the disciples after the resurrection.How happy they must have been! How happy we should be on this recurring Easter season, assured that he is alive evermore.
And because he lives, we too shall live.WHAT IS ETERNAL LIFE?
SUNDAY's lesson leads us on to the answer to the question, What is eternal life? In Colossians 3:1-4 and 12-17, we have the declaration,
"Your life is hid with Christ in God. . . ." If we have believed on him—cast ourselves in implicit trust into his keeping—we have eternal life, which is his gift to every believing heart.Paul goes on to admonish those who have "entered into life eternal," through faith in the risen, reigning Saviour, to put on the garments of his presence and power and peace—kindness, humility, meekness, low-suffering, forbearance, forgiveness.The evidence of eternal life is to be found in the fruits of the Spirit in our daily lives.

CERTAINTY OF ETERNAL LIFE
WE READ in John 17:3 this word of further assurance,
"This is eternal life, that they know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." And in I John 5:11-12, we read, "And this is the record, that God hath given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life."In another passage John tells that we know that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren.
Easter is the day of eternal hope. It lifts above the fog of earthliness the glory of the blessed hope that fadeth not away. We have God's own testimony that we shall live with him forever, through Jesus Christ, our risen, reigning, returning Lord.(Copyright by the International Council of Religious Education on behalf of 40 Protestant denominations. Released by WNU Feature.)

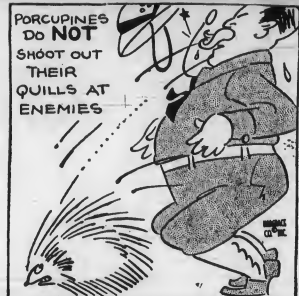

Our Richest Treasure

The Bible walks the ways of all the world with familiar feet and enters and after land to find its own everywhere. Children listen to its stories with wonder and delight, and wise men ponder them as parables of life. The wicked and the proud tremble at its warnings, and to the wounded and the penitent it has a mother's voice. It has woven itself into our dearest dreams; so that love, friendship, sympathy, devotion, memory, hope, put on the beautiful garments of its treasured speech. No man is poor or desolate who has this treasure for his own.
—Henry Van Dyke.

appreciation for the many kind

What is LICENSED SALE?

The Kentucky business man, and his employees, cannot prosper if the people of the state and community do not prosper.

A community which enjoys the benefits of Licensed Sale of beverages is a community that draws trade . . . not only to the beverage store, but also to the food shop, the meat market, the shoe store and all other business establishments. The legal, licensed alcoholic beverage industry provides pay checks for many thousands of Kentuckians throughout the state. These pay checks flow into cash registers of Kentucky business men . . . make more trade, more jobs, more prosperity!

WHAT IS PROHIBITION?

Businessmen in so-called "dry" areas know that prohibition harms business. Trade flows from prohibition, toward Licensed Sale. The loss of beverage taxes and license fees in "dry" communities opens the door to higher taxes to replace this lost revenue. Prohibition is a business-killer!

It's Being Done at Willow Run!

Kaiser-Frazer Introduces Four New 1948 Models

• The 1948 KAISER • The 1948 KAISER CUSTOM
• The 1948 FRAZER • The 1948 FRAZER MANHATTAN

AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE!

While Other New Car Prices Are Advancing

HERE'S WHY Kaiser-Frazer can make this announcement while other new car prices spiral upward. Kaiser-Frazer controls its own supply of many basic raw materials . . . has its own engine plant, foundry and steel mill. Materials from these sources funnel into new and modern Willow Run—the largest automobile manufacturing plant in the world under one roof.

Unfinished steel goes in one end of this great plant and comes out a quality automobile, ready to be driven away. All this is accomplished in a matter of hours, and with the economy of Kaiser-Frazer straight-line production. This is an achievement of men who are injecting new methods and ideas into an old industry.

In the new 1948 Kaiser, Frazer, Kaiser Custom, and Frazer Manhattan you get all the features that others have attempted to copy since Kaiser-Frazer design was introduced in 1947.

So far no one has been able to more than approximate the graceful exterior body lines. No one has come near matching the roadability . . . the ride resulting from seats cradled between the front and rear wheels, such wide seats with both elbow and shoulder room. And none have the style features, the wide choice of colors and fabrics.

You get all this plus the many refinements made possible by years-ahead engineering and design. And, of course, all 1948 Kaiser or Frazer cars have the new Goodyear 24-pound pressure Super-Cushion tires that make bumps something you see but never feel.

Enjoy a ride today in America's newest new cars—the 1948 cars that have not gone up in price!

Wherever you drive, wherever you go, round the corner, down the street, there is a Kaiser-Frazer dealer ready to serve you with genuine factory parts and approved service.

We Invite You to SEE, DRIVE and COMPARE Them, Today!

Homemakers Club Of Piner Meet Mar. 24

The March 24th meeting of the Piner Homemakers Club was held in the home of Mrs. W. C. Woods, with Mrs. Harry Yancey as co-hostess. The business session was called to order by the president, Mrs. Dewey Fisk. Roll call was answered by telling, "Something Worthwhile I Will Accomplish Today."

After a report of the membership committee and citizenship chairman, given by Mrs. C. V. Mullins, a letter from Holland acknowledging a package which they had received from our club, was read.

The meeting was opened by repeating the "Club Collect," and the thought for the day was read by Mrs. W. R. Brown. A paper on exterior beautification and garden lesson was read by Mrs. Fred McMillan. A very interesting and helpful lesson on "The Psychology of Color in Home Furnishings" was given by Mrs. W. R. Brown, assisted by Mrs. K. H. Yancey.

Special music was rendered by Mrs. Eldred Steinhäuser and Mrs. Harold Wainwright. Mrs. Steinhäuser played two beautiful piano solos, "The Robin's Return," by Leander Fisher, and "Nola," by Felix Arndt. Mrs. Wainwright sang "Memories" and "Down By the Old Mill Stream" accompanied by Mrs. Steinhäuser. We also had three other guests, Mrs. Wm. Waltemar, Mrs. Fannie Bridges and Mrs. Williams.

We welcome two new members to our club: Mrs. Willard Benson and Mrs. M. L. Baker.

Other members present were Mrs. W. R. Brown, Mrs. K. H. Yancey, Mrs. C. V. Mullins, Mrs. Charles Flynn, Mrs. Fred McMillan, Mrs. C. C. Gross, Mrs. W. C. Woods, Mrs. D. Fisk, Mrs. R. W. Elliott, Mrs. C. C. Cupp, Mrs. Odie Fisk, Mrs. John Dwyer, Mrs. John Steinhäuser, Mrs. Elmer Spaulding, Mrs. W. Shropshire, and Mrs. Steve Rich—Pub. Chir.

Gets 4-H Dairy Award

Aldin Steinhäuser was presented a $25.00 U. S. Savings Bond and a medal by Joe Claxon, Kenton County's Assistant Agricultural Agent, at the Simon Kenton High school chapel program, Wednesday, March 17th. The award was sponsored by the Kraft Foods Company to 4-H Club members for outstanding work in the Dairy Club project.

Aldin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Steinhäuser of Morning View and is a member of the Simon Kenton High School 4-H club and the Morning View Dairy Club. He is 14, has been a 4-H club member for four years, having had three tobacco projects and three dairy calf projects. He was Kenton County dairy champion in 1947.

Y-Teens Entertain

The Y-Teens Club of the Walton-Verona High School entertained the basketball boys and cheerleaders with a party at the skating rink, Tuesday night of last week.

There were about forty present and a good time was had by all. The Y-Teens would like to thank all those who contributed to the bake sale or helped them in any other way during the year. Special thanks to Mr. Pruett for loaning the rink.

Church School Importance Pointed Out

The guidance of young lives is one of the greatest tasks which God entrusts to man. Parents who believe that they discharge their obligations for the religious training of their children when they deposit them at the church school door each Sunday may find that the children do not take too seriously their church school lessons.

Children learn by example. They learn as much from their parents' actions as they learn from their words. Fathers and mothers must keep close to Christ and to his teachings if they are to train their children in the Christian way.

The church school can help parents in facing their responsibility. Association with other parents, the exchange of ideas and sharing of problems, can be of tremendous benefit.

It has been said, "Get the children, and you will get their parents." Any church worker will realize that this is true only a fraction of the time. The converse—"Get the parents and the children will follow"—is more nearly correct.

If you are not a regular attendant in some church school, the Walton Methodist Church School, through it's superintendent, Dan Roberts, invites you to be present Sunday, and every Sunday.

Services At East Bend Saturday

The Calvary Heralds

ing the double electric guitar, accompanied by Mrs. Lewis Brevard on the piano.

Mr. Brevard, better known as "Brother Lewis," recently toured the islands of Jamaica and Cuba, playing his instruments to thousands who have never heard nor seen such an electrical instrument.

Come, one and all and listen to the quartet, and seek to hear the testimonies of each.—Pub. Chir.

Red Cross Meet Held In Florence

The meeting of the Directors and Service Unit of the Boone County Chapter, A. R. C., at the Town Hill in Florence on Monday night, March 22nd, was well attended, with representatives from many localities. Business of importance was disposed of, and the excellent report of the Executive Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Nestor, showed that the Red Cross is active in Boone County and is rendering splendid service.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Acadia Inn on the new highway in Florence, and as the fiscal year of the Red Cross begins July 1st, the date of the meeting is June 15, 1948, at which time the officers for next year will be chosen. Another notice of this meeting will be published nearer the date, giving information of the price of the dinner and to whom to apply for reservations, for each member attending pays for his own meal.—Pub. New Haven PTA To Celebrate Building Fund Victory Friday, April 2 at School

The New Haven P. T. A. plans to end the first phase of their building drive this week, at the New Haven school, Friday, April 2nd at 8:00 p. m., has been set as the time when the P. T. A. plans to entertain more than 200 contributors and their participants, who have made the new principal's home a financial reality. With $3,000 in the bank, more contributions arriving daily, and no end in sight of generous contributions, New Haven is alive with the zeal of a missionary on a new assignment. Civic minded citizens talk of little other than the plans for a "best school program," at New Haven. The P. T. A. makes it plain to this paper however, that such progress could never have taken place, were it not for the generous spirit of those solicited. They request that this be emphasized, as the main reason for their success.

Among the most generous contributors of the past week have been the architectural supervision contributed by Mr. Richard Elliston, noted school designer of Northern Kentucky and Southern Ohio, and parts of building materials to be supplied by Mr. Tate of Erlanger's Colonial Supply Company. Lumber dealers are yet to be contacted and New Haven feels assured of their cooperation.

Plans for Friday night include speakers, building plans, free refreshments and generous friendship. All contributors of time, money, labor and services are cordially invited to attend.

Contributors for the third and fourth day of first week's drive are listed below. Watch next week's paper for the remainder.

Jerry Bays, Harold Love, George Howard, Sr., Becknell's Grocery, Lloyd Marsh, J. R. Copple's Cincinnati Hay and Grain Co., J. H. Fender's Son, Geo. W. Hill, Geo. C. VFW to Play In Buckeye

It was announced, this week by Charles Benson, chairman of the athletic committee for the Boone County V. F. W. Post, that this year's baseball team will play in the Buckeye Semi-Pro League as a home club, with all home games being played at the Florence High school grounds. The 1948 season is to open Sunday, April 18th.

First practice session for the Vets will be held at the Florence grounds on Sunday, April 4th at 2:00 p. m. All members interested in trying out for this team are urged to be present, according to Mr. Benson.

Simon Kenton P. T. A.

The Simon Kenton P. T. A. will meet on Monday, April 5th at 8:00 p. m. in the Simon Kenton school.

New officers will be installed and final plans made for the Carnival to be held Friday, April 12th.

Immunization Clinic For Diphtheria Soon

Boone County physicians, Parent Teacher Associations and Miss Elizabeth Lowry, County Nurse, will conduct a county-wide diphtheria immunization clinic in schools, on the following schedule:

April 6, 10:00 a. m.—Hebron.
April 6, 2:00 p. m.—Constance.
April 7, 9:30 a. m.—Walton.
April 8, 9:30 a. m.—Burlington.
April 9, 2:30 p. m.—Burton Col.
April 12, 9:30 a. m.—New Haven.
April 12, 2:30 p. m.—Hamilton.
April 13, 9:30 a. m.—Florence.
April 20, 10:00 a. m.—Bellevue.
April 21, 10:00 a. m.—Petersburg.

This is for school children up to 10 years of age and for babies from 8 months up.

Quoting from a national health authority: "Diphtheria is a disease, the result of neglect. If all parents would take their babies, when they are from 6 to 9 months of age, to a doctor or to a clinic and have them protected against diphtheria, there would be no more infant deaths from this disease. Successful treatment known as toxoid will keep a child from having the disease. Therefore any case of diphtheria that occurs during infancy is largely the result of neglect."

A Warning to Parents

"Parents must not make the mistake of thinking that, because the death rate from diphtheria has been greatly reduced, their babies are safe without immunization. Only when ALL babies are immunized before reaching 9 months of age will the conquest of diphtheria be accomplished."

At the clinic there will be two doses of toxoid given one month apart. For any child over 10, who often get a marked reaction from toxoid, and for any child who has had immunization, go to a private doctor's office.

To over expenses, a fee of fifty cents per dose will be charged, paying the dollar with the first dose, to avoid red tape.

For those unable to pay, provision will be made. A member of the P. T. A. will be present to pass on this.

SCRIPTURE: Ezekiel 1-4, 33:1-9.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 137: 1-4.

Prophet Among Exiles
Lesson for April 4, 1948

THIS quarter we study the Captivity and Return of the Jews, using the Books of Ezekiel, Daniel, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi. Sunday's lesson is found in Ezekiel 1-4 and 33:1-9. It would be well for us to read again the history of this most interesting man, Ezekiel—how he came to be among the captives by the river Chebar. He is one of the most attractive personalities in the Old Testament—a man of surpassing culture and charm—and yet enabled to "sit where they sat."

A MESSENGER OF GOD
EZEKIEL could never have adapted himself to the role of ministering to the captive slaves apart from the knowledge that he was the messenger of God—the messenger of God's hope to broken, beaten souls.

God spoke to his people through Ezekiel. He speaks to his people today through chosen messengers—parents, teachers, the Bible, the Holy Spirit. God may be speaking to you today.

HEAR YE THE WORD
EZEKIEL'S approach to the Jews in captivity was by the authority of God's direct message to them through him. Ezekiel was faithful to God's appointment and mission. He knew that what he had to say to the Jews meant their hope of release and return.

He studied their plight. He studied their mood. And then he spoke to them. But not only did he speak to them, telling them what God wanted them to know, but he moved among them. He loved them.

He had God's message, and he went in God's mood of compassion. We cannot help people until we understand them and love them.

GOD'S WATCHMAN
EZEKIEL reminded the people that he had been sent from God as a watchman, and he told them what terrible responsibility was upon him in warning them to repent and return unto God. Read Ezekiel 33:1-9.

If the watchman faithfully warns the people, and they refuse to heed the warning, their blood will not be on his hands; but if he fails to warn the people, their blood will be on his hands. Here is a lesson for every teacher and preacher and parent today.

And in this same 33rd chapter, Ezekiel goes on to declare God's attitude toward all sinners. "Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live—turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die?"

A WATCHMAN UNTO EXILES
"CON of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel," Ezekiel 3:17.

This was the explicit commission of God to Ezekiel. And grandly did Ezekiel accept and execute to the limit of his ability that commission. The Jews were far from their beloved home. They were driven by hard masters. They could not sing the song of the Lord in a strange land. They had hanged their harps on the willow trees.

With a sensitive soul, Ezekiel comes to them with the word of hope. He reminds them of the goodness and mercy of Jehovah to their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. He lifts their drooping spirits with clear and ringing words of promise. He pleads with them to confess their sins and claim the pardoning mercy of a loving God.

He used numerous means of gaining their attention—symbols of their former communion with God. Patiently he traced the dealings of God with them and their fathers before them.

They listened, and all who heeded the pleas of the faithful watchman were saved and restored to faith in the goodness and mercy of God.

We, too, are watchmen among exiles. Let us learn the high art of Ezekiel in our ministry as watchmen.

The churches will fail if the lessons of Sunday are forgotten on Monday and are laid aside for special observance on only one day of the week. Wayne Morse, U. S. senator from Oregon.

COVER CROPS CUT DAMAGE BY FLOOD

That the 1947 flood, which destroyed most of the field crops in Bell county, might prove to be a blessing in disguise, was indicated by Farm Agent H. W. Davis. He stated that farmers having cover crops for pastures are now realizing the money they saved in feed bills, while others without good pastures spent as much as a half-million dollars for feed last year. Mr. Davis estimates that with good pastures, farmers in the county could save as much as $200,000 annually.

CIRCULAR DEALS WITH FARM WATER SYSTEMS

To help farmers who now have electricity, and therefore are interested in having running water for their homes, buildings and yards, the College of Agriculture and Home Economics of the University of Kentucky has published a 40-page illustrated circular called, "Electric Water Systems for Farms." An electric system, according to this circular, should last 15 to 30 years. A shallow-well pump can be operated on one to one and a half kilowatt hours per 1,000 gallons, and a deep-well pump on two kilowatt hours.

The circular deals with sources of water for a home water system, amount of water needed, care and treatment of the water, selection of a pump, installation of a pump, storage tanks, protecting the water system, and other useful information.

CHARCOAL-TYPE BROILING

ANOTHER REASON WHY

Cooking's going Electric

You've never tasted more luscious steaks than you get from the charcoal-type broiler of a modern electric range.

It supplies flameless "glowing ember" type heat and the speed needed to make steaks brown and crisp on the outside and tender and juicy on the inside.

You can broil a thick steak in ten minutes—and do it without stooping or squatting because the broiler is up off the floor at a handy working level.

For faster, easier broiling and for better results from all cooking operations, make your next range an electric. It's the modern way!

SEE YOUR Future Cow AT 4 MONTHS

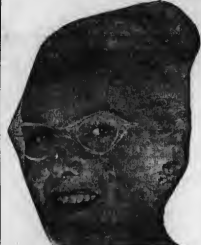

RAISE BIG CALVES WITH DAIRY QUALITY ON PURINA CALF STARTENA

A big-framed, quality, 4-month-old heifer almost always makes you a real milk cow... that's why it's so important to you to grow a strong, deep-ribbed calf, instead of one that is puny and soft with "milk-fat". You'll find that Purina Calf Startena grows good calves: big and loose-hided with strong bones and rugged frames... calves that are capable of developing into strong-bodied, heavy-milking dairy cows. This year, raise a couple of calves on Calf Startena, and see for yourself the difference it makes in size and dairy quality. You'll save about one-half the cost of milk feeding, too.

The first basketball banquet in this town since 1930 was held last Friday night for the basketball players of Walton-Verona High school at the local gym.

Paul McBrayer, head basketball coach at Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College, Richmond, was the principal speaker, using the subject, "Kentucky Basketball." He gave a brief resume of the game as he has seen it played in the state in the past years and how it is being played today. He also pointed out the handiwork of securing top-notch teachers and coaches, due to the low salaries. Mr. McBrayer pointed out the important position that the teachers and coaches have in every community.

Superintendent H. P. Baker presented sweaters and letters to the various members of the squad, including Johnny Maddox, "Dude" Simpson, captain and only senior, Buddy Readour, Maynard Meadows, "Dike" Vest, Tommy Johnson, Layne Cheeseman, captain of the second team, Don Rice, Charles Dinn, "Shorty" Coyle, Mike Ryan, Russell Speagle, Marion Arch Waller, Dennis Clacklen, Gene Simpson, Tommy Pruett, James Code, Harvey Kennedy and Ralph Lovelace.

Huey-Kendall Wedding On Sunday

The marriage, which will be of great interest to the many friends in Northern Kentucky, of Mrs. Lula Edwards Huey and Mr. Edward Kendall was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell M. Hall, in Walton. The Rev. R. F. DeMolsey officiated.

The house was beautifully decorated with roses, tulips, jonquils and other spring flowers. Entering first to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march was Mrs. Russell M. Hall, the bride's only attendant, and Mr. Lawrence Kendall, who acted as his father's best man. Mrs. Hall wore a gray suit with black accessories and her corsage was of Talsman roses. The bride and groom followed, and the marriage vows were read before the flower-banked fireplace.

Mrs. Kendall chose for her wedding a beige suit with brown accessories and her flowers were brown orchids. Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held for their intimate friends. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a lovely arrangement of tulips.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Mexico City. On their return trip they will also visit New Orleans and the Carlsbad Caverns. Mr. and Mrs. Kendall will make their home in Walton.

The following guests were present at the wedding: Mrs. Lucy Beatty, Florence; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Erlanger; Mr. Julian Howard and Miss Molly Sims of Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kendall of Irvine; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Huey, Mr. Gaines Edwards Huey, Miss Pauline Stephenson, Miss Alice Neumeister, Miss Susan Pursley, Mr. Ed Neumeister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Collins, Rev. and Mrs. R. F. DeMolsey, Mr. Bob Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hall, all of Walton.

Mrs. Lucy Sanning was the Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Rice and family.

Gaines of the Walton Lumber Co., who donated a portion of lumber and a $100 cash contribution; also Cliff Mayhugh of the Mayhugh Lumber Co., gave a sizeable portion of lumber. Mr. James E. U. S. 25 To Be Resurfaced But Not Rebuilt, Says Commissioner

Adults Urged To Attend Church School

Hundreds of thousands of adults are joining the Sunday school. In the Methodist Church alone over two million adults attend this teaching agency of the church.

Adults who join the Sunday school do so because they recognize their need for instruction and guidance in the Christian way of life. This expression of a need is a compliment to the intelligence—it shows an awareness of the greatest values found in life. This response indicates a deep concern for their own spiritual welfare and a feeling of responsibility for helping to make their church more effective in undergirding community life with Christian teaching. Adults who attend Sunday school realize the need for building homes upon faith in Jesus Christ and his teachings.

Those who attend Sunday school have a purpose in life that brings to them not only joy but also an abiding sense of peace. This satisfaction is grounded in the fact that they are discovering greater meaning in life and helping others to discover the joy that comes from unselfish service to the Master.

Through its superintendent, Dan Roberts, the Walton Methodist Sunday school, invites you to attend its classes, if not already attending elsewhere.

Scout Executive to Speak

The Walton Parent-Teachers Association is sponsoring Mr. Willard Friend, Northern Kentucky Boy Scout Executive, on Friday evening, April 9th at 7:30 o'clock. He will show a number of slides and talk on "A Boy Scout's Canoe Trip to Canada." This is free and we urge the public to attend. Bring your young citizens out for a wholesome evening of entertainment.—Pub. Chr.

Huffman-Stephenson

Miss Fay Huffman, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Huffman, and Mr. Omer Lee (Jack) Stephenson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Stephenson, both of near Walton, were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon, April 3rd, at 4:30 o'clock. The Rev. Burton C. Garrett, pastor of the Walton Baptist Church, officiated.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Lebus Stephenson and Mr. Owen K. Stephenson, sister-in-law and brother of the groom, both of Walton.

WYNN-GROSS

Miss Anna Lou Wynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wynn, and Mr. James R. "Buck" Gross, son of Mrs. Annie Gross, both of Walton, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, April 3rd in the home of the officiating minister, Rev. R. F. DeMolsey, Verona.

The attendants were Miss Coleen Vallandigham and Mr. Clinton "Dick" Shields, both of Walton. Mr. and Mrs. Gross will reside in their home on High Street.

Vets and All-Stars Split Double Bill

The V. F. W. basketball team, which had a 19-win and 4-loss record for the season, tackled an All-Star High school team of seniors at the Walton hardwood Monday night and came out on the long end 81-62.

The Vets were paced by that capable ball-handling Billy Wynn with 19 points, being closely followed by reliable B. Judge with 17. Other Vets scoring were A. Judge 14, P. Ammon 12, Pickett 11, Buckler 4, and Johnson 2. The Vets seemed to be very sharp for this contest and ability to play as a team was the deciding factor, as the All-Star high school boys had not played together as a unit before. The All-Star scoring was led by that All-Northern Kentucky star from Lloyd High school, Ammon, who poured through 23 points, followed by another Lloyd stalwart, Damroni, with 12. Boone County's Toadvine and Toddenber accounted for 18 points between them. Knox gamblers, Carl 4, Goodrich 2 and Miller 1.

The reserve teams reversed the other game, with the All-Stars winning 58-43.

J. WM. CLUSTER

Services for J. William Cluster, 85, retired farmer, were held at 2:30 p. m., Saturday in the Walton Baptist Church, with burial in Walton Cemetery.

The Rev. A. C. Alford of LaGrange, Ky., officiated at the services, assisted by Rev. B. C. Garrett, pastor of the Walton church. The Chambers & Grubbs funeral home, Walton, had charge of the arrangements.

This is their first entertainment venture, and they ask the support of everyone in and around Walton.

Hopewell Circle to Meet

The Gladys Hopewell Circle will hold its monthly meeting this Thursday, April 8th at 7:30 p. m. at the Walton Baptist Church. Mrs. Maud Smith will serve as hostess.

Cost Too Great at Present for New Rd.

Highway Commissioner Garrett Withers told the U. S. 25 Association recently that the road will be resurfaced, but not rebuilt.

The association pleaded with him to revise the department's plan for repair work in favor of a four-lane highway or a new road of some other type.

The department plans to do three resurfacing jobs on U. S. 25, two between Lexington and Georgetown, and the other from Lexington to Clay's Ferry bridge.

Tom Shuff, city attorney for Georgetown, described U. S. 25 as the most heavily traveled road in the state, but Withers disagreed, saying a few others bear more traffic.

Withers said a four-lane highway would cost $100,000 a mile. The State doesn't have that much money for such a project, he added.

Resurfacing U. S. 25 with a mixture 2½ inches thick will cost $8,000 to $10,000 a mile.

The severe weather of the past winter damaged many roads in Ky., and as a result much more money will have to be spent for repair than for new construction, he said.

Others who attended the meeting were John Zuest, Dry Ridge, association president; Len Shouse, Ed Wilder, Gene Bryant, Henry Hettel, Ray Souley and George Weinman, all of Lexington; A. P. Prather, the Mayor of Georgetown; L. S. O'Dell, Georgetown, and H. D. Sanders of Corbin.

BERTHA L. CHAPMAN

Mrs. Bertha Lee Chapman, 70, wife of Ross Chapman, died at her home in Verona, April 1, at 5:05 a. m. She was a member of the Concord Baptist Church, and was born in Gallatin County.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mable Stafford of Latonia, and Mrs. Rubie Bingham of Mt. Zion, three nieces, and six nephews.

Funeral services were held Saturday, April 3rd at 1:00 p. m. in the Concord Baptist Church, with Rev. Geo. Smith and Rev. Lipscomb officiating. Burial was in Concord Cemetery.

Casket bearers were Mrs. Jay Webster, Jay Webster, Hugh Bingham, Wilbur Bingham, William Bingham and John Bingham.

Hamilton funeral home, Verona, had charge of arrangements.

Spring Jitney Carnival At Simon Kenton

The Simon Kenton Parent-Teachers' Association is presenting a Spring Jitney Carnival at the Simon Kenton High school, Friday, April 9, 1948 at 7:00 p. m.

Now if you'd like a look at what the future holds for you, there will be a special booth with a "Gen-U-ine" Fortune Teller. Look for her, she'll be there.

There will be plenty of "ests"—tempting popcorn, tantalizing sandwiches, soft drinks, homemade cakes, pies and plenty of coffee. You'll be sorry if you miss this big event—"THE SPRING JITNEY CARNIVAL." Everyone is invited!

30 YEARS EXPERIENCE!

SCRIPTURE: Ezekiel 18: 34: 36:23-38: 37:1-10
DEVOTIONAL READING: Ezekiel 34: 25-31.

His Message to Exiles

Lesson for April 11, 1948

CONTINUING the theme of last Sunday's lesson, we go further into the ministry of Ezekiel as God's messenger to a people in exile. For this Sunday we have chapters 18 and 34; and portions of the 36th and 37th chapters.

The 18th chapter opens with a revealing rebuke to Ezekiel. God tells him expressly that he is not to say any more to the Jews that "the fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge. As I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel. Behold, all souls are mine." And then God adds, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

GOD'S LOVE AND CARE
ALL through these chapters in Sunday's lesson, two solemn truths appear—God's love for his people, manifest in unwearied care; and the responsibility of each soul for the sin which such commits against God.

This truth, or these truths, I should say, are equally applicable for us today. As Ezekiel was sent to remind the people of God's love and care, so must we, early in our youth, accept the responsibility of accepting his love or rejecting his love.

We cannot claim his care if we despise his will. That is the message of Ezekiel for us.

WHAT GOD IS LIKE
NOWHERE in the Old Testament is the love of God more manifest and compelling than in Ezekiel 34:11-27. I hope that you will open your Bible to this passage. Here the Bible speaks in words that burn with the compassionate love of God for sinful souls.

"I will both search my sheep, and seek them out. As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my sheep, and I will deliver them out of all places where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark day. . . . And I will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Israel by the rivers."

One is reminded here of Jesus, when he said, "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

A NEW HEART
"A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you," Ezekiel 36:26. Here we have, perhaps, the sublimest sentence in the prophecy of Ezekiel. God is speaking. Ezekiel is merely the messenger—the voice, as John the Baptist delighted to describe himself.

Ezekiel has faithfully declared that each individual is responsible unto God, and just as faithfully he has proclaimed God's love and care, and now he adds the third great truth, namely, that God waits to bestow the new heart and the new spirit to every repentant soul.

A new heart and a new spirit. That is what the Jews needed. That is what the world needs today—a new heart and a new spirit. Only God could give a new heart then, and only God can make such gift today.

EZEKIEL'S MESSAGE FOR US
WOULD we listen to Ezekiel today? He has the message we need above all other words that may be spoken. He called the Jews to repentance of sin. That is what America needs today. Boys and girls need it. Men and women need it. And just as God waited patiently to bestow the new heart and spirit to Israel in the long ago, so does he wait to grant us today a new heart and a new spirit."Our God, our help in ages past,
Our Hope for years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal home."

There's No Substitute

"I thoroughly believe in a university education for both men and women, but I believe that a knowledge of the Bible without a college course is more valuable than a college course without the Bible. Every one who has a thorough knowledge of the Bible may be truly called educated, and no other learning, or culture—no matter how extensive and elegant—can be a proper substitute."

Out of the Question!

A young man watched an older fellow who was filled with liquor stagger out of a tavern to his car. When he reached the car he dug in his pocket and after much effort pulled out his car keys. For about five minutes he tried unsuccessfully to unlock the car door. The young man then walked over to where the drunk was, still without any luck trying to find the keyhole, and asked if he could be of any help. "Can you unlock the door for me?" asked the drunk. The young fellow then took the keys and opened the door. The drunk half falling crawled into the car and started the motor. "Why, you're not going to drive that car, are you?" asked the young fellow.

"Of course, son," replied the drunk. "Can't you see that I'm in no condition to walk?"

A LIMIT THERE

Poet—This is an unfair world. Friend—How so? Poet—A banker can write a bad poem, and people think nothing of it. But just let a poet try writing a bad check!

Lapping It Up

A Scotchman entered a doctor's office the moment it was opened one morning. When asked what was troubling him, he stuck out his tongue. It was matted with small splinters of wood. "What happened?" asked the medico. "Last night, I had an accident." "What kind of an accident did you have? The rest of your body doesn't seem to be touched." "Man," moaned the patient, "I spilled a glass of whiskey on the floor!"

Different Attitude

Dobbins was discussing his relatives with a new acquaintance. "Now you take my wife," he remarked, "she has a twin sister so much like her you'd never be able to tell them apart." "I suppose though," rejoined the other, "that it is easy for you." Dobbins sighed. "Well, yes," he grudgingly admitted, "but it wouldn't be if my wife showed the same respect for me that her sister does."

FEED REQUIREMENTS OF HENS COMPARED

In a five-year comparison of Barred Rock and New Hampshire hens at the Western Kentucky Experiment Station at Princeton, egg production and grain consumption were practically the same for both breeds during the first laying year. However, the New Hampshire consumed 62 percent more mash than the Barred Rocks. Mash constituted about 40 percent of the New Hampshire ration and 30 percent of the Barred Rock ration, with skim-milk being fed four out of the five years.

The fifth year, without skim-milk, the mash consumption increased approximately 10 percent for each breed, with the New Hampshire eating 52 percent mash and the Barred Rocks 40 percent.

There was an average of 181 Barred Rocks and 194 New Hampshire hens in these tests. Average egg production per year was 190 eggs per hen for the Barred Rocks and 198 for the New Hampshire hens. Total feed per bird per year was 89 pounds for Barred Rocks and 104 pounds for New Hampshire.

Hobby Show Is Success

Friday afternoon, April 2nd, the Verona school was the scene of a lovely display of hobbies and hand work of the ladies of the community. From 2:00 until 4:00 was open house. Mrs. Joe Rouse showed her salt and pepper shake collection, which was very good. Mrs. Mayo Hayden had a lovely miniature "Dutch Garden," which was very unique. A very pretty tailored suit was shown by Mrs. Freda Renaker, made by Mrs. Polly Parker. Mrs. Wilbur Florence had her hand made bill folds and change purses, which were very

For the convenience of the Boone County farmers, sign-up meetings have been arranged at the following places and times:

Crittenden Bank is First to Make Insured Mortgage in Kentucky

The Bank of Crittenden, one of Grant County's leading financial institutions, has the distinction of being the first bank in Kentucky to cooperate with the Department of Agriculture in its new program in farm financing, under the direction of the Farmers Home Administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Wiley, progressive young Kenton County farm family, recently received a loan from the Bank of Crittenden to purchase the "old John Iserai" farm in the Sherman community. Legislation passed by the last Congress authorized the Farmers Home Administration to insure mortgages for loans made by private lenders to progressive farm families for the purchase of family type farms. This program is a co-operative arrangement between local lenders and the Government to help worthy farm families purchase farms. The rate of interest is reasonable and a longtime repayment schedule is provided.

Samuel T. Harrison, County FHA Supervisor, advises that this program is similar to the Tenant Purchase program which has been in operation for the past 11 years in Boone County, through which 12 families have purchased family type farms.

The local FHA County Committee consisting of William W. Hill, Bert Loomis and John R. Worthington, is responsible for the selection of families that qualify for this program and pass upon the desirability and value of the farms selected by the families to purchase.

Mr. Harrison points out that the insured mortgage program differs from the direct Tenant Purchase loan in that a 10% down payment is required. He also stated that he would be glad to give any families interested in this program further details as to how the program operates.

Grant County should be justly proud to have the first loan made under this new progressive farm ownership program.

Mr. Harrison holds office in Burlington at the Courthouse each Tuesday morning. Home office is located in Williamstown, Ky.

PINER P. T. A.

The regular meeting of the Piner P. T. A. was held Thursday evening March 17th with the president, Mrs. Viola Elliott, presiding. After the roll call, the business session was conducted. One of the projects was to have the pianos tuned, and at this time one is finished.

The aprons with the patches were removed and everyone was well pleased with the proceeds.

A very interesting program was enjoyed by everyone. Each teacher had a 5-minute program from their grades, which consisted of reading, spelling, historic facts, Geography and a musical program. This was termed as the "Quiz Kids from Piner School."

The next meeting is to be held on Thursday, April 15th at 8:00 p. m.

The Western Rhythm Boys from radio station WZIP are going to put on a program for the P. T. A. and the proceeds are to go for the PTA fund. The admission is 35c for school children and 50c for adults. Be sure to come and hear this fine program.—Pub. Chr.

Lecturer from India To Present Program at New Haven School

An unusually unique and educational program has been scheduled for presentation at the New Haven High school on Tuesday, April 13th at 1:30 p. m., when Mr. Wm. S. Willett will lecture from his personal experiences in India.

Mr. Willett served the Tata Industries of India for six years, during the construction of a tremendous steel production mill, which employed thousands of natives of numerous castes and customs. During this period Mr. Willett was placed face to face with the mysteries of the Orient and the terrors of the jungle.

According to reports from Duke University, University of Kentucky and many other high schools and colleges, Mr. Willett is without a doubt, the most authoritative, most vivid and most instructive travel lecturer available in this locality at this time. His fine collection of Oriental articles to be displayed, include rugs, native weaving, articles of clothing, knives, dishes, to-toms, weapons, fruits and the beautiful skin of a huge man-eating tiger, killed by himself.

New Haven has invited Burlington and Hamilton schools and all other adventure-minded students and adults to attend. Donations of ten cents per student and twenty cents for adults will be accepted at the door.

SHORT STORY

Shaggy Dog

By HANK MCCALL

HERMAN's career as a theatrical agent flashed just long enough to burn all his money. He was flat broke. Not only was his wallet folding air, but his spirit slept in the gutter. He had to get an act, a good act, or forsake his wonderful free life for a job.

He lit a cigarette and wandered through the dusk. His aimless course led him into an alley dividing a row of run-down apartments. Suddenly he heard a piano playing, distant and faint, but very distinct. The notes had a feeling quality that he noticed him.

Even in Carnegie hall, no cadenzas flourished like these cadenzas. They were great! They were beautiful! Never had he listened to playing like this playing. Herman found the window, peered in, saw the back of a young man stooped over a piano. The agent waited until he finished the score before rapping.

"3-Minute Fiction"

The artist came over calmly and asked, "Yes?" "Look, Mister, I'm a music lover. That last number was great! How about letting me in?" "Sure. What would you like next?" "Anything. Just play."

THE pianist sat behind his instrument and tipped into Rachmaninoff's Second Concerto. Herman was amazed. Truly, the man was a genius. No one in the world could play with such feeling!

The music ceased with the first movement. Herman bounded to the piano.

"Look, I'm a theatrical agent. I know what I'm talking about. You're a find. I'll give you one hundred dollars a week if you will sign my contract."

"No, I couldn't do that. This is just my hobby. Besides, I like what I'm doing now."

"Look, I'll give you one hundred and fifty dollars a week to start. You'll be famous! Think of it. Wealth, fame, glamour! Everything you want!"

"No, I can't do it. I'm not interested. How many times must I tell you?"

"Well, I just thought I could change your mind."

"You can't. Besides I've got something better than my piano playing. Right here in this apartment, too."

"Yeah? What?"

"A dog that can play the piano better than I can and a parrot that can sing better than the greatest contralto in the Metropolitan Opera."

"Let's see 'em."

The young man disappeared into another room and after a few minutes, returned. He had a macaw in a cage and an airleone on a leash. The bird was ornery and the dog hostile.

"What do you want to hear?"

THE dog keyed the ominous chords of Wagner's Lohengrin; then quickly prepared for the parrot's solo. His piano became alive, frenzied. No man could hope to equal his technique.

Herman found the window, peered in.

The bird came in on the heroine's cue. She was beautiful. Never had a human voice carried such tone, such depth. Her control was uncanny. Herman sat in a drugged stupor until the last note.

"What did I say? It was marvelous, miraculous! Where did you ever find them?"

"Oh, that's another hobby. I just trained them."

"Look, friend, don't turn me down now. This is the greatest act on this green earth. I'll give you one thousand dollars a week."

"No, I can't do it, I tell you. My life would be ruined. Besides it's all a fraud."

"Fraud? How can it be a fraud? I saw it with my own eyes."

"Well, I'm sorry, we can't sign. It's all one big fake."

"Look, friend, tell me. How is it a fake?"

The young man shrugged. "The dog's a ventriloquist."

The beautiful sunshine of Easter brought out a nice crowd for Easter services. Many from here attended the program at Morning View and all enjoyed it greatly.

W. E. Hanna, who has been ill for a few weeks is slowly improving. His niece, Mrs. Naomi Brown, of Lexington spent several days with the Hannas the past week, returning on Saturday with her mother and son, who came for a short visit. We hope to see Mr. Hanna out quite soon.

Mrs. Andrew Lipscomb is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maddox, and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brannock of Kelat and brought home with them Miss Nannie Ballinger.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Deuser had as guests on Easter, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher of Garrard Street, Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Payne are working hard to get their new home ready for occupancy in the next few days.

Mrs. Caroline Armstrong entertained her children and grandchildren on Easter.

The Homemakers club held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Della Williams, with Mrs. J. Beall of St. Bernard as co-hostess. Sick-ness and inclement weather caused a small attendance, nevertheless, we had quite an enjoyable day. Our president, Mrs. Faulkner, had roll call and business meeting. The tailoring clinic was reported as very successful. One member who had never done any but the plainest sewing, not only completed a beautiful suit, but has made a suit dress for one of her neighbors. That sounds like magic, doesn't it. Mrs.

J. A. Keeney, reading chairman, gave the history of salmon and description of their habits of life and use as food.

Mrs. B. Rich told of the district meeting to be held at Ft. Mitchell Country Club on April 22. Since only a limited number could be accommodated, drawing of names was made to decide who could have tickets. After a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Beall and Mrs. Hill, Mrs. John Snow presented the lesson on color in every-day life. She showed some interesting secondary colors, made by combining the primary colors in varying amounts. Mrs. Marjory Henry has been ill with flu and tonsillitis.

Mrs. Edith Ware is convalescing from her recent accident caused by the big wind and we hope we'll soon leave St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Last Training School Held In Covington

The last in a series of training schools on home furnishings for leaders of Kenton County Homemakers was held April 13th at the Extension Service offices in the Federal Bldg., Covington. The Aviation Career Plan Offered Youths Science is making rapid strides in the development of materials and equipment that tend to improve our way of life. The value of higher education and technical training becomes more obvious each day. In response to this, it was announced by Lt. Searcy Glass of the Covington Army and Air Force Recruiting office, the U. S. Air Force offers men, who have graduated from high school, the opportunity to qualify for and select any one of the 47 Air Force technical training courses. These courses vary from one to nine months duration and cover such subjects as photography, weather, draftsman, and radar, to name only a few.

The Aviation Career Plan offers unlimited opportunities to progressive young men who desire to get ahead in a relatively new field of development.

Applications must include three letters of recommendation, a transcript of high school records and first, second and third choices of courses desired. For complete information, contact the Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, Post Office, Covington.

It is estimated that Spencer county farmers will seed 2,000 acres of alfalfa this spring.

Utopia Club Selects Name At Meeting

The Junior Utopia Club met last Thursday in the Florence Town Hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, David Tanner. Lucille Beall was elected secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of our former secretary, Jessie Stephenson. Beaver Lick was elected a director to replace Pat Scott, who will be away for the summer. Our best wishes are with you, Pat.

The charter members of the newly organized club were delighted to welcome nine new members, and invite all the young folks of the county to come out and enjoy our meetings.

We chose the name, "Carl W. Jones Utopia Club," in honor of our most worthy State leader. Watch our next news items for complete information regarding the work, play and life of Pop Jones.

The club extends sympathy to member Mary Helen Thompson, in the loss of her beloved father. Plans were made to ask several industrial arts classes to make "Crescents," the Utopia emblem, to be placed in our meeting place and at the gates of our fair grounds.

Due to conflicting dates of importance, Miss Gillaspie was absent, but before she left she prepared our refreshments. Thanks!

Next meeting will be May 13th in the Florence Town Hall and again we say, "Welcome, youth of Boone County."—Reporter.

Annual Report of Kenton County Soil Conservation District, 1947

The Board of Supervisors of the Kenton County Soil Conservation District, operating from Independence, has been in operation since June of 1942. The work is primarily and fundamentally for the saving of soil and water on farms of individual farms working through cooperative farm plans drawn up between the farmer and the district. To the present date 337 farms are operating under a complete plan of soil and water conservation.

The Soil Conservation Service, a Federal agency, has an arrangement with the Board of Supervisors of the district whereby trained technicians are furnished to the district to assist the farmers in planning, as well as in the execution of these plans for conservation farming.

A map is furnished the farmer with his farm plan, indicating a survey of the actual conditions concerning the soil, slope and the previous loss by erosion for each acre on the farm. This map serves by a system of color scheme the proper use to which each acre may best be suited for most economical use for future years. For example, steeply eroded areas are indicated for such use as pasture, grass or trees, while the ridge tops and lesser slopes are best suited for cultivation with proper use of terraces and contour cultivation in rotation with pasture or hay.

During 1947 the interest of Kenton county farmers has shown a Play Starts Saturday In S. S. League

The Boone County Sunday School Baseball League will begin play on its 24-game schedule on Saturday, April 17th. There will be nine teams in the loop this season, thus making it necessary for one team to draw a bye each week. Teams participating are Burlington, Florence, Union, Sand Run, Bullittsburg, and Bullittsville, Petersburg, Bellevue, Big Bone, and Verona.

After four games have been played in the regular season, each club will post an eligibility roster and games after May 15th will be umpired by the Cincinnati Umpire's Association.

Games will be called at 2:30 p. m. (EST), every Saturday, leaving the holidays to play off postponed games. There will be a complete list of managers and a complete schedule for the Verona team in this paper next week.

The Verona nine will meet Florence in the opener at the new Verona Community Club grounds. Come out for the opening game.

UTOPIA MEETING

The Boone County Utopia Club is to hold its regular meeting Thursday, April 22nd at 8:00 p. m., in the Burlington Courthouse.

The boys' group will discuss home gardens, and the girls' group will continue leather tooling study. All members are urged to attend.

New Spring Models on the Southern

Have you noticed?

It's Spring on the Southern's rails today ... and we're "all dressed up" with the 116 gleaming new Diesel locomotive units and 2,350 new freight cars we put in service last year at a cost of 24 1/2 million dollars.

You'll see them all over the South ... sweeping around bends ... clicking off the miles on the straight-a-ways ... brightly new, and forerunners of even more and better things to come.

And more are coming! This month we'll begin to get delivery on 3,000 new box cars, ordered a year ago. In July delivery will begin on 1,000 new 50-ton hopper cars. More Diesels and scores of new and modern passenger cars are coming too! New equipment now on order will cost 38 1/2 million dollars.

A lot of money? Sure. And most of it is borrowed money ... to be paid back on the installment plan, plus interest. We're borrowing against the future ... constantly improving the transportation service the South needs for continuing growth and prosperity ... because we have faith in the future ... here in the South.

'Input' Needed to Build Your Soil For Big Crop Yields

CHICAGO—"Input" as well as "stop-loss" measures are a must if you want to make soil management pay its own way and give you dividends, too, according to a statement made public here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"You can slow down water runoff, save some topsoil and plant food and hold back the march of erosion," says the statement, "by such Grass Waterway Is Good "Stop-Loss" Measure.

'stop-loss' steps as contour cultivation, strip cropping, terracing and building dams where necessary.

"These are key steps in soil-saving.

"But you need plenty of 'input,' too.

"That means organic matter from manure, green manure crops, deep-rooted legumes in the rotation and crop residues. It means the use of mixed fertilizers containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash as needed, to boost crop yields and the tonnage of organic matter returned to the soil.

"Among the 'input' steps, the growing of deep-rooted legumes is especially important. The tap-roots of well-fed legumes will push organic matter deep into the soil and improve the tilth in the top 18- to 25-inch soil layer. The legumes will open up tightly-packed soil and admit oxygen down under. By improving tilth and building organic matter, they will make the soil a better water reservoir for thirsty crops."

When the teacher inquired of her class the cause of the Revolutionary war, little Jimmie volunteered: "It had something to do with automobiles."

Deep-Rooted Legumes Vital in Rebuilding Soil Organic Matter

CHICAGO — Pointing out that "structure in soils is as important as the frame of a house," the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee declared that the way to repair damaged soil structure due to overcropping is to rebuild the organic matter supply.

The committee quotes a recent statement by Dr. D. R. Dodd of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station who recommended well-fed deep-rooted legumes and grasses as a means of restoring organic matter, improving tilth, and opening tightly-packed soil to air and rain water.

"Just as a building must have rooms, corridors, air shafts and ventilating passages," said Dr. Dodd, "so a soil must have air channels, water storage rooms, passageways for roots, etc. Without these the soil becomes a solid mass like a concrete slab or the lifeless earth in our paths and highways.

"Nature builds structure in a soil under sod. But this structure is rapidly destroyed in cultivated land. Yields decline with the destruction of soil structure."

Heavy stands of deep-rooted legumes and grasses are needed in the rotation to do a good job of rebuilding the organic matter supply and soil structure. The use of fertilizer containing phosphorus and potash and the return of manure and crop residues will help to insure such a heavy stand, the committee pointed out. Liming, based on soil tests, is likewise vital in getting a sturdier growth of legumes and grasses.

THE RETURN FROM EXILE
Lesson for April 18, 1948

SCRIPTURE: Ezra 1-4; Hagai. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 136:1-4.

COWPER'S lines come to mind as we study the dramatic return of the Jews from their exile in Babylon to Jerusalem in the first year of the reign of Cyrus, king of Persia, 536 B. C.:

"God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform; He plants His footsteps in the sea And rides upon the storm."

And yet it is not altogether strange, for if you will turn to Jeremiah 29:4-14, you will find a prophecy given 50 years before the event that this very thing would occur.

There were two other deportations of the Jews from Babylon, prior to the incident in our lesson—the return led by Daniel, 605 B. C., and the one led by Ezekiel, 597 B. C.

PROCLAMATION OF CYRUS
THE proclamation of Cyrus, Ezra 1:1-5, records the happy word to the Jews that they would not only return, but that the temple would be rebuilt. Cyrus called upon all the people who would to make offerings by which the temple might be restored. Cyrus was acting under divine impulse in this gracious and generous proclamation.

"The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth; and he hath charged me to build him an house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah," said Cyrus, Ezra 1:2.

Fifty thousand Jews, their hearts rejoicing at the thought of returning to the land of their fathers, set out on the trek of 600 miles, laden with gifts from the Persians for the restoration of the temple in Jerusalem. They could now sing the song of the Lord, and no longer did their harps hang silently on the willow trees.

THE DECREE OF ARTAXERXES
THE fourth chapter of Ezra brings us to the halting of the work on the temple, after they had raised the magnificent sum of approximately $400,000, and had laid the foundation for the temple, with imposing ceremonies.

This delay was occasioned by the jealousy of the Samaritans, who went to Artaxerxes, through employed counsel, and convinced him that it would be dangerous to allow these Jews to rebuild Jerusalem. At first, the Samaritans proposed that the Jews let them use the temple in joint worship, but the Jews feared the Samaritans and refused their offer. It was then that the Samaritans effected the delay in the building of the temple by the space of 14 years. Meanwhile, the Jews went forward with the building of their homes and reestablishing themselves and their civilization in Jerusalem.

STICKING TO ONE'S PURPOSE

WE come now to the part Hagai played in summoning the Jews to their duty and obligation to God to restore the temple. It was in the second year of the reign of Darius that Hagai received the word of the Lord. "Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your ceiled houses, and this house lie waste? Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your ways."

It was enough. The people rallied to the call of Hagai, and the temple was completed. Men can always do what they ought to do, if they will to do it.

GOD'S PURPOSE FULFILLED

THE message of Hagai was heeded. The temple was completed, Ezra 6:15-18, and God's purpose was fulfilled. Read Psalm 126. This brings us to the golden text: "No man, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God, Luke 9:62. When once the returned exiles felt the iron of God's purpose surging through their veins, they quitted themselves like men, and God's power was everywhere manifest. So may it ever be with us!

As We Achieve
The degree of success which we achieve in making effective our Christian education program in the life of this generation will determine whether future generations will be able to enjoy a society free from the distrust of religious intolerance, the indifference of race prejudice, and the bitterness of class hatred.—Walter W. Head.

Uncle Sam Says

What would you do if you learned that the worker next to you at the office or in the plant was taking home extra pay every payday and you could do the same? Your Uncle Sam needs only one guess. Well, the Payroll Savings Plan for Savings Bonds actually provides extra pay because it accumulates Savings Bonds for you which pay off at the rate of $4 for every $3 in 10 years. All you have to do is authorize your employer to hold back a stipulated amount which he will hand back to you in a better form of money—which earns interest—U. S. Savings Bonds. Savings Bonds extra pay. For example, if you take part of your pay in Savings Bonds at the rate of $3.75 per week, the Bonds become $5.16345 in 10 years. U. S. Treasury Department

Rebuild Soil Now While Income Is High, Farmers Told

CHICAGO—Now is the time to build up the soil, while dollars are cheap and farm income is high, according to a statement issued here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Dollars invested in soil replenishing practices such as commercial fertilizers," says the statement, "have greater purchasing power than if they are spent for building or other commodities."

"Prices of mixed fertilizers are 20 per cent below what they might otherwise be, had they increased in proportion to the prices of numerous other commodities analyzed in a study by Iowa State College agricultural economists based on U. S. Department of Commerce figures."

Life Expectancy Soars

During Past Century

Life expectancy of human beings today is nearly two-thirds more than it was a hundred years ago.

Answering those who claim chemicals added to the soil as fertilizers injure health, Dr. Firman E. Bear told the American plant food council that in 1850, before farmers began using commercial plant food, the average life expectancy at birth in the United States was 40 years.

"By 1900, when fertilizers were being used at the rate of over two million tons annually, our life expectancy had increased to 49 1/2 years," he said. "By 1940, with fertilizer consumption over eight million tons, life expectancy rose to 63 years; and in 1944, when fertilizer tonnage reached 12 million tons, life expectancy increased to 68 1/2 years."

Explaining why there is so much trouble with degenerative diseases of the heart, brain, liver, kidney and other vital organs, despite the increase in life expectancy, Dr. Bear said, "We are having more difficulty with the diseases of old age because we have more old people."

He added that in 1900 a total of 11 per cent of the people of the United States was 65 years of age or older, 6.8 per cent in 1940 and "it is estimated that 14.4 per cent of our population, or nearly 24 million people, will be 65 or older by 1980."

Canada is Developing

Big Tobacco Industry

According to the first official estimate of production, 148,380,000 pounds of tobacco will be harvested in Canada this season. This represents an increase of approximately 5,000,000 pounds over the record harvest last year of 141,384,000 pounds.

Flue-cured tobacco makes up the bulk of the crop and the current estimate sets production of this type for this year at 123,920,000 pounds. A total of 119,027,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco was harvested last season. Production of burley tobacco this season also shows an increase over last year. The crop is currently estimated at 14,175,000 pounds compared with 12,058,000 pounds in 1946. Dark tobacco crop this season also shows an increase over last year. The 1946 harvest was 30,000 pounds greater than in 1946, being estimated at 2,496,000 pounds.

Cigar tobacco production, however, is somewhat lighter this season. The crop at present is estimated at 4,000,000 pounds, compared with 4,438,000 pounds in 1946. Production of pipe tobacco also is expected to be lighter this season at 1,748,000 pounds. The 1946 harvest of this type amounted to 2,395,000 pounds.

Too Human

Among the visitors at the city zoo were a gentleman and his cousin from the mountain country. The grizzled mountaineer stood spell-bound, as he viewed the elephants, giraffes and various other animals and birds. It was with reluctance that he left one cage to go to another.

As they came to the monkey cage, however, our friend paused for only a moment, then hastened away.

"What's the hurry?" asked his companion, who loved to watch the monkeys.

"I didn't mind a-lookin' at the el'phants and sech," he explained, "but these w'al, they were a-lookin' at me!"

SHORT STORY

Biggest, Not Best

By ANNA WILSON

"I HAD him hooked and was playing him," Sol's voice drifted across the wisteria to Cal's porch as Cal held forth in the local store. "Then he went round that old rock that sticks out just beneath Calder's Bend and my line snapped. I just saw his tail flicker as he broke water with my hook still in his mouth and—well, you know how it is, boys." Cal could hear the laugh Sol always got when he talked of Old Rusty. "It's always the big one that gets away."

Never knew a man so set on catching Rusty as Sol was—used to spend a lot of time fixing up fancy flies and such, but he never had a bit of luck. Used to swear the big fish laughed at him, especially after the big picnic.

The picnic was over at Calder and everybody knew that both Sol and Jim were brothers. Sol was so up and coming while Jim was tall, lanky and never looked much in his clothes, but steady, with a slow smile.

Cal had gone down the stream to sit by the big elm when Sol and Nancy came down. Sol was pleading with Nancy and once it looked as if she was giving in.

"I'm not sure, Sol," Nancy was a fool and didn't want to make a mistake. "The things you do don't seem so terribly important but they show up a lot—but in marriage a man needs—"

"What does a man need, Nancy?" Sol's voice shook.

"Oh, courage and endurance and sportsmanship—a lot of things."

Her eyes suddenly lit up. "Tell you what, Sol, everybody here has tried to catch Old Rusty. Let me see you try."

Sol went off for his line and Nancy came and sat down by Cal. She looked downright miserable.

OLD RUSTY always lay out under a big rock right across from where Nancy sat with Uncle Cal. Sol spent all of 20 minutes trying out flies. He was satisfied at last, and cast with a flourish. It seemed as if Sol had all the luck in the world for Old Rusty rose to the fly and snapped. Sol let out a whoop, and started to play the big fish that rushed away downstream and Sol followed letting out his reel. Rusty made straight for that sharp old limestone outcrop and snared the line. Cal could hear Sol losing his temper and floundering in the brush and it came to him that Rusty must have got away.

"Well, Nancy," said Cal, placidly, "it's not likely Rusty'll bite again. Maybe, we should go and say something to Sol." Just then Sol came back, his face red and angry and a gaping rip in his pants, revealing a long, angry scratch. Nancy's indecision was forgotten as she started to patch up Sol, dabbing him with iodine from Cal's pocket kit. It did look as if Nancy had at last made up her mind, but just then someone called for Sol to come and meet Senator Rand. Sol went off, patting Nancy's hand.

"It'll just fix the senator up, Nancy, and be right back—boy, we'll have something to tell them, won't we, honey?" He laughed at Nancy's desperate, "Wait, Sol."

Somewhere they had forgotten about Jim—the moss was so soft that they came right up behind him unseen.

"Rusty," Nancy scarcely breathed for Jim was playing the big fish—he played it steadily, firmly, without moving and this time the big fish knew he'd met his master as Jim reeled him in.

It was fighting desperately as Jim took it and he detached the two hooks from its mouth gently—then Jim did a funny thing. "You're a grand fighter, Rusty," he said softly, and threw the big fish back in.

Cal and Nancy stole away quietly on the soft grass. Nancy was thoughtful, you could tell.

Yes, folks said afterwards that Sol looked higher than Nancy Brain when he married the senator's daughter, but Cal smiled cagily when Nancy married Jim.

Uncle Sam Says

How many things have you had to forego because you did not save money to pay for them? Perhaps in your own experience you missed an unusual opportunity to get ahead or to make a dream come true. You simply didn't have enough money. Millions of Americans are buying Savings Bonds either on the partial payment plan where they work or on the Bond-A-Month Plan whereby your bank deducts the full amount of a Bond monthly from the money you have on deposit. They will be ready for opportunities, but how about you?

U. S. Treasury Department

Blackface Artist

Publisher James Gordon Bennett was intolerant of fighting, a practice all too frequently followed in the old rough-and-ready days of Journalism.

Thus, one of the printers who showed up at work one morning with a well-blacked eye, knew that he must conceal it or be fired. In a moment of inspiration, he smeared his entire face with ink.

Bennett noticed him immediately. "What are we paying that man?" he asked the foreman.

"Double it! It's obvious that he's doing more work than anyone else in the plant!"

LODGING A PROTEST

The enraged diner banged on the table with his fist. A waiter approached and inquired suavely, "What, may I ask, is the trouble?" "A mouse just took a piece of cheese off that plate!" he snorted. "I demand satisfaction."

The waiter bowed low. "I'm sorry to hear this, sir," he apologized. "I shall speak to the mouse about this immediately!"

DISEASE-RESISTANT LEAF BOOSTS INCOME

Farmers in Spencer county growing root-resistant varieties of tobacco realized about $68 more per acre than those growing other varieties, the disease-resistant kinds averaging 1,193 pounds an acre and selling for $609, while non-root-resistant varieties yielded 1,032 pounds, with an income of $542. Farm Agent N. L. Goebel reports that a survey made among tobacco growers indicates that Ky. 16 was the leading variety in both acreage and income per acre.

Farmers using 1,000 pounds or more of fertilizer per acre had the highest yields and incomes. Likewise, farmers using vetch or crimson clover cover crops came out on top.

A check-up of seed dealers in the county indicates that more than 90 percent of the tobacco produced in the county this year will be disease-resistant varieties.

LEAFLET DEALS WITH REDUCING FOOD WASTE

"Don't Waste Food," a leaflet published by the college of Agriculture and Home Economics, U. of Ky., says that one slice of bread wasted each day by each family in Kentucky would mean a total waste of about 17,500 loaves of bread in a year.

"If each family in Kentucky wasted only three tablespoons of flour a day," in continues, "the total wasted in a year would be over 5,000 tons of flour, or about 194 freight-car loads."

In the leaflet Florence Imlay and Pearl Haak, extension food specialists, discuss ways to prevent food waste. These include a plan for buying, care in preparing food, serving of balanced meals, and use of leftovers, followed with a number of recommended recipes.

CALLED MEETING OF RED CROSS HELD

A called meeting of the Boone County Red Cross at the Florence Town Hall on Tuesday night, April 16th was for the purpose of setting up Disaster Relief, under the leadership of G. R. Scott and R. G. Eades, co-chairmen. Mr. David Tanner, president of the Junior Utopia Club, offered the services of himself and his members wherever and whenever they can be used. As a beginning, Mr. Tanner took Mrs. Nestor, Executive Secretary of the county chapter, in his car and they made a survey of the entire Boone County river front, about 50 miles. Mr. G. R. Scott contacted radio station WZIP and newspapers, instructing Boone county people where to call for assistance.

The four obligations of the Red Cross are food, shelter, clothing and medical care. Untinted thanks is due both the Senior and Junior Utopia Clubs, represented by David Tanner and Sam Blackburn, and everybody else who helped, for their untiring efforts to reach every body in need of help. After this example of the material benefits derived from the Red Cross, the chapter is asking that any person who was not contacted for a donation, but is minded to give, to send it to Mrs. Allen Conner, Florence, Ky.—Pub. Chn.

New Spring Models on the Southern

Have you noticed?

It's Spring on the Southern's rails today... and we're "all dressed up" with the 116 gleaming new Diesel locomotive units and 2,350 new freight cars we put in service last year at a cost of 24½ million dollars.

You'll see them all over the South... sweeping around bends... clicking off the miles on the straight-a-ways... brightly new, and forerunners of even more and better things to come.

And more are coming! This month we'll begin to get delivery on 3,000 new box cars, ordered a year ago. In July delivery will begin on 1,000 new 50-ton hopper cars. More Diesels and scores of new and modern passenger cars are coming too! New equipment now on order will cost 38¼ million dollars.

A lot of money? Sure. And most of it is borrowed money... to be paid back on the installment plan, plus interest. We're borrowing against the future... constantly improving the transportation service the South needs for continuing growth and prosperity... because we have faith in the future... here in the South.

Conquests of Channel

Only 14 years after Samuel Morse patented electric telegraphy in 1837, a cable was laid on the English channel floor, providing telegraph communication between London and Paris. An outstanding channel conquest of 1945 was Operation Pluto. This wartime project made it possible to lay undersea pipelines in a matter of hours between points on the British and French coasts. Twenty were laid, capable of carrying up to a million gallons of gasoline a day to the Allied Expeditionary forces. A channel challenge unmet is the centuries-old idea of a tunnel or bridge joining England and France. Napoleon I and II liked the tunnel idea, which reached actual work stage in 1882. Work was suspended the next year, but the idea has persisted and even now is under official study.

Arid Island of Aruba

The Netherlands island of Aruba, which is petitioning Queen Wilhelmina for home rule, is a West Indies pin point with the giant job of speeding to market the modern global necessity, oil. Dutch is the official language, but Spanish, English and French also are spoken. Native Arubans, of basic Carib-Indian stock, have an international patois of their own, called Papiamentu. Aruba is only a little larger in area than Washington, D. C. A barren coral and lava speck, for centuries it was hampered in its development through lack of fresh water and the high winds that blow away most of the top soil. The islands show the effects of the continuous trade winds from the northeast. The branches and foliage of divi-divi trees, for example, extend far out on one side.

Australia Will Harness

Waterways for Power
Australia's 1,500 mile Murray river with its tributaries, the Darling and the Murrumbidgee, forms the only sizable inland river system of Australia. At certain times of the year the waters fall to a very low level, while, at the same time, the Snowy river might be in flood. The Snowy rises on Mount Kosciusko, which is high enough to precipitate moisture from the clouds and which provides a huge field of feed for the feed the river when the rest of the country is dry. The Snowy flows southward to meet the sea near Marlo on the southeast coast of Victoria. At the present time its waters run to waste.

A new plan calls for development of a huge hydro-electric and irrigation project estimated to cost 212 million dollars. Between the proposed point of intake in the Snowy to the headwaters of the Murray there is a fall of something like 2,000 feet, so that gravity will take the water through a 25-mile tunnel through the Australian Alps. A series of power stations will use the water to generate a total of 750,000 horsepower.

Taking No Chances

Pancho and an Irishman named Pat were caught rustling cattle over the border, and after a summary trial were sentenced to be hanged. When the boys strung up Pancho, the rope slipped and he fell into the river below, rapidly swimming around a curve and making his escape.

Chagrined, the posse turned to string up Pat, who cautioned them: "Boys, be sure yez tie a better knot this time. It's meself that can't swim a stroke."

CHICAGO—Fertilizing barley with the plant food it needs is a profitable investment, yield records from several midwestern agricultural colleges reveal. As many as 20 more bushels of barley on some soils in favorable years have come from the use of fertilizer, according to a statement issued here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. How big the increases are depends on how fertile the soil is at the start and how favorable conditions are during the growing season.

Adding needed plant food boosted barley yields in Iowa by 15 bushels per acre. Experiments in Michigan showed 16 bushels increase. In Wisconsin fertilizer boosted yields an average of 14 bushels per acre. In South Dakota nitrogen and phosphate boosted barley yields by 15 bushels.

Top yields most generally give top quality, too, says the statement. And when this extra quality is combined with proper seed and careful threshing, farmers can get a premium price for the barley as maltng barley.

The right kind and amount of fertilizer to use depends on the kind of soil you have and the way you have handled it in the past. You can find the kind of fertilizer needed for your crops by consulting your county agricultural agent, state agronomist, and by checking with your neighbors who have used fertilizer on barley.

Drilled-In Fertilizer Helps Barley Crop Get Quick Start in Spring

CHICAGO—The fertilizers farmers use on barley and other small grains will give larger increases in yield per pound of fertilizer if the plant food is put on with a fertilizer attachment on the grain drill, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee in a statement issued here.

With the drill the fertilizer is applied more or less in bands, close to the seed. The plants get a quick start in the spring and are better able to compete with the soil for the plant food.

Another way to get bigger increases from the same amount of fertilizer is to use it on soil with good structure—where legumes and grasses have been used regularly in the rotation. Plant food in the soil will be used only as the roots reach out to it. And good tilth is needed for strong roots.

Large amounts of fertilizer high in nitrogen drilled with the barley and small grains may injure the seed. The amounts that can be drilled with the seeds without injury vary from soil to soil, says the statement. The committee advises that farmers check with their state agronomists and county agents for recommendations on the kind, amount and method of application of fertilizer.

Winter Storage of Plant Food to Aid '48 Spring Planting

CHICAGO — Farmers can have fertilizer "on hand" for their 1948 spring planting if they will order plant food early and store it on their farms this winter, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee in a statement made public here.

Fertilizers can be stored in good condition provided a few simple precautions are followed, the statement says. The committee lists these five rules for storing plant food:

1. Store the fertilizer only in the barn or some other dry building that has flooring off the ground.
2. Do not pile bags of fertilizer directly on earth or cement floors.
3. Stack the bags closely together. This will reduce the circulation of air from which the fertilizer absorbs moisture.
4. Do not stack the bags too high. The pressure of the bags on top will tend to cake the fertilizer on the bottom of the pile.
5. Keep broken bags separate from the main pile. Loose fertilizer is likely to absorb moisture.

Increase Tree Farms
Certification of 14 new western pine, 5 southern pine and 19 Tennessee tree farms plus the addition of more than 100,000 acres to four industrial tree farms in Texas, pushed the nation-wide total to more than 1,250 units with about 14,250,000 acres. With numerous dedications planned, including the first certifications in Virginia and Pennsylvania, tree farms should be past the 15 million acre mark within a few months.

Photographs in the Dark
Photographs may be taken in the dark, with still or motion pictures, by infrared radiation, which consists of waves like those of light but of greater length, so that they are not visible. Specially sensitized film is required. During the war, infrared photoflash bulbs were introduced to take photographs during blackouts. These were bulbs of the ordinary type, provided with a coating which absorbed visible light. Filters which are opaque to the eye, but quite transparent to the infrared, may be obtained and used over ordinary flash or flood lamps to provide a source of the invisible rays.

Received a Buck Yearly

William Caxton, who was born about 1422, was England's first printer. He learned printing in Cologne and printed his Recuyell about 1474. Returning to England in 1476, he established a press at Westminster and issued an indulgence by Abbot Sant that year, the first known piece of printing from Caxton press in England. In 1477 he issued the first dated book printed in England. From his patron, the earl of Arundel, he received, as part payment for printing one of his books, a promise to give him each summer a buck, and each winter a doe.

600 Attend
Homemakers'
District Meet

Approximately 600 women from nine Northern Kentucky counties attended the meeting at Summit Hills Country Club, Thursday, April 22nd. This was the first meeting of the newly organized Northern Kentucky District of Kentucky Federation of Homemakers, and Mrs. Leo Flynn of Walton, retiring district director, was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. W. J. Mara of Southgate, was elected to be the new director of this district, and Mrs. McCauley of Harrison County was elected secretary.

There was eighty-four Homemakers from Boone County present. The principal speaker at this district meet was Mrs. Lucille Canterbury of Chicago, a practicing psychologist. She stressed the point of discovering one's self in order to be happy and successful. "The thing that makes most people unhappy is worry. Learn that yesterday is dead, and tomorrow unborn. Do your best to obtain joy today, because joy is nature's sign of showing that one's abilities are being used to the fullest," was advice given to the women.

Miss Myrtle Weldon of Lexington State leader of demonstration agents, showed colored pictures of the convention of International Women of the World last summer in Holland, where she was a delegate, with 12 other Kentucky women.

Mrs. W. K. Horris, Christian County, president of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers, spoke on "Good Citizens."

Mrs. Curtis Moore of Erlanger led the group singing, and vocal selections were given by a quartet of Harrison county women. Mrs. Porter Carroll, Mrs. Eugene Craig, Mrs. Raymond Ward and Mrs. Wood Taylor.

Miss Zelma Byerly, Kenton county home demonstration agent, and members of the county clubs were in charge of arrangements.

Butter-Oleo
Makers Differ
As To Coloring

No manufacturer would regard without protest efforts of a competitor to use his patents, trademarks, or his reputation. Butter has no quarrel with oleomargarine as long as it does not attempt to infringe upon the color which is not only butter's natural trademark but the consumer's safeguard against fraud and deception.

When the oleomargarine manufacturer says that he should be granted the right to use yellow color without restriction, because consumers are accustomed to a yellow spread, he actually means that he wants to infringe upon a good will and consumer acceptance created by butter. If his product possesses the merits he claims for it, why hasn't he been able after all these years to create an acceptance for white oleomargarine or oleomargarine with some other color than yellow? By his very demand for the privilege of coloring his product yellow, he admits his inability to sell his product on its own merits and gives further admission of only recognition that butter is the symbol of good living.

It is amazing that so many consumers should be so victimized by high priced oleo propaganda that they should fail to realize that this country has ever witnessed. Furthermore, they are risking the possibility of losing far more than they hope to gain. Cows do not give skim milk, but a milk which contains butterfat. If the farmer has no market for the butterfat contained in that part of the total milk production which is not utilized as fluid milk, cheese and other whole milk products, but which must be utilized as butter, he will be forced by weight of economic pressure to go out of the dairy business.

Mike Ryan, pitching for Verona, fanned 14 men, allowed 5 hits, but with four errors and four walks during the game, Big Bone racking up 6 runs, only one of which was earned.

$1,500 Goal
In County
For Cancer

The goal for Boone County in the drive by the Kentucky Division of the American Cancer Society for funds with which to carry out its great work, has been set at $1,500. April has been designated as Cancer Month.

There will be no house-to-house canvass made in Walton or Verona this year in the cancer-control work, instead it is hoped to reach the adult community through the schools and business houses, and families who do not have children in school will find literature and an opportunity to contribute at the following business houses:

In Walton—at:
Hamilton & Jones Hardware
Stephens Restaurant
Dr. H. F. Mann's office
J. M. Huey's office
Roberts Grocery
Artistic Dry Cleaners

In Verona—at:
Chandler & Haydon Store
The Kentucky Medical Association is greatly concerned over the continued high rate of deaths from cancer. Last year statistical reports show that there were 17 in Boone County alone, who died of cancer.

There were only three deaths from tuberculosis and none from infantile paralysis.

It is most necessary that the public recognize that cancer is the greatest killer we have today, and therefore deserves the most support.

Verona to Meet
Walton, Sunday

The Verona Community Club baseball club opened its 1948 season last Sunday, when they were hosts to the Bob & Gene team of Florence. A large crowd was on hand to witness the opening festivities and were treated to a really "light" ball game, which was not settled until the 11th inning, when Ivan Gulley singled home the winning run. The final count was 5-4 in favor of Verona.

Bob & Gene was first to draw blood, scoring a pair of runs in the second inning. However, Verona came back in the fourth to tie the score at 2-2. This was short-lived as the visitors scored one run in the fifth and one in the sixth frame to make the count 4-2. Again Verona came from behind, scoring twice in the seventh to again knot the count at 4-4, and with two out in the 11th inning, brought home the winning run.

Ivan Gulley did the pitching for Verona, and was nipped for 11 hits. He struck out 14 men and issued 2 passes. Punn was on the hill for Bob & Gene and was touched for 9 safeties. He struck out 8 batters and also walked two.

McArthur and Horton were "top sticks" for the losers, each getting two hits in six tries. For Verona, Ivan Gulley collected 3 for 6 and Bud Robinson, 2 for 4. A couple of pinch-hitters also came through for the winners. Tommy Morgan singled for Dempsey in the fifth, and "Maule" Meador, better known as John, hit for Vest in the seventh and hit for the circuit, which was good for 2 runs... and they laughed when he came to bat.

The fielding gem of the contest was Bud Robinson's catch of a long fly in left and his throw to the plate, nipping a runner who tried to score from third after the catch, for the game's only twin killing.

Verona vs. Walton, Sunday

On Sunday, May 2nd the Verona club will play its second game in the Benke Semi-Pro league, with the Walton Travelers furnishing the opposition. The game will start at 2:30 p. m. Ivan Gulley will be on the mound for the home team, and Worthington is expected to serve them for the Waltonians.

SPECIAL RIGHTS OF WOMEN UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY ACT

The special rights of women under the Federal Social Security Act were stressed by Edward Bolte, Field Representative of the Covington office of the Social Security Administration. He explained that many women do not realize that cash payments may be due them as the result of their own or their husband's employment. It is important for every woman to know of these resources at the time of retirement of herself or her husband, or upon the death of her husband or child since family financial problems usually bear most heavily on the wife, widow, or mother.

An unmarried woman 65 years of age or older, who is retiring from a job under the Social Security Act, may receive monthly benefits based on her own wage record. If married, she may also qualify for monthly payments as the wife of an insured retired wage earner. She is paid the larger of these two amounts.

The Social Security Act provides monthly benefits under certain conditions for a widow 65 or over, as well as for a young widow who has in her care one or more children, including adopted children and stepchildren of the deceased wage earner. If there are no such survivors, these aged mothers and fathers, who were chiefly dependent on the wage earner before the latter's death, may receive parent's monthly insurance benefits. Finally, the widow, at any age may be entitled to a lump-sum benefit. If neither she nor the children of the wage earner are entitled to the monthly benefits.

Potential beneficiaries should not forget that before any type of benefits can be paid, an application must be filed. Prompt inquiry should be made of the nearest Social Security Administration office for complete information about eligibility for benefits. Mr. Bolte visits Erlanger and Williamstown on the third Thursday of each month and is in the Erlanger Post Office from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m. and in the Williamstown Post Office from 1:00 to 2:00 p. m. on these days.

Nehemiah Rebuilds Jerusalem

Lesson for May 2, 1948

BORN and reared in Persia, Nehemiah appears in the opening scene of his prophecy as cup bearer to King Artaxerxes in the royal palace at Shushan. He was a favorite at court, due, no doubt, to his personality and training, plus a keen desire to serve his people. He obtained a royal order from Artaxerxes, granting him passage to Jerusalem. It was a long and dangerous journey, but Nehemiah traveled not only with letters from the king, but assurance in his heart that he was on the Lord's mission. He was given authority to seek help from other nations. Just how much help he received from other nations is not definitely certified, but we do know that he achieved the high purpose which God had put in his heart. He governed the city wisely for a dozen years, and wrought many notable reforms. Read the first seven chapters of Nehemiah for the complete story. Read also Psalms 122:1-9.

WHEN FRIENDS WORK TOGETHER UPON arrival in Jerusalem, Nehemiah made a tour of the city by night. He was shocked and amazed at the ruins. He called upon the people to come and help rebuild the walls. And they were impressed with the earnestness and sincerity and courage of his call. "So built we the wall; and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof; for the people had a mind to work," Nehemiah 4:8.

There is hope for everyone who is of a willing mind. There is work in the home. Boys and girls who pitch in and share in the everyday work of the home make glad the hearts of their parents, and at the same time they are learning how to care for their own homes when they grow up.

STRENGTH AND ENCOURAGEMENT NEHEMIAH set the people together in families, with tools for work and weapons for defense against the enemy. And in this union of numbers there was both strength and courage. We need to learn to learn the lesson of working together. So often we witness evidence of people pulling against one another. We see it in the home and in the school and in the wider world of life—in politics and in the clash between capital and labor.

THOSE WHO OPPOSED NEHEMIAH OUR lesson describes not only the courage and wisdom of Nehemiah in getting the Jews to work and work together, but it tells us about those who opposed the rebuilding of Jerusalem. Sanballat was the governor of Samaria, and when he heard that Nehemiah was rebuilding Jerusalem, he put in to defeat him by many schemes of sabotage.

He began with ridicule. "What do these feeble Jews?" he scoffingly asked. Ridicule is always one of the weapons of those who would tear down and destroy. Young people will do well to guard themselves against the snare of cynicism. It is a dangerous thing. Sanballat and his cohorts, Tobiah, and certain Arabians and Ammonites and Ashdodites, conspired to hinder Nehemiah in many devious attacks; but the people worked and fought, in the same of the Lord.

WHAT MAKES A REAL LEADER? THIS is the question which will readily arise as we study this lesson. How could one man inspire people to undertake the impossible? First, Nehemiah relied implicitly upon God's help. Second, he threw himself into the task, fearlessly and intelligently. Third, he possessed the quality of inspiring faith and hope in others. These are the qualities that make a real leader, anywhere, any time.

How we do need such leaders to lead! And the Bible speaks to us in the story of Nehemiah, reminding us how real leaders are produced. Read the 122nd Psalm. Here is the secret of it all—"They shall prosper that love thee." Every difficulty confronting the home, the community, the nation, the world, can be met and mastered, provided we tackle it in the name of the Lord, relying upon his wisdom, his strength, his power.

Low Wheat Prospects, Big '48 Food Demand, Spurs Need for Ordering Plant Food Early

CHICAGO—Prospects for a lower winter wheat yield in the West due to scanty autumn rains were cited as a reason why farmers should make immediate arrangements for their 1948 fertilizer supplies.

"With the outlook for another bumper wheat crop dimmed by unfavorable weather," says a statement made public by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, "the need for higher production of other feed grains will be more critical than ever. Fertilizer will play a vital part in making possible that bigger output."

"That is why it is so important for farmers to heed the 'Order Early' slogan for plant food supplies."

"Only by teamwork between farmers and producers can every pound of available plant food be distributed in time to do the most good in promoting peak food production in 1948."

"For farmers, that means ordering now, taking delivery during the coming months and storing the fertilizer in their barns until spring seeding time. By doing this, farmers will have their plant food when and where they need it most."

The statement points out that in addition to its benefits in boosting per acre crop yields, fertilizer is Plant Food Will Boost Crop Output.

"One of the best buys a farmer can make today."

"Farm production cost studies by Purdue University's department of agricultural extension showed that the price of fertilizer per ton had risen only 36 per cent above pre-war levels," says the statement. "Prices of all goods and services needed in farm production have increased an average of 85 per cent since 1935-39."

The Flippin Homemakers Club in Monroe county raised $240 for the improvement of the local cemetery.

Nine farmers in Montgomery county produced more than 100 bu. of corn to the acre last year.

SOMETHING MORE . . .

Selecting a funeral director is not a simple commercial transaction; a certain degree of sentiment attaches to the matter, and it is therefore quite essential that the funeral director is selected with care.

Nature's Deceptions

Cited by Astronomer

So well has man been fooled by the illusions of nature that he has only in very recent times begun to see through these deceptions, points out Dr. W. F. Meyer, astronomer of University of California.

For example, the sun can be seen for several minutes when it is actually below the visible horizon because of the bending of its light rays by the earth's atmosphere. Thus the sun "rises" several minutes before it is above the eastern horizon and "sets" several minutes after it has gone below the western horizon, lengthening the day from four to eight minutes at the expense of the night.

The sun, the planets and stars never are seen where they actually are, because of the time required for light to travel through great distances of space. The sun always is seen where it was eight and one-third minutes ago—the time it takes light to travel the 93 million miles from sun to earth. During these minutes the earth travels nearly 10,000 miles from the position when the light left the sun.

Similarly, the light sent out 450 years ago from the pole star, Polaris, still is serving mariners and aviators in locating the position of a ship or plane at night. Polaris has traveled an enormous distance since that time.

Big Electrical Demand

The day when manufacturers of electrical equipment by-passed the farm to reach the city customer has vanished. The present farm market is tremendous in size. One basis for this statement can be found in figures giving the estimated annual sales of typical farm electrification products during the next five years. For example, manufacturers estimate that farmers in each year in this five-year period will purchase 300,000 water pressure systems, 125,000 milking machines, 75,000 cream separators, 30,000 milk coolers, 40,000 feed grinders, 125,000 chick brooders, 20,000 irrigation systems, 135,000 farm and home freezers, 25,000 walk-in coolers and equipment for operating 13,000 barn hay curing installations.

Unique Spire of Salisbury

The 404-foot spire of Salisbury cathedral, recently pronounced in a perilous condition, tops a structure unique in England as the work of a single generation. Unlike many edifices which have required centuries for completion, the Salisbury cathedral—started in 1220—was built in about 40 years. National Geographic society points out that it has a door for every month, a window for every day, a column for every hour in the year. The graceful spire has withstood the buffeting of many a strong wind, but it cracked during a storm in 1930.

IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST FEDERAL OLEO LAWS SHOULD BE RETAINED

Federal laws impose certain taxes on oleomargarine. Originally passed only after careful consideration, these laws are in the interest of the general public. They should be retained because . . .

1 The present laws are not restrictive. Government figures show that since 1941 oleo sales have more than doubled and retail outlets have increased 64 per cent. No hardship is worked on the consumer who prefers oleo since the 10c tax is imposed only when oleo is colored yellow. On the uncolored variety the tax is only 1/4c per lb., paid by the manufacturer.

2 The present laws prevent fraud. To permit colored oleo without the present regulatory Federal laws would invite widespread substitution of an imitation for the genuine article. The Pure Food and Drug Laws have no jurisdiction if the frauds are practised within state borders.

3 Repeal would seriously damage our economic system. One out of every 15 U. S. families depends on dairying for a livelihood and milk (including butter) is the largest single source of all farm cash income. Uncontrolled competition of a low-cost imitation would hurt milk and butter prices and drive many farmers out of dairying.

4 Repeal would not benefit American agriculture in any way. The oleo industry accounts for only 5% of the farm returns from soybeans and only 1 1/4% of the farm returns for the total cotton crop. Soybean oil and cottonseed oil bring just as much when sold for other uses (paint, shortening, etc.).

5 Repeal would not benefit consumers. If present laws were repealed, there would be nothing to prevent the colored product from being sold at substantially higher prices than the uncolored. Already (in Washington, D. C.) colored oleo, on which the tax is only 10c per lb., was sold at 14c to 20c more per lb. than uncolored brands.

6 Other laws give oleo a competitive advantage. These laws permit oleo to be "fortified" with vitamins, flavored with butter-flavor, and preserved with benzoate of soda. None of these may be added to butter.

7 Other butter imitations are taxed. Why should oleo be exempted? Adulterated and renovated butter—which, like oleo, are imitations of good butter—carry the same per pound processing and occupational taxes as oleo. No valid reason has been advanced why oleo should be the exception among butter substitutes.

8 Butter is naturally yellow. Oleo is not. Butter is always yellow. At some seasons of the year it is less yellow than at others, but when color is added to butter it is merely for the sake of uniformity—not for the purpose of making it look like some other product.

The oleo industry claims it must bleach these oils white because of federal laws. Actually when turned into fat cotton seed oils become grey and soybean oils become green. The oleo manufacturers must bleach out the grey and green colors. It is impossible to produce a natural yellow oleo from domestic oils.

9 Repeal would set a bad precedent. Repeal would give government sanction to the theory that an imitation food product is legitimate. The question of the relative nutritional values of oleomargarine and butter has no bearing on the issue.

Don't Let's Fool Ourselves!

In certain parts of Europe horsemeat is a recognized food, but it is sold as such and the consumer isn't fooled into thinking he's getting beefsteak. If the American consumer prefers oleo, that's his prerogative, but — let him know what he's eating. Horsemeat is not beefsteak in any language, and oleo is not butter no matter how skillfully disguised. Present Federal oleo laws were good when first enacted. They are still good. It is to the public interest that they be retained.

Cincinnati Reds to Receive "Crucial" Test at Home

While it may be a misnomer to use the term "crucial" at such an early date in the season, that's just about what Johnny Neun's Cincinnati Reds are facing in the National League schedule next week.

On Monday, May 3, the New York Giants bring their powerful home-run offense to town for the season's initial night game marking the opening of the first Eastern invasion of Crosley Field. During the following ten days the Reds will defend the home lot against the onslaught of the potent Gothamites, the Boston Braves, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies.

With three members of the Atlantic Seaboard quartet, the Giants, Braves and Dodgers, tabbed as strong pennant contenders in the pre-season dope, and the Phillies defying the "experts" by currently riding along near the top of the ladder, Cincinnati's club will live in for a stern early-season test.

Following the mazda contest, the Reds meet the Giants again on Wednesday in the season's second Ladies' Day game. On Thursday, Bill Southworth brings his Braves in for single games the next three days and the Phillies follow on May 9, opening the series with the second Sunday double-header of the year. Ben Chapman's Quaker City contingent plays at Crosley Field on Tuesday, May 11 and the following day the Dodgers hit town for a night game Wednesday and an afternoon contest Thursday.

The Reds' downtown ticket office at 307 Vine Street, is accepting orders by mail for all games through the early-May home stand and tickets for these contests are on sale and may be obtained at any time.

Foxes have become a problem among poultry producers in Butler county.

OLEO CONTROVERSY EXPLAINED—DAILY FARMERS CONCERNED WITH OUTCOME

Eventually this will mean much higher priced milk on our tables—or are we to expect that by that time we will also have a fake milk made with coconut oil and skim milk? The same high-pressure propaganda which has brought about the present demand for yellow oleomargarine can make a lot of people believe that a substitute for cow's milk can be manufactured. There is no saying that 22 multi-million dollar corporations can do it if they try hard enough—the same 22 that make this country's oleomargarine and which are now spending huge sums to secure passage of laws giving them the right to doctor their products with color designed to make it look like butter.

Oleomargarine propagandists say they want the right to color their product yellow because consumers are accustomed to a yellow spread on their bread; and they deny that they want to color their product yellow so that it may be sold in imitation of butter. Why, then, did they demand (and succeed in obtaining) the right to use a chemical which imparts the characteristic flavor of butter? They secured that privilege when Paul V. McNutt was administrator of the Federal Security Administration; they were not given that right by Congress nor by the will of the people. But why did they ask for the right to use diacetyl, which imparts a butter-like flavor? Why a butter flavor? The answer must be obvious. Just how long people of the United States will be deceived by this vicious propaganda remains to be determined. They will be deceived just as long as they lack knowledge of the true facts—knowledge which they won't get from the oleomargarine propagandists.

The Williamsport 4-H Club in Johnson county set 5,000 pine seedlings on steep hillside land.

H. Groger for the Hands Pike area.

Verona Loses 13-5 Saturday In SS League

The Verona Community Club baseball team was host to the Petersburg team last Saturday, and came out on the little end of a 13-5 score. (Pap) Shields started on the mound for Verona, but was switched to catching in the fourth inning. He was relieved by Chessman.

Verona pitching had little support from the playing field, as nine errors were committed by the losers. Campbell pitched very good ball for Petersburg, allowing six hits and striking out 19 batters. Chessman and Huey hit home runs for the long drives of the day.

The final score: Petersburg, 13 runs, 12 hits, 2 errors; Verona, 5 runs, 6 hits, and 9 errors.

Verona draws a bye this coming Saturday, but will have a practice game at the Verona park.

The management wishes to thank donors who have contributed this week to the Verona Community Club in order to buy uniforms for the Sunday School team. The uniforms will possibly be worn in the next scheduled game at Bullittsville May 15th. The donors are:

Walton Loses To Verona, Sunday 8-1

The Verona entry in the Benke Semi-Pro Baseball League had no difficulty in trimming the Travelers of Walton, last Sunday at the winner's park, 8-1. This was the second win for Verona in league competition.

Verona used three pitchers and Walton two, Mike Ryan, a High School youngster, started on the hill for the winners, and pitched four hitless-runless innings. He was followed by Ivan Guiley, who worked three frames, allowing one hit and no runs. Cliff Atterlier hurled the final two innings and he was nicked for one hit and a run.

Worthington started on the hill for Walton and pitched four innings, giving up 7 hits, good for five runs. The next four innings were hurled by "Lefty" Caldwell, who was nicked for 3 hits, good for 3 runs.

Slugging honors went to Bud Robinson, Verona left-fielder, who rapped out 2 doubles and a single in four swings. Brown had a single and double in three tries, and Wimpy Lucas collected a pair of singles in four attempts. Walton's two hits, both doubles, were garnered by Bill Robinson and Mike Vest.

Fat's Cafe will visit Verona, Sunday, May 9th and a good game is looked for, as the "Fat Boy" usually had a pretty fair ball club. The contest will get under way at 2:30. The club announced the receipt of a $50.00 donation from Bill Alexander.

At Meeting With County Judges

Kentucky's road program for the remainder of 1948 must necessarily be one of highway maintenance and moderate spending, rather than widespread road building, Highway Commissioner, Garrett L. Withers told a group of county judges in Frankfort, last week.

"Road building conditions in Kentucky now are not good," the Commissioner said. "Concerning financial condition, a false impression has been formed that we have a large surplus. The surplus which was accumulated during the war years, was spent prior to this year."

Approximately 30 judges were assembled in the Commissioner's Office in response to his request for a meeting at which county and state road problems might be discussed directly with county officials.

"If we are careless about building new roads now without keeping in mind maintenance of existing roads, the state eventually will have more roads than it is possible to maintain satisfactorily," Mr. Withers said. "We must be cautious and businesslike in the building of new roads and continue the policy of first roads first."

The Commissioner pointed out that none of the revenue from the increased gasoline tax will be spent before next year and there is a probability that the next federal appropriation of highway money may not be available before July 1, 1949.

"Congress now is considering a plan whereby future federal-aid grants will be withheld until next year so that the states may accumulate revenue with which they may match federal grants," he said.

The Commissioner said the revenue department's budget for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1949, placed total anticipated highway revenue at $38,368,420. The $48,400,000 would accrue from the increased gasoline tax.

"This anticipated revenue must cover all phases of highway department expenditure including construction, maintenance and administration," he added. "The department this year budgeted $9,000,000 for regular maintenance. We anticipate that in addition it may take as much as $7,000,000 to replace road damage caused by the unusually destructive freeze and thaw weather of the past winter. As yet we have not determined the total amount of that damage."

The county judges were told a workable formula must be completed, roads agreed upon and any necessary surveys and plans prepared before the department will attempt to spend on county roads the revenue from the increased gas tax.

Regarding the expenditure of any county road money, the Commissioner stressed the importance of employment of a county engineer for each county. "At present at least 100 of our counties do not have county engineers. We hope to work out a plan whereby counties will have their own engineers or at least will be assured of the services of a competent engineer," he said.

"We are going to watch this money and you county judges will be asked to help us work out a formula for spending it most profitably. We are concerned not only with getting Kentuckians out of the mud, but with keeping it out of the mud. Let our roads be investments for Kentucky rather than liabilities."

NEW HAVEN SCHOOL IS RANSACKED RECENTLY

The New Haven school building was broken into recently and several rooms, including the principal's office, were entered. Walton Smith, principal, reports that nothing was missing and that it seems the intruders were after money only. The State Bureau of Investigation was called in and finger prints taken. A $50.00 reward has been posted by Mr. Smith for the arrest and conviction of the burglars.

The National Land Policy Act

During the last several years, according to C. Liston Hemphling, Chairman of the Boone County Soil Conservation District, various agricultural interests have agreed on the idea that government activity in the agricultural field showed evidence of overlapping among Government agencies. Recognizing the possible truth of such criticism and having fully taken into account the need for a National Land Policy, the 80th Congress has set out to do that which they think best about the situation. The House Agricultural Committee, led by Congressman Clifford Hope, has traveled for and interviewed people representing many interests in agriculture. They have sought the best practical solution to America's problems in conservation. As a result of their research in this field, the House Agricultural Committee has proposed for passage a bill identified as H. R. 6054, and cited as "The National Land Policy Act."

This bill as prepared by the House Agricultural Committee and introduced in the House of Representatives, March 30, 1948, by Mr. Hope, embodies the following points:

1—The bill established, for the first time, a basic land policy for the United States. That policy is the sound conservation and orderly use and development of our national resources.

2—it recognizes conservation of soil and water resources as a National problem.

3—it provides an integrated conservation program and places responsibility for that program on one agency specifically established for that purpose.

4—it takes into consideration both the present and future conservation needs for food, feed, and fiber.

5—it definitely places the responsibility for carrying out conservation and development programs jointly on the Federal Government, the States and their local governments, and the owners and operators of agriculture resources. Farmers themselves, through their Soil Conservation Districts are given the largest share of the responsibility and authority for control of conservation programs.

6—The bill merges into one bureau the work that is now divided among seven bureaus in the Department of Agriculture.

7—Definite policies of Government are set forth to provide for the permanent conservation, improvement and development of the nation's agricultural land and water resources at such a rate of speed and in such a degree of thoroughness as to assure the nation sufficient productive land and water resources to produce a stable supply of agriculture commodities, adequate to meet the nutritional needs of the nation.

It is in the interest of the national good, continues Mr. Hemphling, to mobilize the land and water resources which are food, feed and fiber producing resources of America. National resources of manpower and machines are being mobilized and organized in the interest of national defense. Manpower and machines can win no war and defend no nation if they have not ample food, feed and fiber.

Interested persons who read this editorial might well write their Congressmen and Senators to actively support the passage of H. R. 6054, "The National Land Policy Act," in the interest of national welfare, and in the interest of human good. We would that our nation may live long and thrive and prosper. Prosperity must originate in our national resources; the most important of which are our lands, and waters, which we must conserve, concludes Mr. Hemphling.

Ezra Leads A Revival

Lesson for May 9, 1948

GLANCING for a moment at our history, we see that in 538 B. C., 50,000 Jews were returned to Jerusalem from Babylon, and the temple was rebuilt; and 78 years later, Ezra returns with about 7,000 Jews to inaugurate needed reforms. Then came Nehemiah, 444 B. C., to rebuild the walls, and with Ezra to lead in a needed religious revival.

HAPPY TIMES WITH THE BIBLE
FOR Ezra had prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments.

There was great need for a revival of religion, and Ezra knew that there can be no real revival until the people come back to God. He therefore read to them the statutes and judgments. Ezra read from the law of Moses from morning until midday, "and the ears of all the people were attentive unto the book of the law."

What would you think of the people being summoned into some public place today to hear the Bible read? But you say, we hear it read over the radio, and we hear it read in church, and we sometimes hear it read in the home. But do we hear it? And are our ears really attentive?

HEARING AND DOING GOD'S WORD

FOR not only read God's word to the people, but he led them to do what they were commanded in the law. They went out to give portions to those who were in need. They came back to worship God. They began both to hear and do. "Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only," James 1:22.

It is positively dangerous to receive impressions from God and refuse to express what he has put in our hearts to do for him. Let me put it this way: we can become religiously intoxicated unless we go forth to serve.

LIVING OUR RELIGION

WHAT Ezra and Nehemiah led the people to do in the long ago was to put into practice what they heard—to live their religion. The late Gandhi was reported to have said, "I might have embraced Christianity, had Christians lived what they professed."

Let us keep clearly in mind that Ezra was first concerned in instructing the people according to all that God had said in the Scriptures. That comes first. We must have conviction about what is right. We must have a creed, but we are to remember that it is in daily living that we make our creeds effective.

WHAT IS A RELIGIOUS REVIVAL?

THIS lesson intends to reveal to us how a religious revival broke out in Jerusalem in the long ago, nearly 500 years before Christ was born. Well may we ask, What is a religious revival?

"Lord, send a revival, and let it begin in my heart." Revivals are prayed down, not talked up. We have fallen into the fallacy of speaking of revivals when some overnight spell-binder comes along and kicks up a big sensation. Before he leaves town, Pharisaism is more rampant than ever. It is not until the Spirit of God moves upon the hearts of his people and rekindles in them a sense of sin, bringing them to true repentance, that we can have a real religious revival.

When men are convicted of their sins, they will say with Zacchaeus, "Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor, and if I have taken from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold." When men begin to feel and talk and act like that, you have a real religious revival. And I repeat, such revivals are prayed down, not talked up. Now you are ready to read Psalms 119:9-16.

Look who gets squeezed!

Union leaders representing less than one-tenth of railroad employees reject recommendations of President's Emergency board—refuse to negotiate except on their own terms—threaten to paralyze nation by strike!

THE LEADERS of three railroad unions, representing less than one-tenth of all railroad employees, have called a railroad strike that would paralyze the nation. These leaders refuse to accept a 15% cents an hour wage increase retroactive to November 1, 1947. This increase was recommended by an impartial Emergency Board appointed by President Truman.

This increase of 15% cents already has been accepted by the 19 other railroad unions. But the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and the Switchmen's Union of North America won't accept what more than 90% of all railroad employees have accepted. They have called a strike to get more!

Unions refuse rules discussion
Certain rules changes demanded by these union leaders—which would increase wages still further—were recommended by the Board. But the union leaders want more—they demand that the railroads put into effect ALL the changes they asked for, including these the Board felt should be denied. On top of this they insist that certain rules changes proposed by the railroads be withdrawn—in spite of the fact that the Board recommended them! These union leaders have refused to negotiate except upon these arbitrary terms.

Greater wage increase not justified
Engineers and firemen are among the highest paid of all employees in America, as figures in the box show. This strike threat doesn't justify giving a greater increase than other railroad workers received.

Emergency Boards are a means provided by the Railway Labor Act in the public interest to avoid strikes. The President's Board, after hearing evidence for 33 days, made recommendations based on all the facts in the case. The railroads have accepted these recommendations.

Who's to blame?

Although they deplored so large an extra cost burden, the railroads accepted the report of the Board because they felt it was in the public interest to uphold the spirit and intent of the Railway Labor Act.

In contrast, this small group of railroad union leaders are attempting to flout the intent and spirit of the Railway Labor Act, and dictate their own terms.

They have dictated a paralyzing railroad strike.

You will be the victim!

How long will the American public stand for the undemocratic, arbitrary, and abusive use of the right to strike and the disregard of the obligation to provide transportation? How long can the American people permit a few dictatorial union leaders to defy the processes provided for peaceful settlement of disputes?

Force seldom produces settlements that are either fair or lasting. Moreover, a point is often reached when personal interests must be held subordinate to the greater public welfare. That is why the railroads have accepted the Emergency Board recommendations. That is also why the leaders of these three unions should reconsider their decision to call a paralyzing strike.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Dr. and Mrs. George Robert Tanner moved back to Owenton, Ky., Saturday. Dr. Tanner finishes his internship at Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, in June, and he will resume practice in Owenton. The community wishes him the best of luck.

The Florence Homemakers are to conduct a bake sale at Dinn's lunch room Saturday, May 8th. All kinds of bakery goods will be on sale, including delicious cakes that would be ideal gifts for the young men to give their mothers on Her day.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holtzworth have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their daughter, Katherine, 27, who passed away on April 24th at her home in Covington. Funeral services were held at the home of her parent on Mount Zion Road, Tuesday, April 27th. Rev. Herman Andrews was the officiating minister and the body was laid to rest in Hopeful cemetery amid a profusion of beautiful flowers. Phil Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director, was in charge.

Sympathy is extended Mrs. Craig in her bereavement. Burial was in Florence cemetery. The Philip Taliaferro funeral home was in charge.

Walter Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Arnold visited a relative, Miss Mabel Penno at Dunham Hospital, Cincinnati, Sunday.

Wm. R. Morris, farmer of near Price Road, was found dead in bed Sunday morning, having expired some time during the night. Although he had been ill for some time, his going came as a shock. Funeral arrangements are being completed by Philip Taliaferro.

BALBO RYE, VETCH MAKE GOOD PASTURE

From 15 acres of balbo rye and vetch, Willie Lucas of Letcher county has had pasture for 15 head of cattle for 55 days, which, according to Farm Agent R. H. Fike, has saved Mr. Lucas more than $10 a day. In addition, he will have a luxuriant crop to turn under. Lucas is developing his farm through the use of grasses, notes the county agent, having sowed 153 pounds of Ky. 31 fescue, 1,400 pounds of lespedeza and 900 pounds of orchard grass. He plans also to sow 32 bu. of spring oats.

SCRIPTURE, Malachi
DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 13:4, 16-17.

Malachi Demands Sincere Religion

Lesson for May 16, 1948

GET ready for some straight talk in next Sunday's lesson. Malachi reveals the dark picture of unrequited love, polluted offerings, impious priests, unfaithful husbands.

You wonder if Sam Jones has come back to life. He begins by crying, "The burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by Malachi." We shall miss the entire meaning of this lesson if we fail to read every word of the Book of Malachi. We cannot claim any of the promises of a better day, as indicated in the latter section of Malachi unless and until we deal with such hypocrisy as may infect our lives today, even as the priests and people were consumed with iniquity when Malachi prophesied unto them.

GIVING OUR BEST TO GOD

"A SON honoureth his father, and a servant his master; if then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my fear?" Malachi 1:6

How can God bring good out of evil when his people hold back their best from him? Let us bring it closer home, and ask, How can our earthly parents do their best for us, when we give them half-hearted allegiance?

OUR BEST IN WORSHIP

PASSAGES in the first, second and third chapters of Malachi reveal the lack of sincerity on the part of the priests in the worship which they offered and which they taught the people to offer. Here we see that unclean hands can never bring an acceptable offering unto the Lord. He looked on the heart. He knows what is in man.

Using the house of God to make a show before men was one of the shameful evils of the priests in the days of Malachi. It did not fool God then, nor will it fool him today. Unless our worship is an expression of something fine and sincere, he will not accept it.

THE DAY OF RECKONING

"BEHOLD, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me; and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in. . . But who shall abide the day of his coming?"

One would think that such words of warning would have brought the priests and the people to their senses in humble contrition before God; but they continued to disregard the words of God's messenger.

"For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yes, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble; and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch."

Thus did God warn. And the day of reckoning did come a day in which priests and people went down beneath the chariot wheels of the invaders. And once again the warnings of God, though despised, were fulfilled to the last word in the terrible punishment upon those who forgot him.

THE PROMISE TO THE FAITHFUL

BUT God does not forget those who truly love him, and thus the Book of Malachi closes with the words of promise to the faithful. "But unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth, and grow up as calves of the stall," Malachi 4:2.

The remnants of those who remained true to God in the midst of a wicked generation were used to perpetuate his witness in the earth. The dark days of persecution could not put out the light of his presence and peace.

Let us pause as we study this Book of Malachi and search our own souls, lest we be guilty of the hypocrisy which destroyed the people in the long ago. With every strand of strength which he grants us, let us do with our might what our hands find to do, and the peace that passeth all understanding will be our portion.

"And all flesh shall see the salvation of the Lord."

4-H CLUB BUYS SPRAYER

More fruit trees are being sprayed in Bell county than in any previous year. One reason, according to County Agent H. W. Davis, is because the Bell Hi 4-H Club bought a $200 power sprayer. With this machine 700 trees were given the dormant spray, and then the pink spray to control apple scab. The activities of the club boys and girls are helping to stimulate interest in home fruit growing, Mr. Davis said.

STUDY YOUR BIBLE!

Yes, that is what people will do if they are Christians. One cannot imagine persons who profess to be Christian turning away from opportunities to come to a fuller understanding of God's Word and the contribution that it can make in their lives. Throughout the ages people who have been deeply concerned about their relationship to God have studied his Word. Those who profess to be followers of Jesus Christ have, always studied the teachings of Jesus. And why, may we ask, do they engage in this study? Because it has ever been the very meat, bread and water of life.

This is the day for all adults who profess to be followers of Jesus Christ to declare it to be their purpose to spend more time in careful study of God's Word. There is no other source from which adults can receive an interpretation of life that will enable them to be strong children of God.

Freedom is possible for any individual when he knows the truth and lives in keeping with it. It is the knowledge of truth that sets men free. This freedom of mankind was so precious in the sight of God that it caused him to send his only begotten Son into the world to save men might be free, that they might triumph over material things. Christ came that men might achieve in time of turmoil and strife a sense of security that would make them courageous as they lived in keeping with the truth as it is found in the Bible.

If you are not already attending, the Walton Methodist Church School, through it's Superintendent, Dan Roberts, invited you to be present Sunday—and every Sunday.

Homemakers and 4-H club members in Bethel community, Bath county, are cooperating to improve their school grounds with shrubs and bluegrass.

THE PHENOTHIAZINE SHEEP TREATMENT

The spring is the time to begin to protect flocks from internal parasites, according to W. E. Davis, County Agent. Internal parasites are probably the most serious cause of sheep losses in Kentucky and control is imperative if healthy flocks are to be raised.

Phenothiazine is the best medication to control the most common parasite, the stomach worm. Phenothiazine should be given to the adult sheep in the spring and again in the fall. Either boluses or drenches may be used. Adult sheep should receive two 12½ gram boluses or two ounces of a drench made by mixing one part of phenothiazine powder in 1½ pints of water.

A phenothiazine-salt mixture should be kept before the flocks during the summer months. The mixture is made by mixing 1 part of phenothiazine with 9 parts of stock salt. Keep the mixture dry at all times.

Lambs should be given individual treatment only if they show signs of worms, and then they are treated with one-half the dose for adult sheep.

With the coming of electricity to Breathitt county, homemakers are wiring kerosene lamps. Arthur White of Rowan county has bought a 24-D spraying outfit and plans to do custom spraying.

WOMAN FINDS MANY USES FOR DRY SUDS

Mrs. W. B. Weaver of Pulaski county enthusiastically reported to Home Agent Louise Craig how she used dry suds, a house-cleaning aid which she learned about in her homemakers club.

"My first experience using soap in this way was in the smokehouse," she said. "With brine and stains to deal with, I knew it would be a real test. I whipped up a quart of soap jelly plus two tablespoons of ammonia and with its use my smokehouse was clean in half the time it usually took."

"The next day, I put the dry suds to work on the linoleum floors of my large livingroom, kitchen and back porch. I had the job completed and a coat of wax on the floors in the time I could have finished only half the floor the old way."

"I am a dry suds fan from now on."

Horse Census Is Down

But Horsepower Gains
The nation's population of "Old Dobbin's" has declined by three million since 1933, but during the same period the installed horsepower of the United States has risen from 200 million to 1.4 billion. The small fractional horsepower motor is the big reason for the paradoxical decline of the horse and the increase of horsepower, according to SKF Industries.

While the up-to-date farm may be horseless, it contains from 6 to 15 fractional horsepower motors. Old Dobbin is being supplanted by the fractional horsepower motor because that ingenious mechanism can do things a nag never could do—like milking cows, picking chickens or hatching baby chicks.

With some one million of the small motors being sold every month, it may not be long until horsepower does away with even more horses. There always will be a demand for horses, and the demand is increasing for saddle horses.

Already the fractional horsepower motor is performing more than 100 diversified chores such as defeathering chickens, polishing shoes and teeth, opening cans, doors and windows, powering portable tools and shearing sheep.

Drug Addict Rejections

Decline in World War II

Draft officials rejected only one man in 10,000 for drug addiction in World War II, compared with one in every 1,500 rejected as drug addicts in World War I, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

In its survey of the drug traffic in 1946, investigations in Japan revealed complicity on the part of the Japanese government in its narcotic treaty obligations. "Duplicate sets of records were found, one for their own use and one for the League of Nations."

"Investigation developed that in one factory alone, operating in Seoul, Korea, during the years 1938 and 1939, the Japanese government manufactured and sent to the Manchukuo Opium Monopoly every year an amount of heroin sufficient to supply the entire world's medical needs."

Under Gen. Douglas MacArthur complete controls with adequate penalties were set up and 70,000 dealers of all kinds, including wholesalers, practitioners and drug-gists were licensed for the first time.

The largest producer of opium for medical needs in 1946 was Turkey, with a crop almost large enough to supply the whole world with medicinal opium.

Early Asia Minor Settlers

The Seljuk Turks were one of the earliest groups of settlers in Asia Minor, or what the Turks today refer to as Anatolia. The Seljuks held and lost Nicaea before the close of the 11th century. A. D. Nicaea was a Greek outpost city which commanded a pass leading to the Sea of Marmara. At this time the Oguz Turks, closely related to the Sky Turks, already had migrated into Mesopotamia and had been converted to Islam, or the Mohammedan religion. They also were fast spreading into the milder climates of the Mediterranean region. At about the time when the Seljuk Turks had extended their control over all Asia Minor, that is about the middle of the 13th century, the great Mongol invasion took place. Genghis Khan and his sons came in a great invading tide which neither the Seljuk Turks nor their Byzantine neighbors could resist. The Mongols did not seem to care to establish permanent dominion over the peoples they conquered. Their main concern appeared to have been loot and mere conquest for its own sake.

Prevent Corn Mold

Great care must be exercised by the farmers of the nation in storage of the corn crop to avoid losses from ear and storage rots, according to Ohio agricultural experiment station. The mature corn crop is vulnerable to attack by several ear rots or molds which are present in the ear at the time of harvest. The other group, known as storage molds, although they may occur in the field on ears injured by birds and insects, usually occur on the stored grain. Those molds which infect the corn ears in the field develop best on corn with a moisture content of 18 per cent or above. The molds which infect the stored grain are damaging on grain with moisture content as low as 14 per cent. Therefore, to protect the harvested corn crop, it should be dried down as quickly as possible to a moisture content of less than 14 per cent.

'Spa' Aiding Medicine

"Taking the baths"—once a ritual among ancient peoples and more recently a fashionable form of vacation—is now a recognized technique for treating a number of diseases. Hydrotherapy's best-known use is probably in helping victims of infantile paralysis to regain use of powerless muscles. Its other uses include the treatment of arthritis, neuritis, sprains and similar ailments by immersion in hot water. Equipment for these various treatments ranges from large tanks designed to accommodate the entire body to small, specialized foot and hand baths.

YOU SHOULD KNOW MORE About the Church of God, the Church of the New Testament—(Acts 20:28)

THE NAME OF THE CHURCH—According to the New Testament the followers of Jesus, as individuals, are called friends, disciples, brethren, saints. As a church the disciples took the name of their Father, as Jesus prayed that they would, in order to manifest their unity in him (see John 17:11); therefore we manifest their unity in God (I Cor. 1:2; II Cor. 1:11); "I persecuted the church of God" (Gal. 1:13); "Despise ye the church of God?" (I Cor. 11:22); "Give no offense . . . to the church of God" (10:32); "Take care of the church of God" (I Tim. 3:5); "Feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood" (Acts 20:28).

World's Best Volcano

The Hawaiian Islands possess the finest examples of volcanic activity in our country. Hawaii national park was established there in 1916 so that this and future generations might see and enjoy the primitive volcanic scenes, undisturbed by human disturbances. Two separate tracts of land totaling 275 square miles comprise the park. The two active volcanoes, Kilauea and Mauna Loa, are the main feature of the larger section on Hawaii island. At Thurston Lava Tube a natural lava pipe is formed by a pahoehoe flow.

Nut Production Shows Steady Increase in U. S.

Production of nuts that grow on trees—to distinguish them from the other nuts particularly peanuts—the production of which has more than doubled—has increased greatly since the early years of this century, according to the U. S. department of agriculture.

Almonds, filberts, walnuts and pecans are the four principal nut crops in the United States. Production of these four varieties increased from 23 million pounds of unshelled nuts in 1909 to a high record of 348 million pounds in 1945. Imports of these four nuts also tended to increase. And imports of foreign tree nuts such as Brazil nuts and cashews mounted rapidly.

Until about 1930 imports usually exceeded home production, but since that date, home production has averaged well above imports. It takes around 2½ pounds of unshelled nuts to supply a pound of the shelled meats, so that the 313 million pound production of 1945 plus imports of 251 million pounds yielded only a little more than 200 million pounds of shelled nuts, says the bureau.

Americans, on the average, eat nearly twice as many tree nuts as they did when they depended more generally on the wild crop. The bureau's figures indicate an average consumption of four-fifths of a pound of nut meats in 1909 and one and two-fifths in 1945.

Mexico's Railway System Offers General Coverage

Nineteen operating railroads in Mexico embrace approximately 12,643 miles of railway lines, of which 80.6 per cent is standard gauge and 19.4 per cent is narrow gauge. Equipment consists of approximately 1,439 locomotives, 21,206 freight cars and 1,348 passenger cars. About two-thirds of the railway mileage is state-owned.

The state railways, known as the Ferrocarriles Nacionales de Mexico (National Railways of Mexico) operate 8,394 miles of railroad, of which 7,060 miles are standard gauge and 1,334 miles are narrow gauge. In 1944, the National Railways of Mexico owned 1,020 steam locomotives, 15 diesel locomotives, 17,302 freight cars and 988 passenger cars.

Other important Mexican railroads are the 1,370-mile Southern Pacific railroad of Mexico, controlled by the Southern Pacific company, with main line extending from Nogales, Ariz., to Guadalajara; the 564-mile United Railroads of Yucatan (standard and narrow gauge) centering on the port of Progreso, and the 496-mile Mexico North-Western railway.

Researchers Will Probe Medicinal Value of Bees

Preliminary investigation has shown that a highly potent substance, antibiotic-like in nature, is produced by the organism responsible for the serious bee disease, American foul brood. Other bee disease organisms also appear to possess such anti-biotic factors. Steps now will be taken to isolate these anti-biotic factors and to remove toxic substances from them.

The therapeutic value of bee venom will be investigated subsequently. Stings of bees long have been considered to be of benefit in treatment of arthritis; honey has been considered of medicinal value for centuries. Research to determine the actual medicinal value of these and other bee products has been considered desirable for many years.

Research in these fields not only promises the development of valuable anti-biotic agents, the federal administrator of the new research act pointed out in approving these studies, but also will tend to place the bee-keeping industry in a stronger position economically. This will encourage more people to keep bees, which is very important to agriculture in general not only for honey production but also for pollination of many crops.

Marked Increase Noted in College Enrollments

A decided drop in the inflow of new veterans but an overflowing reservoir of total collegiate students are noted in current attendance records at American universities and colleges, reports Dr. Raymond Walters, president of University of Cincinnati.

The report deals with 350 approved institutions throughout the country. As compared with the first G.I. invasion of the colleges a year ago, there are far fewer freshman veterans of World War II, the decreases ranging in general from 10 to 75 per cent.

However, a remarkably high proportion of the 1,000,000 veterans who entered college last year with federal payment of their tuition and subsistence did good academic work and have returned to upper classes this year.

Moreover, there has been a big increase in the number of students going to college directly from high schools, so the combined veterans and non-veterans taking both full-time and part-time courses probably will approach 2,500,000 as compared with about 2,000,000 in the fall of 1946.

FLORENCE NEWS

Joseph F. Daugherty of the University of Kentucky, visited with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Daugherty, over the weekend.

A small transport plane crashed and burned about two minutes after taking off from the Boone County Airport, Saturday night. The tragedy occurred near Limaburg about 11:30 p. m. W. Ralph Stith, Florence undertaker, and his assistant, Paul Chaney, were called to the scene to take charge of the bodies of the two occupants, who were mangled and burned beyond recognition.

Sympathy is extended the nieces and nephews of Wm. R. Morris, who passed away May 2nd.

The community extends sympathy to the children and other relatives of Charles H. Tanner, 78, for whom funeral services were held at the Hopeful Church on Thursday in the presence of a large audience, with Rev. Herman Andrees officiating. CASEY 4-H COUNCIL PROVIDES SPUD SEED

The 4-H Club Council of Casey county, made up of representatives of businesses and organizations interested in youth, bought 2,300 lbs. of certified Irish Cobbler seed potatoes for distribution in 1-gallon lots to 4-H'ers in the county. Treated with Semesan Bel, the potatoes were distributed by Assistant Farm Agent H. I. Crenshaw to about 275 members at 21 club meetings. He advised the young gardeners on cutting and planting the seed and use of fertilizers.

For the second year, the 4-H Council is sponsoring the corn project about 20 bushels of hybrid seed corn being divided in half-gallon lots among interested boys and girls.

Grand Opening of DeMoisey Gas Co. Plant Friday and Saturday

Gas Ranges and Year's Supply of Gas to Be Awarded Visitors

Opening of the DeMoisey Gas Company has been announced for this Friday and Saturday by Frank M. DeMoisey, at the new plant, located one-fourth mile north of Walton, on the Walton-Nicholson Highway. The DeMoisey Gas Co. has been a large distributor of propane gas and will be able, in the future, to service thousands more. This gas is used for cooking, heating and refrigeration.

There will be five free gifts awarded those attending the opening days. These include a Chambers range, a Grand range, and a one-year supply of gas for domestic cooking to three separate persons. The only requirement to participate in these gifts is to attend the opening.

There are three main buildings that have been constructed on the location: The main display room and office building, which is in front, has a very large display of gas appliances, with office space in the rear; secondly, there is a small concrete building just to the left which houses the pump equipment. This equipment serves to empty the tank cars that are placed on the railway siding, and also to fill the large 30,000-gallon storage tank area. Thirdly, another concrete building, which is utilized as a tank-loading unit and also loading dock for trucks. All the area is covered with black-top.

Mr. DeMoisey invites everyone to attend this opening and there will be someone there to instruct you in the operation of the plant. He also wishes that you participate in the gifts that are to be given away, which is permanently located in the

The Farm Bureau Directors suggested that some speaker of National repute be obtained if possible, and that a barbecue lunch be furnished. They plan to invite the farm folk of the county.

Several subjects were discussed at length, one of which was the old telephone situation, wherein it will be recalled that the public, at a meeting in Burlington, discussed their unsatisfactory service with 2 officers of the telephone company. The committee stated that while they had reports of the installation of a very few of telephones, that there were numerous complaints of poor and intermittent service to present subscribers. It was the stated desire of the group that the Citizens Committee, which is functioning for the substitution of large will be able to help improve telephone service in the county.

The Temple in the Nation's Life

Lesson for May 23, 1948

OUR golden text is "O come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our maker," Psalms 95:6.

The Jewish temple was a national sanctuary, whether we think in terms of the altars of Abel, Noah or Abraham, the tabernacle at Sinai, or the great temples at Mount Moriah, of Solomon, of Zerubbabel, or any of the other appointed places of meeting with God. The welfare of mankind, in every age, requires the faithful and frequent worship of God.

From the days when they sang the hymns of David, the Jews were prosperous to the degree that they were true to God in their worship and in their reverence for all things holy. This lesson traces the story, leaving no doubt in any pupil's mind about the solemn truth of the golden text.

A HOUSE OF WORSHIP

IN Ezra 3:10-13, we see the picture of priests leading the people to sing unto the Lord. "Because he is good, for his mercy endureth forever toward Israel."

Wherever you live, whether in the city or in some quiet rural community, remember this, the sanctuary measures the attitude of the people of such community toward God to a degree that no other gauge of public opinion can offer. We have our various polls of public opinion, but none of them are so prophetic of a people's ultimate hope as their attitude toward God's house.

Boys and girls who regularly attend Sunday school and public worship will be watched by the men who are looking for trustworthy leaders tomorrow.

HONORING GOD'S HOUSE

"SERVE the Lord with gladness, come before his presence with singing," Psalms 100:2.

We read how the people in the long ago brought their best gifts to make God's house beautiful. What are we doing with our best gifts? I think of boys and girls today who are helping with their small gifts to erect and equip beautiful houses of worship. Tomorrow they will point with gratitude and thanksgiving to the part they had in making God's house the best house in the community. Thus do we honor God as we honor his house.

WHY WE GO TO CHURCH

MR. WANNAMAKER, the merchant prince, was once asked why he went so regularly to church. He replied:

"I go to church for two main reasons. First, because God commands it; second, because it enriches life."

The Jews teach us, in the long record of their faithfulness or unfaithfulness, that the people who go regularly to church are the most dependable people in any community. And we can bring it right down to our day and generation, and get the same answer.

A business man told me recently that he had a check made of the seven hundred young people in his employ, and he found that more than ninety per cent of the regular church-goers were advancing in their work with his company. He further discovered that almost without exception, the people who were giving trouble were the people who never entered a church.

OUR NEED OF PUBLIC WORSHIP

Our bodies require regular nourishment. And our souls are just as dependent upon regular nourishment. I would not say that it is absolutely necessary for one to attend public worship to grow spiritually, but the odds are entirely against those who claim that they can grow spiritually without attending public worship.

There is a place of worship within the reach of wealth every person in the United States. We are responsible before God if we neglect to claim the advantages and blessing of public worship.

The place of the temple in the life of Israel is a symbol which teaches us today that we dare not forsake the assembling of ourselves on the Lord's Day in his house. The fellowship of worship is the sweetest fellowship on earth. It is our surest road to peace here and hereafter.

Face Present Problems---

Your church school can help you learn Christ's way if you give it a chance. In other words, your church school, your minister, the teacher of an adult class, cannot help you if you stay away from the teaching influence of the church.

The Cleveland Plain-Dealer recently stated in an editorial, "If history teaches anything, it teaches that the time has come in human events to invoke the moral laws on a national and international scale."

Time is short. Destruction stalks throughout the world. Today is the time for action if the world is to be saved. We labor as never before in the history of mankind under a divine imperative to teach men and women that which history has taught us.

And what his history taught us? It has taught us that nations destroy themselves when they depend upon material things.

Only as lives of people are changed for the better can we hope that this civilization will escape destruction. These changes in the lives of people must be brought about now. Tomorrow will be too late. Those leaders who have a deep interest in and concern for people will put forth a continuous effort to reach the largest possible number of men and women with Christian teaching today.

If you are not enrolled, the Walton Methodist Church School invites you to be present Sunday. Daniel Roberts is superintendent.

to dispose of their vegetables, fruit, produce, etc., in quantities larger than retail amounts. They are visiting other places where these markets are a success and plan to have a more comprehensive report at the next meeting, June 8th.

John Crigler, Farm Bureau Insurance representative, urged each member holding Farm Bureau Insurance to tell his neighbor about it and advise him to take advantage of what can be offered at reasonable prices. The importance and economy of members obtaining the protection of Blue Cross Hospital Insurance was especially stressed.

The directors were pleased to see the organization of Associated Women started and were informed that in other counties this group accelerate rural activity.

Missionary Society Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society of the Walton Christian Church was held May 6th in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Moore. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Alta Chambers, the vice president, Mrs. Fred Nichols, presided at the business meeting. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Stanley Bush; Vice President, Mrs. Fred Nichols; Secretary, Mrs. J. T. Stone; and Treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Ransler.

Mrs. Nichols gave a very interesting program on "Our Cooperative Task."

A covered dish dinner was served at noon to Rev. and Mrs. Fred S. Nichols, Mrs. Lula Hudson, Mrs. Mary Stephenson, Mrs. Pearl Pink, Mrs. Marie Pennington, Mrs. Pearl Bedinger, Mrs. Bertha Fisher, Mrs. Katie Ransler, Mrs. Irene Bush, Mrs. Katie Welsh, Mrs. Irene Collins, Mrs. Ora Stone, Mrs. Ora Fry, Mrs. Lydia Waldbingham, Mrs. Lotta Powers and the host and hostess.

12 REASONS why you should insist on a FOWLER ELECTRIC WATER HEATER

Low Operating Cost. Long-life trouble-free black heat elements, and Fowler's new 3-way insulation guarantees low heat loss and high efficiency.

Economy Temperature Control. Automatic thermostats are adjustable to suit your needs or preference as to water temperature.

Built of Heavy Gauge Iron. Tanks are made of heavy gauge enameled iron for long life and trouble-free service.

Porcelain Lined—Resists Rust. Tanks are lined with two coats of porcelain enamel. Smooth, dense, vitrified, non-porous surface prevents contact of water and metal. This prevents any rust or corrosion.

Pressure Tested. Tanks are pressure tested three times in manufacture. Side seam welds, top and bottom, and entire assembly after plumbing is attached to tank.

Block Heat Elements—Longer Life. Fowler heating units operate black. Extra footage of larger gauge wire keeps units from operating at red heat. Lower temperature prevents oxidation of wire, insures long life of units.

Long Life—20 Year Replacement Guarantee. The Fowler carries a 20-year replacement guarantee and will be replaced with a complete new water heater for a charge based on the proportionate part of 20 years of service received.

Improve Internal Finish. Exterior finish of gleaming baked white enamel, shining surface easy to clean, enduring and attractive.

Aluminum Reflector. The sheet aluminum reflector increases Fowler efficiency by reflecting 85% of the heat rays back into the tank. This reduces heat loss to a minimum, assures the most efficient operation.

Pre-riveted. Fowler tanks are hydrostatically prestretched before porcelain enameled at pressure over three times higher than normal city water pressure.

Seal Proof Insulation. Fowler's thick cotton, fire-proof insulation holds its shape, stays in place and retains its high efficiency throughout the entire life of the water heater.

Dead Air Insulation. Sealed dead air space separates heat insulation from the tank. No heat is transferred from tank by conductivity.

Fowler Manufacturing Co. is the world's oldest manufacturer of electric water heaters.

Fowler insures highest quality workmanship and materials. Come and see the new Fowler.

TIMES DO CHANGE—1849 PUBLIC SALE

That many changes have taken place in the past 100 years is clearly shown by the following, which is a clipping from an old newspaper, regarding a public sale of that era. Imagine what a hubbub such an advertisement in a newspaper of today would create. Read the copy of the ad which actually appeared in a Kentucky newspaper 99 years ago. Here 'tis:

"Having sold my farm, I am leaving for Oregon territory by ox team and will offer on March 1, 1849, all my personal property, to-wit: All my oxen except four, Buck, Bin, Tom and Jerry, and 2 milch cows, 1 bay mare and colt, 2 ox carts, 1 plow with wooden mold board, 800 3-ft. clapboards, 1500 10-ft. fence rails, 1 160-gal. soap kettle, 85 sugar troughs made of white ash timber, 10 gallons maple syrup, 2 spinning wheels, 30 pounds of nut-brown tallow, 1 large loom made by Jerry Wilson, 32-gallon barrel of Johnson Miller whiskey, 100 empty barrels, 20 gallons, apple brandy, 40-gallon copper still, scythe, cradle, one-half interest in tan yard, rifle made by Ben Miller, 50 gallons soft soap, hams, bacon, lard, 40 gallons sorghum molasses, 6 fox hounds. DEMONSTRATION TEAM WINS

County 4-H demonstration champions competed in the district elimination contests in Owenton, Monday, and the girls demonstration team from Boone County, composed of Betty Hood and Brenda Sturgill, of Florence, won the district contest. The Florence team will represent northern Kentucky at the state contest held at 4-H Week in Lexington, June 8-12. The girls demonstration team, the proper way to apply make-up.

Betty Hood competed in the district individual demonstrations and won a red ribbon on her demonstration, "Betting in Sleeves in a Tailored Garment."

Ralph and Robert Ginn of the Constance 4-H club represented this county in the boys demonstration elimination contest. They won a red ribbon on their demonstration of how to scale and pick a chicken by an easy method.

All these who represented Boone at the district contest will be given trips to 4-H Week, according to the county agent's office.

Reservations Should Be Made by June 1

On Saturday, June 5th once again the graduates and former teachers of the Verona High School will gather at the Verona school grounds at eight o'clock for an old fashioned fish fry and a general get-together, to talk over the "Old School Days." It seems as a sort of reunion for the many graduates of this former high school who have scattered to the "Four Corners of the Earth" seeking fame and fortune. This high school was established as such back in the teens and lasted on down through the years until merging with Walton. Those persons who graduated from Walton-Verona High School and who lived in the Verona community at the time of graduation are eligible to attend all alumni activities and are encouraged to do so for this particular evening. This informal gathering of old friends and schoolmates will present an opportunity to visit and deal more in a short time than if a regular formal banquet was held, as has been in the past.

If there are alumni members who have not been attending in the past years or have not kept up their dues there is plenty of time to get started again this year by sending their reservation requests to Mrs. Jean Shetter, Secretary, 918 West 33rd Street, Latonia, Ky. Telephone Colonial 8808. Reservation requests should be accompanied by $1.50 per person, which will also cover the cost of dues and the cost of each meal. All requests are urged to send in their reservations to the address listed above as soon as possible, and not later than June 1st. The Verona P. T. A. will again have charge of preparing the food and judging. By the time meals they have served in the past, we are for another good meal, as well as in general good time—W. D. Scroggin, President, Verona H. S. Alumni.

VERONA, 7; UNION, 11

The Verona Community Club of the Sunday School Baseball League played greatly improved ball last week in their game with Union, but again lost, this time 11-7. Verona scored 4 runs in the first inning off the pitching of Harvey, but Union came up with a big inning in the seventh, to score 8 runs. The final score was: Union 11 runs 11 hits, 3 errors, and Verona 7 runs, 13 hits, and 7 errors.

The losers set a record for the new diamond and the league by completing three double plays in one game. They all went short to second to first.

In Saturday's game, B. Coyle hit 2 home runs and a triple for the Community club, to gain hitting honors. Cheeseman pitched 7 innings, with Shleis receiving.

Verona travels to Burlington on Saturday and to Bellevue, Monday.

Verona Trips Ken-Ta-Kee; Blue Ash, Sun.

Verona came up with some long-range hitting Sunday that was devastating to the Ken-Ta-Kee club, and the winners romped to a 10-2 win, to keep their record undefeated in the Benke Senior Pro loop. The big blows of the game were struck by Butch Judge, who slammed out a pair of home runs.

Boone County X-Ray Clinic To Be Held June 7th and 8th

Through the cooperation of the Ky. State Department of Health, the Boone County Tuberculosis Association and the Red Cross Nursing Service a FREE X-ray clinic will be conducted in this county. X-rays will be taken at the Burlington Courthouse, June 7th from 9-12 a. m. and 1-3 p. m., and at the Walton-Verona High School, Walton, on Tuesday, June 8th, from 9-12 a. m. and from 1-3 p. m.

This is a part of a state-wide tuberculosis case-finding program. Much tuberculosis is known to exist in this section of the state. It is easily curable if found early. X-ray can show tuberculosis in the lung long before a person notices the symptoms. Take this opportunity to help fight tuberculosis by having your X-ray made. Everyone needs an X-ray yearly. All it costs is your interest and effort to attend the clinic.

Reports are confidential. Age 15 years and up. Children under this age may be X-rayed by a request from the family doctor. Clothing need not be removed.

Member, the Walton date—Tuesday, June 8th, 9-12 and 1-3 at the schoolhouse.

Cemetery Meeting Saturday

In order to avoid the holiday traffic, the Richmond Cemetery Association will hold its annual meeting at the Richmond Church at 10:00 a. m., Saturday, May 29, 1948. All lot owners and contributors to the cemetery are urged to be present.

The purpose of this meeting is to elect one trustee to attend to all other business relating to upkeep of cemetery.—B. F. Bedinger, Secy.

4-H Club Week Program Is Planned

Demonstrations by 4-H club members of projects entered on in their homes or on farms, will have an important part on the program of 4-H Week, according to J. W. Whitehouse, state leader of 4-H club work. The event, scheduled for June 8 to 12, will be held at the University of Kentucky.

Each demonstration will cover a certain phase of such subjects as dairying, poultry, gardening, tobacco, foods, clothing, canning and home furnishings.

About 50 counties will have water management teams who will show methods of laying out terraces, hillside ditches and farm reservoirs.

A majority of the counties will have county clothing champions in the dress revue, the state winner being awarded a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in December. Costumes made by the girls, and worn in the revue, may be school, street or party dresses, suits or coats.

One session of the week will be devoted to a business meeting of the State Association of 4-H Clubs. Officers are: Atwell Adair, Bourbon county, president; Polly Stovall, Logan county, vice president, and Jo Ann Kinsey, Graves county, secretary.

Started in 1921, 4-H Week has been observed annually with the exception of three war years. For the first club week, 132 boys and girls registered from 41 counties. This year, it is expected that 1,000 members and 200 club leaders and agricultural and home agents will represent every county in the state.

New Haven Amateur Show Tues., June 1st

The New Haven seniors and the first team basketball players have made elaborate plans to sponsor a contest at the New Haven High School at 8:00 p. m., Tuesday, June 1st. The proceeds from the event will be used to pay partial expenses of the sponsors' annual educational tour to Toronto, Canada. The balance will be donated to the P. T. A. principal's home building fund.

The contest will be open to any amateur musician playing any instrument and cash prizes will be awarded the winners of hill-billy, popular and classical music. The winners are to be determined by audience applause. The event will be honored by the participation of Frank Miller and his current WZP fiddlers, one of whom will be spotlighted in the role of Master of Ceremonies for the program.

The grand prize winner will not only receive a cash award of at least $25.00, but, according to present plans, will receive a guest of Frank Miller and his Kentucky Fiddlers on a future WZP radio program.

The admission to the program is to be free. For any person attending the contest is eligible to compete, however, the New Haven Senior class would appreciate postcards from those who are planning to enter the contest at an early date. Address cards to New Haven High School, Union, Ky., and mail immediately, giving name, address, musical instrument, and type of music you wish to play.

Admission will be 25 cents for students and 40 cents of adults.

PTA to Meet at 7:30

The New Haven Parent-Teachers Association will meet at the school on Tuesday, June 2nd at 7:30 p. m. instead of 8:00, due to the Old Fiddlers contest.

At the call of the Kenton Baptist Church, Kenton, the following churches responded by sending their pastor or deacons, or both, to form a council for the purpose of examining Bro. Franklin Lipscomb, Jr., as to his fitness to enter the Gospel ministry: Decoursey Baptist Church, Oak Ridge Baptist Church, Southside Baptist Church, Visalia Baptist Church, New Bank Lick Baptist Church, Gardnersville Baptist Church, Concord Baptist Church and Pleasant View Baptist Church. The meeting was called to order by Rev. Frank Lipscomb, pastor of the Kenton Baptist Church. After the singing of the hymn, "Let Others See Jesus in You," by the congregation, the council was organized by Bro. Frank Lipscomb as moderator; Roger Grizzelle as clerk, and Rev. C. R. Rades as interrogator. Bro. Franklin stated on Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. Frank Lipscomb; prayer meeting each Wednesday at 8 p. m., and cottage prayer meeting each Friday at 8 p. m.

We were happy to have such a nice crowd at our ordination of Bro. Franklin Lipscomb, Jr. Our sister churches not only sent their pastor or deacons, but each church had a good representation of lay members. We were happy to have such a good number with us from each of Bro. Franklin's churches.

Remember our revival, May 31st through June 11th. Rec. C. R. Rader of the Decoursey Baptist Church will be our guest speaker. Be much in prayer for this meeting. Our revival must begin in the heart of each Christian. Let our prayer be that God send us an old fashioned revival. Our revival must begin in our church and spread outward.

SCRIPTURE: Daniel 1.
DEVOTIONAL READING: 1 Timothy 4:11.
Daniel Stands By His Convictions
Lesson for May 30, 1948

"A picture frozen on duty—
A mother stared for her brood—
Socrates drinking the hemlock—
And Jesus on the road."
Such a picture we have before us in Sunday's lesson. All you need to do to get this dramatic picture is read the first chapter of Daniel. You will then feel anew the meaning of that cherished statement, "This conviction that convincth."

BEAVE TO DO RIGHT

WE GET the first draught of this tonic in verses 8-9, 14-15 and 17. "But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank. . . ."
He was brave enough to take a stand for what he knew was right. Which reminds me of the story told of Henry Ward Beecher, when yet a small boy. A teacher in the school he attended asked a boy a question which he promptly answered. The teacher appeared displeased, and told the boy to sit down. He asked several other boys the same question, and got the same answer. Finally he asked Beecher, and Beecher gave the same answer, but refused to sit down when the teacher frowned at him. Seeing that Beecher was going to defend the answer, the teacher said, "Boys, you were all correct, but only Beecher was sure enough to stand his ground. I was simply trying to teach you the lesson that you must stand by what you know is right."

DARE TO STAND ALONE
DANIEL knew that he was taking an unpopular position, but he was willing to be alone so long as he knew he was right. He knew that the consequences would take care of themselves. That is the quality of character which America needs today in her youth.
It is easy enough to be popular, if you run with the gang; but remember this—the gang is always heading downhill. Daniel stood by his convictions when it was costly. In the final windup, he was the head man.

ENDURING INVESTMENTS
DANIEL, winning his point, made every hour count toward victory. He not only abstained from strong drink, but used his superior strength to serve the king in such way that his talents were sought out and brought into larger fields of opportunity.
Standing by his convictions, he had won over those who at first were disposed to poke fun at him. By superb performance, due to clear thinking and high purpose, Daniel made enduring investments that paid off in big dividends. He did not do right for reward, but because he did right, the reward was inevitable. And so it will be with every young man and woman who purposes in his or her heart to do right.

GOD'S FAVOR
I WANT you to look carefully at verse 17. "God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom; and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams."
It is impossible to account for Daniel's fortune apart from his implicit trust in God. Remember the incident of Daniel opening his window toward Jerusalem in prayer? God never fails those who stake their all on Him. He will not—cannot let them fail. It was because of God's favor that Daniel and his companions proved themselves ten times better than the young men who defiled themselves.
"Who sides with God must always win."

Scotfers Stay On
Even those who scoff at the Bible prefer to live in a culture in which the dominating ideas of the Bible have been influential.
The Bible is a very dangerous book—dangerous to all systems based on greed and prejudice and oppression.

IN MEMORY

In memory of my mother, Mrs. Margaret Cooke, whose birthday was May 23rd:

Dear Mother—
It's been eight long months, you have been gone... Our happy moments together, still linger on... Mothers' Day was hard to bear, our home has changed... Because you are not there.

All we have left is your favorite chair... Now it's your birthday, again I am blue... I am always thinking, Dear Mother of you... Some say that time will ease the pain.

But to us it will never be the same... You were one in a million... So kind and so sweet... Your loving memory forever we'll keep.

True Functional Design is beauty with a purpose. For example, the STREAM-THRU fenders of the Kaiser or the Frazer are a style feature others have attempted to copy. But the real reason for the design has been overlooked. The true function is to provide more usable space without increasing over-all width. Only the Kaiser and the Frazer have more usable space. MORE SEAT WIDTH! . . . MORE HEAD ROOM! . . . MORE LUGGAGE SPACE! The Kaiser and the Frazer aren't the same old girls in a new dress—they're new from the road up! Best of all these modern cars from Willow Run are yours at no increase in price!

Boone March Of Dimes Nets $1,268.80

The 1948 March of Dimes held last January brought the best net results of any previous campaign in Kentucky. The total net receipts were $240,970.63 or an increase of 5.93% over the 1947 campaign, according to H. St. G. T. Carmichael, State Campaign Chairman.

The people of Boone County, under the leadership of John O. M. Evey contributed a total of $1,268.80 or .1172 for every person in this county.

According to Mr. Carmichael, the receipt of this campaign came at a time when they are most needed by the Kentucky Chapter. During the past year expenses in the care of polio patients have completely exhausted the Chapter funds so that the money raised in the 1948 March of Dimes will be used immediately to provide care during the coming months.

Verona Wins Over Blue Ash 33-3

The Verona baseball club really had themselves a field day last Sunday when they triumphed over the Blue Ash Inn team from "over the river" by the one-sided score of 33-3, five, thirty-three to three. The winners racked up 11 runs in the first inning, one in the second, 15 in the fourth, five in the fifth and one in the sixth. Blue Ash scored one run in the first inning and two in the sixth. This was, no doubt, a scorekeeper's nightmare.

Blister was the starting hurler for the losers, but was relieved by Crowley in the first frame. Reddish also tried his hand, but to no avail—the Verona sluggers were slugging. This trio was nicked for 25 hits, with ten of them being for extra bases. Bud Robinson tapped out a trio of doubles with Vest and Alexander registering one each. I. Guiley and Brown connected for triples, and to add to the merriment, Judge Dempsey and Brown hit for the circuit, and we are told that Judge's clout was really a honey-smacked right on the nose.

I. Guiley and Ryan did the serving for Verona, and they limited the Ontonago five well-scattered hits. The game was called at the end of 6 1/2 innings by mutual consent—two hours and thirty minutes had already been consumed—no telling what might have happened in nine frames.

Leading clubbers for the day in Verona's interest, were Bud Robinson with 5 hits in 6 trips to the plate; A. Guiley had 3 for 5; and Brown and Alexander each had 3 for 4.

The Veronians are looking for much stiffer competition, come Sunday, June 6th, when they tangle for a second time with Bob & Gene of Florence. It has been strengthening his club in preparation for a second-round play. Well, Sunday will tell the tale.

DeMoisey Opening Success; 3,500 In Attendance

Opening of the new DeMoisey Gas Company plant, just north of Walton, on Friday and Saturday, May 21st and 22nd was quite a success. It is said 3,500 people were in attendance during the two days.

Three winners, as announced by Mr. DeMoisey, were: Mrs. Tom Smith of High Street, Walton, a Grand Gas Range; Bill Johnson, Church Street, Walton, Chambers Gas Range; Cliff Hemlein, 821 York Street, Newport, year's supply of gas; Mrs. Donald Stephenson, Walton, year's supply of gas, and Mrs. Richard Howard, Walton, year's supply of gas.

Drum and Bugle Corps to Parade; Public Invited To Be Present

Presentation of the Charter to the Johnson-McElroy Post, 277, American Legion, Walton, the installation of members and installation of officers will be held Sunday afternoon, June 6th, at 2:00 in the Walton-Verona High School auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Prior to the activities at the school, the James Wallace Costigan Post Drum and Bugle Corps will parade through Walton, probably from the south part of town to the school building. The charter is to be presented by Tom Hayden, State Adjutant; initiation is to be by the 40 and 5 degree team from the 6th District of Kentucky, and presentation of the charter will be taken care of by George Mogge, 6th District Commander. John F. Hagner, Commander, Department of Kentucky, will also be present and is expected to address the new Post.

We believe this will be a program well worth seeing, and a large crowd is expected. Spectators are asked to sit in the balcony, as the main floor will be taken up in the initiation of members.

The Walton Post has been operating under a temporary charter since December, 1947, and appears to be an active and wide-awake organization. There are now fifty-three members whose names will appear on the charter, and more men are expected to become affiliated with the Post, some coming in by transfer from other Legion Posts in this section.

Officers for the Johnson-McElroy Post, to be installed Sunday for the coming year are:

- First Vice Commander—Morgan Campbell
- Second Vice Commander—"Bud" Robinson

- Finance Officer—"Jack" Berkshire
- Chaplain—Nick Welsh
- Sgt. at Arms—Howard Feldhaus
- Judge Advocate—Ralph Scott
- Historian—Jesse W. Thornton
- Service Officer—E. B. Claster
- Executive Committee—Donald L. Stephenson, 1 year; Geo. W. Ryan, 2 years; Martin Code, 3 years.

The local Post has chosen its name, Johnson-McElroy, honoring two of Walton's youth who lost their lives in World War II, Paul Johnson and Desha McElroy.

Farmers Are Urged to Get Writt'n Leases

Although oral farm leases still are common, the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, says written leases provide a basis for better farming and greater satisfaction for both landlord and tenant. Leases for more than a year cannot be enforced unless they are written. Some of the more important matters that should be covered in a lease are:

Amount and method of payment of rental.

Provision covered by the lease, with provision for renewal if both parties are satisfied.

Description of property.

Provision for upkeep and repair of farm buildings and equipment and upkeep or improvement of the soil.

Crops to be grown and methods of farming to be followed.

Compensation to landlord for up-damage to property.

Compensation to tenant for the unexpired part of the term's expense and with the landlord's consent. If there is such exhausted value remaining when the tenant moves from the farm.

Two Sales in Florence

Rel C. Wayman, real estate dealer, will conduct two large sales in Florence, on Saturday afternoon of this week. The first will be the 24 building lots in Orchard Acres on Route 25 near Florence, owned by Bob and Mrs. McGee, at 1:30 p. m. The other sale will include a filling station, 5-room house and restaurant, 3 blocks from the intersection of Highways 25 and 42, and starting at 4 p. m.

Entertainment will be furnished at both sales by Frank Miller and His Kentucky Fiddlers.

Reds to Play Brooklyn In Twin Bill Sun.

The Cincinnati Reds, after coping five straight verdicts over the holiday weekend, were riding high with 11 victories in their last 15 contests as the second Eastern Innings of Crosley Field got under way this week.

The New York Giants, sitting on top of the pack, moved in Wednesday to launch a four-day stay, to be highlighted by a night game on Thursday.

The ever-popular Brooklyn Dodgers will be the attraction in a doubleheader next Sunday and will conclude their set with a single game on Tuesday. With the Brooks and Reds surging toward the first division, Sunday's twin bill promises to take on a "crucial" aspect.

Another "Mazda Contest" is on tap for Wednesday, June 9, when the surprising Phillies open an abbreviated two game series. The "Fighting Phils" with a combination of offensive power and fleetness a-foot, have been sailing along in the first division since early in the season. The pennant-minded Boston Braves, bringing up the rear of the Atlantic clubs' assault, provide the opposition in a single game on Saturday, June 12, and a doubleheader on Sunday.

With a decided improvement in pitching exhibited of late to go along with the clubs devastating home-run punch, the Reds are in a position to step up in the flag chase with three first-division clubs due for a local appearance during the next two weeks.

Tickets for all games on the home stand are on sale at the Reds' ticket office at 307 Vine Street and mail orders are accorded immediate attention.

COLLEGE LAUNCHES PROGRAM FOR FARM AND HOME IMPROVEMENT

Plans for inaugurating the Kentucky Farm and Home Development Program have been announced by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Ky. To be started in two Western Kentucky counties, the program will include detailed plans for the general improvement of the farm and the farm home. As explained by T. R. Bryant, assistant director of the college's Extension Service, "certain farms whose owners wish to participate in the program will be studied in detail and a plan of farm and home development extending over several years will be worked out."

"Taking into account the resources of the farmer, including soil, equipment and buildings, the program will endeavor to determine the kinds of crops, livestock and other operations needed to give the best returns."

"Attention will be given to crop rotation, growing of cover crops, use of manure, terracing, drainage and other methods of improving the soil."

"The farm home will be given prominent consideration in the program. Needed improvements will be determined and plans made for installing them."

"An essential feature of the program will be the fact that the farm and the farm home will be under a definite unified plan of improvement."

Mr. Bryant said that only a few farms would be included in the program at this time. Other farms will be added as the program develops.

A field of Ky. 31 fescue, which was under water for 32 days in Hopkins county, is doing well, while ladino and alsike clovers were killed.

The Breckinridge County Farm Bureau will sponsor the county fair at Hardinsburg, where a premium list of $2,000 will be offered.

Keeping extra horses and mules on farms may prove an expensive luxury this year, says H. M. Young, Jr., economist at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. He figures it now costs about twice as much to feed a horse or mule as it did before the war. A work animal will eat about 30 bushels of corn and two tons of hay in a year.

"After buying a tractor it probably would be good management to sell some of the horses and mules on the farm," Mr. Young suggested. "Very likely the feed, labor and pasture needed for the surplus horses could be used with profit to feeding to dairy cows, beef cattle, sheep or hogs."

TRACTOR OPERATION SOURCE OF FUEL LOSS

Kentucky farmers are wasting annually about a half million dollars in tractor fuel, according to a recent study which states that the average tractor may waste up to 150 gallons of fuel each year. Much of this loss may be avoided, says E. F. Daniel, field agent in farm management at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. He recommends: (1) keeping the tractor in good mechanical condition, (2) doing two jobs at once, (3) repairing leaks in tanks and hose, (4) not filling the fuel tank entirely full, and (5) not over-loading nor over-speeding the tractor. Because farm production costs are becoming more important to the welfare of the family, careful attention should be given to reducing them, advised Mr. Daniel.

SURPLUS WORKSTOCK EXPENSIVE TO FEED
Keeping extra horses and mules on farms may prove an expensive luxury this year, says H. M. Young, Jr., economist at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. He figures it now costs about twice as much to feed a horse or mule as it did before the war. A work animal will eat about 30 bushels of corn and two tons of hay in a year.

"After buying a tractor it probably would be good management to sell some of the horses and mules on the farm," Mr. Young suggested. "Very likely the feed, labor and pasture needed for the surplus horses could be used with profit to feeding to dairy cows, beef cattle, sheep or hogs."

The Breckinridge County Farm Bureau will sponsor the county fair at Hardinsburg, where a premium list of $2,000 will be offered.

HOMEMAKERS CLUB WORK

PROVES PRACTICAL AID

The broad scope of home demonstration work in meeting everyday needs of rural and farm women in 95 counties in Kentucky is indicated in reports to county home agents. Mrs. Bernard Weldon of Henderson county said: "Not until I went to a meeting of my homemakers club did I realize I could make over my kitchen. My husband and I first felted, then papered the kitchen. We also had a window changed to a double one and a sink placed under it. Next we will have kitchen cabinets built according to the information given in my club. I have profited by our lessons. They have saved me both time and money."

Housecleaning aids were reported by Mrs. Sallie B. Whitson of Gallatin county as being especially helpful. She learned uses of dry suds at her first club meeting, then cleaned five large rugs and several small ones.

Mrs. Henry Hobgood of Webster county said she became "closet conscious" after learning what organization and closet accessories can do in keeping clothes in good condition. As a result, she changed the placing of rods for better hanging space, then added shelves for storing shoes and boxes. Hangers were padded and, shoulderedettes made for clothing protection and hat and storage boxes papered to make attractive closets.

In Franklin county, Mrs. Bronston Kenny, county clothing leader of homemakers clubs, reported that an estimated saving of $3,197 had been made in 7 months through home sewing. Women reported making 1,039 garments, making over 364, and repairing 7,147 other pieces.

FESCUE HELPS TO CONTROL EROSION

How erosion is being controlled through growing of Ky. 31 fescue is seen on the farm of Hershel Mix in Carlisle county, according to R. Carlisle, county agent. On land that was badly washed, Mr. Mix filled in gullies with a bulldozer. Then he seeded fescue and ladino clover on the contour, using a complete fertilizer. The fescue made enough growth during the winter to control erosion. To prevent gullying caused by up-and-down-hill travel, Mr. Mix laid out farm roads around the hills.

Men Who Dared To Stand For God

Lesson for June 6, 1948

A fiery furnace, and a lion's den. These are the tests to which Sunday's lesson will put our hero about whom we studied last Sunday.

Dr. Newton

read chapters three through six to get the full story.

DANIEL IN THE DEN OF LIONS

THE sixth chapter must be read to have an adequate background for this study. Daniel had been chosen as the first of three presidents to rule over 120 princes who should govern the kingdom. The other two presidents and the princes could find no fault in this Hebrew, save that he believed and observed the law of his God. So, they conspired against him by persuading the king to issue a decree that no person in the kingdom was to make a petition to any God or man for 30 days, save to the king, on the penalty of being cast into the den of lions. This decree was issued by Darius, and Daniel's enemies reported to Darius that Daniel opening his window three times a day, praying to his God. Darius was greatly troubled, but had to stand by his decree, and Daniel was cast into the den of lions. Darius spent a sleepless night, and hurried to the den at dawn to know about Daniel. Daniel replied, "O king, live for ever. My God hath sent his angels, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me."

DARIUS REWARDS DANIEL

CONVINCED that Daniel's convictions had been miraculously rewarded by God, Darius ordered the other two presidents and the princes, together with their wives and children, thrown into the lions' den. They were all destroyed by the lions.

Then Darius issued a decree to all the nations and people of all languages that dwell in all the earth.

"Peace be multiplied unto you. I make a decree, That in every dominion of my kingdom men tremble and fear before the God of Daniel; for he is the living God, and steadfast forever, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed, and his dominion shall be even unto the end." So Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius and of Cyrus, the Persian.

COURAGE TO PUT GOD FIRST

LOOK now at the other test of faith—that of the three Hebrew children, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had made a golden image, 90 feet high and nine feet wide, and set it up in the plain of Dura. On a certain day, when he was going to establish his state religion, he ordered every subject to fall down and worship this image.

But Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego refused to worship the image. Nebuchadnezzar was furious when he heard of their refusal. He summoned them into his presence, and warned them of their fate if they further refused to worship his gods. They answered him frankly that they would not bow down to the image. He ordered them thrown into the fiery furnace.

They decided that death was more honorable than apostasy. The men who cast them into the furnace fell dead!

UNSEARED AND UNSINGED!

BUT the three Hebrew children walked into the flames, unseared and unsinged! The king was astounded. The people were amazed. They had witnessed what the God of all the earth can and will do.

Then went forth the decree, "There is no other God that can deliver after this sort." Thus we have the golden text for Sunday's lesson: "Be it known unto thee, O King, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up."

And what happened in the long ago when men dared to stand up and trust in God will happen today and every day.

CHAPTER I

I was lost in the dismal old swamp, and night was coming! It had been such a wild goose chase that I almost doubted my sanity. I had come secretly to Swamp Hollow to meet old Abner Longwood—and here I was, bogged and lost in a morass of watery waste that completely bewildered me.

It was all on account of Nancy Lee and a spirit of adventure. Nancy and I had cummited together, starved together and laughed together at the pranks fate played on us; but when Nancy had been laid up in a hospital as the result of an accident I had undertaken to salvage a part of the Longwood fortune that belonged to her.

From what Nancy had told me, Uncle Abner was a special kind of scoundrel who would rob the living and the dead, and to try to obtain restitution from him now, after the lapse of so many years, was like seeking gold from the sea; but I had undertaken the mission for Nancy's sake, with the result that I found myself in a predicament that terrified me.

Her Uncle Abner had brought on a family quarrel and driven her mother away from her home in Wildwood—where she had lost caste through a mistake or as the result of mischief-makers—to begin a life in the city. And there she had remained until something had broken, and Nancy had been left an orphan among strange people.

Not satisfied with this, Abner Longwood had appropriated to his own use all that belonged to Nancy, robbing her of her inheritance through legal technicalities.

There had been a considerable fortune that the Dallas sisters had inherited from old Judge Dallas. But the management of the estate had fallen into Abner's hands. And when he had married Janice, the older of the two sisters, he had had everything his own way.

When I had learned the sordid details of Nancy's early life, I had tried to induce her to go to law about it. But she had refused to do anything—she would not even write to demand her mother's share.

In a moment of misdirected enthusiasm I had volunteered to undertake the mission. I had decided to go to Wildwood and try by force, persuasion or flattery to induce the old man to consider Nancy's needs. Abner Longwood lived—a silent, sullen recluse, with not a servant, the ant—in the very heart of the dismal swamp. When I had learned of this, I had been certain I could frighten or cajole him into parting with some of his stolen possessions.

The man, I had reasoned, was suffering from the torments of an uneasy conscience. But I had not bargained on getting lost in the swamp, with night approaching. I had halted finally on the banks of a dark pool of mud and slime, completely submerged in the shadows of the swamp, when I heard a splash and the welcome sound of a human voice.

In the Swamp

"Hello!" it called. There'n't a young man, as mud-splattered as I was, gazing across the treacherous pool at me. I was so relieved by the sight of him as a possible rescuer that I smiled, and exclaimed: "Oh, I'm so glad to see you!" "I guess it's mutual!" he laughed good-naturedly. "I was hoping to see some one. But I didn't expect to find a water nymph bogged in this awful hole. May I come across?"

"He couldn't prevent you if I wanted to, which I don't!" I answered with so much relief in my voice that he noticed it. "Lost?" he asked a few moments later when he stood before me.

"There was blood on his hands and clothes, which I could not fail to observe, and his face was rough and bristly with a two-days' beard. But for all that it was handsome. 'Why should you think that?' I asked smiling. 'Do I look so forlorn?'"

"Yes, I think you do," he nodded after a moment's keen scrutiny. "And I—I'm lost, too—that is, a little turned around. I won't say actually lost. I suppose any one could find his way out of this dismal hole if he kept going straight in any one direction."

"Yes," I nodded, "but what's to prevent you from wandering around and around in a circle? I've heard that lost people do that in a thick woods or swamp."

"I don't believe it!" he declared. "It's a bogey old gossips tell to frighten children."

He looked at the dark pool at my feet, and then at his hands and clothes, both mud-splattered and blood-stained.

"I'll wash up," he said in a matter-of-fact voice. I watched him go through his ablutions, washing his hands and face by throwing the water up and swishing it around, making a great time of it, splashing and snorting, and finally flinging his head like a shaggy dog to clear his eyes and hair.

When he came to cleaning the blood from his shirt sleeve, my curiosity was aroused. He had betrayed no cut or scratch to account for the blood.

"You've scratched yourself?" I said. "Yes—no," he stammered in confusion. "Why, yes, I suppose I have, and you're cut and scratched. Look at the blood on your arms."

"It's nothing," I murmured faintly. "I fell and cut myself." "Let me see it," he added masterfully, taking the arm and examining it. "I'll wash it for you."

He was much gentler this time, almost tender in the way he was washing the dirt out of the scratch. Once or twice he paused to look at it and at me. He shook his head finally, and said: "You don't live around here."

"No. And you?" He laughed pleasantly, and admitted: "I'm a stranger, too."

We sat and smiled, appraising each other frankly, and not out of the corners of our eyes.

We were men, children; we had both passed that period when a chance meeting tempts one to flirt or make believe; we were neither bashful nor awkward in each other's society, although we were alone and lost in the heart of a great swamp. We were frankly sophisticated, and because we recognized kindred spirits we felt at ease, and liked each other all the more for it.

"You haven't told me yet," he added after a long pause, smiling half humorously, "why you happen to be alone in this dismal old hole. It's the last place in the world one would expect to find—find—"

He paused to glance at me questioningly before finishing. "—well, to find a young lady of your quality."

He was grave and sincere, even though his eyes twinkled. "Quality," I said, "is so indefinite. It would said beautiful I'd understand."

"I came near saying it," he laughed. "Most women like to be called beautiful."

"Do they? Are you sure that isn't a conceit of yours handed down from others? It isn't original."

"No, I'll admit that. But you haven't satisfied my curiosity yet. Are you going to?"

A Warning

Is Issued

There was really no reason why I should not explain, and as I might need his assistance I decided to be frank and drop all circumlocution. "I was on my way up to Swamp Hollow when I got lost."

He started and frowned, giving me a quick, inquiring glance. We both remained silent a moment, gazing at the pool—the very grave and motionless, I curious and vaguely apprehensive.

"Swamp Hollow," he began after a lengthy pause, "is seldom visited. It's a lonely place. Do you know anything about it?"

"A little." "A little knowledge is sometimes dangerous," he quoted, smiling again. "If I were you I wouldn't go on."

"Why not?" I asked sharply. "Because—because—" he stammered, and then came to an abrupt stop.

"I can't tell you," he added later. "But take my advice. Don't go! Come with me. I was on my way out of the swamp. Together we can find a trail."

There was a young man, as mud-splattered as I was, gazing across the treacherous pool at me.

I shook my head stubbornly. "I'm going on," I said. "If you know the way to the house you'll help me."

After another pause he shook his head slowly. "No, I shan't do that! You must go out with me."

His calm assurance that I would obey him piqued me. I was not accustomed to being dictated to. I smiled and shook my head.

"I'll find it alone if you won't go with me." I rose from the log and stood before him.

"My dear young lady," he began, rising also, "if you will be stubborn you must make the consequences. I've warned you, and I've said I wouldn't guide you. Now if you persist it must be at your own risk."

"Thank you!" I retorted. "I'll take the risk and absolve you of all blame."

I moved away, chin in the air, determined to find my way and not let him think I was dependent upon his help. He neither moved nor spoke. I hesitated for a second, hoping that he would relent—and then, finding him as stubborn as myself, I plunged blindly into the thick bushes, not knowing which way I was going or where I would land.

It was a foolish thing to do, for I was as much lost as ever, and the way did not improve any; but there still lurked back in my mind a suspicion, or at least a hope, that he would follow and either renew his persuasion or meekly submit and show me the way.

It was quite feminine to appear perverse under such circumstances, but even more so to show disappointment and chagrin at the outcome.

I was piqued and irritated, but not once did I turn my head. I would not give him the satisfaction of guessing that I already regretted my act.

I plunged blindly forward and, as if that might excite his sympathy, I chose the very worst, tearing through a wall of vines that threatened to shred me of all outer garments, and splashing in pools of muddy water that sucked and gurgled horribly all around me.

Not for worlds would I have weakened when he did not come to my rescue. Like a bird caught in a snare I struggled desperately onward until the dark, dank pool was left far behind.

I was not immediately conscious of it, but dusk was gathering in the swamp. And when it dawned upon me that night was approaching I experienced a new panicky feeling. I was bad enough to be lost in such a place in broad daylight, but to spend the night there was a thing too dreadful to face. I grew suddenly frightened, and the reaction left me weak and trembling.

In the midst of my fright a vivid flash of lightning, followed by an ear-splitting crash of thunder, brought me to my feet with a jump.

The Storm Breaks In All Its Fury

A storm had been brewing, and the dark clouds obscuring the sun were more responsible for the twilight than the approaching night. There was little consolation in this, for of the two the storm was hardly less desirable.

I screamed and closed my ears and eyes as the second crash reverberated among the hills and came booming and rolling down into the valley. The wind suddenly rose with violence, bending the treetops and whipping the underbrush as it rushed through them, literally tearing and twisting off leaves and branches, blowing down huge, rotten trunks that fell with dull, crashing thuds that startled the birds from their nests and filled the whole swamp with terrifying sounds.

I huddled in silent terror beneath a huge oak, forgetting in my panic that a tree in a thunderstorm is a poor refuge, and listening with beating heart to the warring of the elements.

For a time there was no rain. It was a wind storm, which in a woods or swamp is even more dangerous and awe-inspiring than rain. Falling branches and trees crashed around me. How soon one would find me out and strike me to earth seemed only a matter of moments.

To my excited imagination the very demons of the swamp had risen in their fury to punish me for invading their home.

My senses reeled under the impact of the violent sensations. And when the rain came, in sheets and torrents, it had hardly any further effect than to increase my trembling.

I was wet through in a minute, drenched to the skin. The tree offered no more shelter than a storm-drenched umbrella. The water poured through its leafy canopy in spouting streams.

LONG-TIME PROGRAM FOR KENTON COUNTY

Better methods from the plant bed to the stripping room are included in a long-time tobacco-improvement program adopted by the farmers in Kenton county.

After a conference attended by Russell Hunt, College of Agriculture extension tobacco field agent, farmers decided to give special attention to: selection of tobacco land and use of fertilizers; growing of disease-resistant varieties and testing of new varieties; control of diseases in plant beds and fields; use of disease-resistant tobacco, fertilizers and manure to establish permanent tobacco fields; and better methods of curing and stripping.

Studies also will be made of rates of setting plants. Some farmers get best results with rows 42 inches apart and plants spaced 18 to 20 inches in the row.

County Agent C. A. Wicklund announced a meeting in September, to see what progress had been made.

In Oldham county, 114 pairs of leather gloves were handmade by homemakers this spring, doesn't being generally used.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING NOTES

Three of the Jersey bulls in the stud are sons of Double Design Prince bred out of three different cow families. Double Design Prince was owned and proven by C. W. Shipman, Shelbyville, Ky. He was one of the most outstanding senior Superior Sires of the Jersey breed. He has 61 daughters that average 9,418 pounds of milk and 526 lbs. of butterfat on 2-time milking in 305 days. The type of his daughters is very good and they have good udders. This was really a great dairy sire.

Double Design Masterpiece is a son of Double Design Prince, described above, and his dam is Pride Ruby of Avondale. This cow is classified very good and has "ton of gold," or 2,051 pounds of fat in 4 consecutive years. Her actual production from age 5 years and 10 months to 13 years, 11 months is 9 records that average 478 pounds of fat. She has one daughter that is a full sister to Masterpiece. This daughter has a 2-year-old record of 9,285 milk and 498 fat, and a 3-year-old record of 10,886 milk and 588 fat. Masterpiece has 6 daughters in production in C. W. Shipman's herd. Two of these have just completed their first lactation. One has 8,285 pounds of milk and 461 pounds of fat and the other has 7,300 pounds of milk and 394 lbs. of fat. The others are going at the rate of 400 pounds of fat for their first lactation. These are large, deep bodied heifers with very good udders. All records are made on 2-time milking in 305 days. This dam of Masterpiece also has 5 other sons in service. He was bred by C. W. Shipman, Shelbyville, and purchased from Mr. Shipman.

Design Double Observer Boy is a son of Double Design Prince and his dam is Encore Pansy. Encore Pansy has 9 records ranging from 347 to 685 pounds of butterfat and averaging 533 pounds of butterfat. She has two tested daughters. One has 7 records that average 506 lbs. of butterfat and is a tested dam herself. The other is a full sister to Observer and she has 460 lbs. of fat as a junior 2 years old in 305 days and 511 pounds of fat as a 3-year-old. All records were made on 2-time milking. Observer was bred by R. D. Shipman, Shelbyville, and purchased from him.

Design Dark Wonder is another son of Double Design Prince and his dam is Flora Pansy. Flora Pansy has 5,492 pounds of butterfat in 11½ lactations and is still producing. She is a tested dam with four daughters that have a 305-day mature equivalent average of 588 lbs. of fat. Three of these are full sisters to Dark Wonder. One has 3,430 pounds of butterfat in 6 lactations for an actual production average of 525 pounds as a 2-year and 3-year-old. The other has 571 pounds of butterfat as a 2-year-old. All of these daughters are very good in type with very good udders. It is very difficult to find a bull with such a proven sire and proven dam as Dark Wonder.

John Meier Taylor, technician for the Boone County Artificial Breeding Association, reports a 79.7% conception rate for first services in January. The percent of conception is based on the number of first services compared to the number of 60-day non-returns. His conception rate for January was the highest in the 22 local associations operating.

DON'T WAIT TO GET CANNING EQUIPMENT

Housewives are advised not to wait until fruits and vegetables are ready to can before they check on equipment. The garden-fresh flavor, which is one of the rewards of home canning, is retained only when young, tender products are placed in jars within two hours or less after picking. This requires equipment at hand, ready for use. Foods authorities at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, advise the following:

1. Clean pet-cock and safety valve openings of pressure canner by drawing a string or narrow strip of cloth through them.
2. Have home agent check pressure gauge for accuracy.
3. Check jars and covers to be sure they are perfect and free of cracks, chips or dents.
4. Have on hand a supply of new rubber rings and covers.
5. See that canning directions are dated July, 1947 or thereafter, then destroy all earlier directions. Time tables for processing foods have changed, and it is important that new directions be used. See your county home agent, or write the college, Lexington, for the following free bulletin: Circular 440, "How to Can Fruits and Vegetables," by Miss Florence Imlay and Mrs. Pearl Haak; "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," USDA, A 15-64.

ECONOMISTS TO CONFER ON PRODUCTION CREDIT

A short course and clinic in production credit, scheduled to be held at the University of Kentucky, on June 1 and 2, will be co-sponsored by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics and the Production Credit Corporation, Louisville.

Planned to further an understanding of the broad scope of co-operative credit, the clinic will have as its principal speakers, C. R. Arnold, production credit commissioner, Washington; Walter L. Bluck, Ohio Council for Farmer Cooperatives, Columbus; L. J. Norton, Department of Agriculture Economics, University of Illinois, Urbana, and Dr. Cecil Carpenter, College of Commerce, University of Kentucky.

Others taking part on the program will be R. L. Kerr, Howard Gerlaugh and Homer Hayward, president, vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the Production Credit Corporation, of Louisville; Dean Thomas P. Cooper, A. Vennes and Ernest Nesius of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics; L. B. Caldwell, Central Kentucky Production Credit Administration, Lexington, and John E. Brown, Farm Credit Administration, Louisville.

of tobacco per acre on their entire acreage were honored at a dinner by the Greenup Lions Club.

At least 150 farmers in Hart county are reported to be growing 1,500 acres of Ky. 31 fescue, ladino clover being used with it in most instances.

Esther's Zeal For Her People

Lesson for June 13, 1948

GEORGE MEREDITH has a line that runs like this, "God's rarest blessing is, after all, a good woman." In this study of Esther, you may wish to think of her primarily as a courageous woman — most people do, I guess. But back of her courage was a solid goodness, a she would never have been able to say, "And if I perish, I perish."

Dr. Newton

One must read the Book of Esther, of course, to have any grasp of this great story. It requires but a few minutes, and every reader will be richly rewarded. I have a lawyer friend, a prodigious reader, who tells me that once each month, for the past 50 years, he has read the Book of Esther.

A QUEEN WHO WAS BRAVE

DANIEL, we agreed, was a brave person; but not more brave than Esther. There is a verse in Hebrews 11:6 that serves admirably to interpret this first stage of Esther's manifest courage, "The Lord is my helper." He goes to the palace in Shushan, where reigned Ahasuerus, the kingdom stretched from India even unto Ethiopia. His queen, Vashti, refused to come before him when he had made a feast. As a result of this refusal, the king ordered young maidens brought before him that he might choose a new queen. There was in the court a Jew, Mordecai, who had been brought there from Jerusalem. He had in his care the daughter of his uncle, a beautiful maiden, named Esther. Mordecai saw here a great opportunity and he brought her before the king. She was chosen. This brief sketch accounts for her position.

A QUEEN WHO HELPED HER PEOPLE

HAMAN, who was next to the king in authority, discovering that Mordecai was a Jew and was not worshipping as Haman had commanded, a decree to be issued which would put to death all the Jews in the kingdom. Mordecai, learning of this decree, sent word secretly to Esther, urging her to intercede on behalf of her people to the king.

Here is the heart of the story. Space does not permit a detailed recital. It is sufficient to say that Esther, though still in her early twenties, managed this delicate situation with such skill that the gallows which Haman had built for Mordecai turned out to be the instrument of death for Haman and his sons. Instead of the Jews being slaughtered, those who had planned the death of all the Jews lay dead.

ESTHER RISKED ALL AND WON ALL

IF EVER there was a perfect illustration of staking one's all on one great moment, Esther provides such illustration. "Who knoweth whether thou art not come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" said Mordecai as he bolstered her nerve.

It is such a challenge as young people may be facing today. Obviously, the moment now confronting us calls for great faith and great sacrifice if this world is to be saved from utter destruction. It may be that this situation calls for hitherto unknown tactics. And let us pray God there is somewhere an Esther.

THE MESSAGE OF ESTHER

WHICH leads me to suggest that racial hatred was never more bitter than at this moment. Unless the winds of God blow, unless some mighty manifestation of divine intervention is granted, the world will break up on the rocks of prejudice and selfishness and ambition and all the forms and fashions of sin.

"God moves in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform." Let us pray that we may early witness some mighty stroke of his mercy and deliverance, ere the night let down.

(Copyright by the International Council of Religious Education on behalf of 46 Protestant denominations. Released by WNU Features.)

Atomic Hope

Terrifying as is the prospect of atomic energy running wild in the hands of a generation of men morally and spiritually unprepared to handle it, even more thrilling is the prospect of a Divine Will subjecting even such a diabolical thing as the atomic bomb to discipline and control.

Blue Mold Hits Burley Beds In Boone

Blue mold has already developed in scattered sections of this county, according to Bill Davis, County agent.

The disease first appeared in the Hebron community and due to the dry season caused little damage to beds. However, if recent showers are followed by hot humid days there is an excellent possibility that the disease may become serious.

Growers should begin to spray the beds with Fermate to control the disease. Sprays should be applied twice weekly and after every rain.

Three level tablespoons of Fermate in one gallon of water or one-half pound of Fermate in twenty-five gallons of water are the correct amounts of Fermate to use. Apply 4 to 6 gallons of spray to every 100 feet of 9 feet beds or 75 feet of 12 feet beds. Be sure to cover the entire plant with the spray. A 3-gallon pressure sprayer is satisfactory for applying the spray.

Ready-mixed Fermate dust may be applied at the rate of 2-3 lbs. to 100 feet of 9 feet beds.

There is no cure for blue mold. It is wise to prevent it by timely application of Fermate spray or dust.

Fowler's "black heat" elements do a better job of heating water. They do it fast, and more efficiently than any other type element.

Unlike the immersion type, the Fowler element surrounds the tank and never becomes red-hot. Extra footage of large size wire applies the same heat units over a wider area. Fowler elements last longer because they operate at trouble-free, safe, black heat.

Efficient 3-way insulation plus Fowler's long-life elements insure low operating cost. The "porcelined" tank keeps water clean, free from tank rust. Hot water temperature can be adjusted to suit your needs. See about your new Fowler today.

CHAPTER II

I slumped down at its foot—drenched, half-drowned, forlorn figure, expecting and waiting for my doom, quite sure that I could not survive the terrific ordeal.

All my reason and sanity deserted me. I was left only the helplessness of a child, or, rather, that of a creature of highly complex emotions suddenly stripped of the sustaining powers of reason and education.

In my plight I hadn't the stolid self-control and resourcefulness of the primitive woman. All that had made her brave and courageous had been bred out of me.

In the midst of my fright there came crashing toward me a sound that was not made by the wind—rain—and through the wind-swept, interlacing branches of the swamp I saw the face of the one from whom I had run.

It was white and set, but it was not the terror of the storm that twisted it. A greater terror I knew was responsible for the haggard expression, and there came over me a sweet uplift of soul that no wind or rain could entirely nullify.

How strong and violent he was, brushing aside the whipping branches as if they were so many annoying insects, splashing in water up to his knees, disregarding the rain and wind and falling trees as if they were unimportant details. And once he paused as he broke through a dense thicket to shout:

"Hello! Where are you?"

Now I should have answered at once. I had been so frightened before that a call of another person would have seemed like a miracle, and I should have responded with relief.

But his white, strained face and the startled look in his eyes held me in silence. I was fascinated by them, or rather elated by the thought that I was the cause of them.

He had come searching for me. The storm had aroused his chivalry—but it was eleventh-hour penitence, and I was not ready to reward it immediately.

Perhaps he thought that I was dead, killed by a fallen tree or by a bolt of lightning or drowned in one of the slimy pools, and, conscience-stricken, was coming to the rescue. It was not exactly a flattering thought, but it had its pleasing side.

"Hello!" he shouted again, cupping his lips with his hands.

Standing there rain-drenched, dithered and scratched, with the wild swamp in a turmoil of fury for a background, with his face to the wind which whipped and scourged cruelly, he looked the heroic figure of some storm-born demigod of the woods.

In the half light his face was a white patch, illuminated and glorified by every flash of lightning. His eyes were startled but defiant pools of liquid fire that shot a challenge to wind and rain. His body was swaying and lurching before the storm, as sturdy and stalwart as the oaks that bend but never break.

"Hello!" he repeated for the third time.

There was fear and apprehension in the voice. It rose to a bellow and went echoing above the lashing fury of the storm, clear and resonant as a trumpet.

It was then, when his eager eyes strayed toward me, that I moved and responded with a low groan. He must have seen my white, rain-soaked dress, for he came striding toward me through water and muddy bog.

He lifted me as easily and tenderly as if I had been a child, his strong arms holding me aloft above the muddy, rain-splashed earth, while he brought his face close, his eyes peering down into mine.

Then he kissed me. It was an act so simple and spontaneous that it seemed quite natural.

"You're soaked to the skin," he added, holding me closer.

I nodded silently, shivering in his arms. He was breathing hard, as if the effort were really beginning to tell upon his strength.

The storm had not abated. If anything, it was increasing, breaking about us with demonic fury. The wind came charging with hurricane force, ripping, tearing and demolishing. The rain was dashing in sheets into our faces, the lightning playing continually up and down the swamp, while the thunder rolled and crashed without intermission.

Swamp Hollow Offers Shelter

The ordinary swamp pools were filling and running over, forming lakes and streams. The trees were bending and swaying, twigs and branches continually breaking and snapping with a sound like the crackle of small arms in a battle, with the rumble of the thunder for the heavy artillery.

"We must find shelter," he gasped a moment later, struggling from the mire into which his feet had sunk.

In the blackness of the storm, intensified now by the darkness of approaching night, we could see little except by the aid of the lightning flashes which, fortunately, came at such close intervals that the effect was almost continuous. They blinded us, but they lit our way.

I clung to him, jumping and shivering with every crash. When a tree fell with thundering noise close to us I screamed and hid my face against his shoulder. Once he splashed blindly into a deeper puddle and sank to his knees, but he did not let me touch him.

Slowly, like a ship weathering a gale, coming up after being submerged with a giant wave, he rose to his feet and staggered onward again.

How long he carried me through the blinding storm I know not, but I could not guess. It was all a terrible nightmare to me. All sensation except fear had left me.

I was neither cold nor tired nor conscious of any physical discomfort. Fear had conquered every other feeling, and stupefied my body.

Once when he ran into a tree, stumbling against it so that my arm took most of the shock, I did not wince or cry out. I was hardly conscious of pain.

Resting trustfully in his arms, clinging to him, I felt secure, though the storm raged and beat about our heads with merciless fury.

For a time I lay in a painless stupor, lulled into peace and security by the steady splashing of his feet and the jerking of his body. Not even the rain and wind could arouse me.

But when he paused a second, shifting my position to ease the strain on his arms, I stirred and opened my eyes.

"It ought to be off there," I heard him mutter. "It must be!"

Against a black background I saw the outlines of the house in clear relief every time a flash of lightning shattered the gloom.

I saw him bend and peer through the darkness, and when a vivid flash of lightning came he grunted with satisfaction.

"Yes, it's there," he added, beginning the rhythmic lurching again.

I vaguely wondered what it was that he was seeking. Some shelter? Was there a cabin of some kind in the swamp?

"Where?" I raised my head and looked around.

"Swamp Hollow!"

Of course, he meant Swamp Hollow house, the one I had missed—Abner Longwood's abode.

I was excited now, forgetting some of my fear. Against a black background I saw the outlines of the house in clear relief every time a flash of lightning shattered the gloom.

Abner Longwood Is Found Dead

A house of many gables and towers, it appeared to me—angular and sprawling, without architectural beauty or shape, more like a crouching monster of the dark rearing its form above the mud of the swamp.

I was fascinated by it. The storm added an element of weirdness to it that it must have lacked in the daytime, and each darkening of tower and gable between flashes made the next glimpse more picturesque.

It was the picture of the photograph, limned against black thunder clouds. But to the imagination it changed and shifted, revealing new wonders—now dark and sinister, now bright and dazzling. At a distance it seemed to grow out of the swamp, with the tall trees blending with so that no line of separation could be distinguished.

My unknown rescuer had paused, and I could feel the tensing of his muscles and the hard beating of his heart against my body. We were still a distance from the house and his back was to the storm which beat furiously upon him, the wind tearing at his clothes and hair.

He looked down once and saw my unprotected head.

That seemed to decide him, for he started forward again, trudging stolidly and heavily through the mud and water. Not another word escaped his lips, but he was breathing like a horse nearly spent with exhaustion as a man laboring under some great excitement.

We gained the shelter of the back porch, where he leaned against a post, still holding my dripping figure, and craned his head forward as if listening.

The house was all dark, and I wondered if Abner had gone to bed. Could he be sleeping through such a violent storm?

"Knock!" I whispered. "He'll let us in on such a night."

He laughed a little bitterly. "I'll knock," he said, approaching the door, "but nobody will answer."

"Why not?" I asked, shivering. "You're cold!" he added as if surprised, and ignored my question. "I'm wet," I murmured, "and the water's cold."

This statement seemed to arouse him, for he immediately tramped across the porch and tumbled with the latch of the kitchen door. It was not locked, and when it flew violently open and a gust of wind banged it he entered quickly and shut out the storm.

He stood a moment with his back to the door as if to block the entrance of any other, breathing hard and trembling.

I slipped out of his arms and stood by his side, waiting breathlessly for the next flash of lightning to give me a view of the interior which seemed a thousand times darker than the swamp outside. I know I shivered until my teeth chattered, but whether from the chill of the rain or some vague apprehension I could not say.

I sought his arm for support, and found it shaking as badly as mine.

"It's all right, isn't it?" I said, feebly.

He did not answer, but clutched my arm with a force that made me wince. Then the lightning illuminated the room, flashing so brightly that it seemed like day. The whole interior was photographed, on my brain in an intense, blinding moment.

It was a large room—not the kitchen, as I had imagined, but the dining or living room—with a low-beamed ceiling, the sides wainscoted half way up, and the floor laid in hard woods.

There were chairs and tables of some ancient pattern, heavily carved and designed with a solidity of purpose that went well with the rest of the room; there were rugs and skins on the floor, whose beauty or worth I could not judge in that brief instant; and pictures were on the wall, with books lining the whole of one side.

But it was none of these things that caught the eye and held it. They all faded from view, forming only a frame to the picture that was suddenly revealed to us. Our eyes focussed on it with startling understanding.

I shivered and drew back with a little cry of fear. He caught me, and for a moment held me in blind silence.

Another flash of lightning, and my first impression was confirmed. A man lay stretched on the floor, face upward, with one hand in a pool of blood. His face was old and wrinkled, his hair white, except where the blood had stained it.

I gasped and turned away.

"Who is it?" I whispered in terror.

A bitter laugh that made my nerves tingle—and then in a gentle voice he answered:

"It's Uncle Abner!"

"Uncle Abner?"

"Yes," he added, "it was to save you from this sight that I warned you not to go. But the storm got you—got both of us. Now—" He stopped and waved a hand helplessly as if resigned to his fate. The gruesome discovery was no more startling to me than the words of my unknown rescuer. But for a time, even after he repeated the name, I was unable to grasp its full significance.

Uncle Abner! Why, of course, people might call him that in Wildwood or didn't they? Why had he used that phrase?

Was Abner Longwood related to him? Nancy had said nothing about nieces and nephews.

"Uncle Abner!" I repeated after a long pause, speaking slowly.

"Yes, or I wouldn't be calling him that. I'm sure that I want to acknowledge the relationship. He was anything but an uncle to me while he was alive, and now—in death—well, he shrugged his shoulders, 'I'll try to be charitable.'"

Intermittent flashes of lightning cast the room into brilliant daylight, and with each flash the body of the dead man on the floor stood out in startling relief.

His white face and hair contrasted sharply with the dark patch of blood, and the limp arms and legs were drawn up.

I watched the figure in a sort of silent stupor.

Suspicion Rears Its Ugly Head

"I didn't want to get you into this," I heard my companion of the swamp say. "It's not a pretty sight. Murder is always gruesome."

"Murder!" I interrupted, speaking quickly.

"Of course! You knew that, didn't you?"

I nodded, my throat and lips too dry to articulate a reply. The most brilliant flash of the storm, followed by deep-toned, nerve-shattering thunder, filled the room and held everything for a moment in its light.

I looked at my companion's face. The eyes were sombre and drawn, cast, the brow clouded, the head drooping.

Suddenly I thought of the blood on his hands and sleeves, and a horror of suspicion seized me. I caught at his arm.

"You knew?" I whispered. "You knew before you went out there?"

He nodded. "Yes, I tried to save you from this. But now—" Involuntarily I shrank away from him. I could not for the life of me do otherwise, but when he noticed it and gave a great start I was ashamed of myself.

VERONA

The Alumni banquet was will attended and enjoyed by all at the Verona school, Saturday night. Mrs. W. E. Waller is in Booth Hospital, Covington and was operated on Monday. We wish for Mrs. Waller's quick recovery.

Quite a large crowd attended the baseball game Sunday when Verona played Bob & Gene. Everyone was disappointed when the rain interfered and the game had to be called.

Mrs. Pat Sturdivent is improving nicely after having the misfortune of breaking her arm.

The Elliston reunion was quite a large affair Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephenson. Everyone brought well filled baskets and a most bountiful dinner was served.

David King returned from U. K. Saturday for a few days before returning on Tuesday as a Boone County delegate to 4-H Week.

Billy Mac Waller returned from Berea last week in time to attend graduation at Walton.

and friends from here attended his funeral at Waynesville, May 22.

Of interest to his many friends here was the marriage of Charles Deuser, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Deuser, to Miss Kathleen Neillander of Covington. The ceremony took place at St. Benedict's church, East 17th Street, Covington at 9:00 a. m. on May 29th. It was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents and a wedding dinner at Oelsner's.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fryer, Jr. and son Edward, who spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Keeney, departed recently for Nashville, Tenn. where they were to visit his parents before returning to their home in Pasadena, Texas.

Friends here regret to learn of the serious injuries to Edward Redmond, whose tractor overturned, pinning him under it.

Most everyone from this community attended graduation exercises at Simon Kenton High school. Miss Hope Keeney was the recent guest of her parents.

Mrs. Caroline Armstrong entertained her children and grandchildren on May 30th.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wharton were guests of relatives here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hanna and son Jimmie were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hanna.

Mrs. Wm. Binder, who has been ill for some time, suffered a relapse recently, but is now improving.

Mrs. Luther Cathcart of Indianapolis spent Decoration with her brother, L. M. Deuser and family and attended the wedding of her nephew.

STAFFORDSBURG

With an attendance of 63 at Sunday school, the collection, which on the fifth Sunday goes to the Orphans Home, was $41.00.

The Homemakers club held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Edith Ware on May 28th. No as many present as usual, but those who were present enjoyed a very pleasant day. Each one who came contributed to the lunch, which was varied and beautiful as served by our gracious hostess. The program consisted of the garden lesson by Mrs. Emil Stein; the lesson draperies and curtains, their choice and construction, given by Mrs. L. J. Rapp and Mrs. John W. Shaw. The reading chairman gave selections of poems of olden days. This proved quite popular and several members added to the interest by reciting remembered poems from school days.

Among those present were Mrs. J. Beall, Mrs. W. Miller, Mrs. J. Shaw, Mrs. E. Stein, Mrs. B. Rich, Mrs. M. Vanlandingham, Mrs. D. Binder, Mrs. J. Keeney and Mrs. W. Gadker. Next meeting with Mrs. J. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Elmore accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Lester Adams to the funeral services for Mrs. Edgar Adams at Louisville on May 28th. Mrs. Adams' death was caused by a truck, which backed into a street where she was crossing. Burial was in Bronte County, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Gadker were recent guests of Chester Richardson and family of Atwood. Other guests were Mrs. Lou Richardson, Miss Louella Richardson, Thomas O. Keefe and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett.

Old friends and neighbors regret to learn of the death of Robert Baker, formerly of this place, but who had resided at Waynesville, O. for several years. Several relatives

Verona Edges Walton 3-1 In Game Sunday

To Play Fat's Cafe Sunday at 2:30

Verona defeated Walton 3-1 last Sunday in a Benke Semi-Pro loop baseball game that was interesting and close from start to finish.

The winners played errorless ball and their three 2-base hits and a home run spelled defeat for the Waltonians, a team that is showing great improvement. The work of Jenkins around third base was exceptionally good Sunday.

Ivan Gulley was the winning pitcher, giving up but 5 hits, walking one and striking out 7. Worthington, the losing hurler, pitched good ball, but was nicked for eight hits, while walking two and whiffing 3.

Bud Robinson led Verona's hitting attack with two hits, both two-baggers, in three official times at bat. Brown hit for the circuit for the winners. Parnell, Walton first sacker, led his team at bat with two for three.

Next Sunday (June 20th) the Verona club will be hosts to Fat's Cafe for a second-round game, and the contest will start at 2:30 p. m. It seems that all teams in the loop have been strengthened and tighter ball games are looked for.

Homemakers Order Bulbs

Boone county Homemakers are making an order for bulbs during June, according to Mary Hood Gillespie, Home Demonstration Agent. Any resident of the county may put in their order with the local clubs. Orders are being taken for jonquills, narcissus, crocus, hyacinths and tulips. Bulbs are purchased at a wholesale price from a bulb farm in the state of Washington.

Any one interested is urged to contact a Homemaker at the home agent during this month.

Local Win Ribbons at 4-H Week in Lexington

All Boone entries in contests at 4-H Week, held at the University of Kentucky, June 8-12, were awarded ribbons. Each girl was entered in a contest, according to Mary Hood Gillespie, Home Demonstration Agent.

All delegates attended special classes besides attending daily convocation and evening programs. The Boone group went to Frankfort to visit the old and new capital on Friday.

Others from Boone who attended were Billy Maddox, Florence; David King, Walton; Ralph and Robert Glinn, Florence, and William Crowley, Constance.

Piner PTA Accomplishes Many Good Things in 1948

The Piner P. T. A. held their last meeting May 20th at the Piner School. The president called the meeting to order and after a short business session was held the following officers were elected for the year 1948-49: president Mrs. Woodie Washington; vice president Mrs. Ray Elliott; secretary Mrs. Snodgrass Redman; treasurer Mrs. J. Courtney.

Our president Mrs. Viola Elliott, gave a short speech thanking all members and teachers for their cooperation during her term.

The P. T. A. has accomplished very much for the school: pianos were tuned and books were bought for the pupils; also the P. T. A. entertained the teachers and pupils on Friday afternoon with fruit punch, cookies, peanut butter sandwiches, apples and ice cream. This was to show their appreciation for their help during the year, as they presented most of the entertainment for our programs, and everyone really enjoyed them.

A musical recital presented by Mrs. Steinhauser's pupils was given in the evening, and the P. T. A. really thanks Mrs. Steinhauser for her help during the year.

TOMATO BLIGHT

Tomato blight has again started in Boone county, according to the county agent. Tomatoes in early bloom are just right to contract the blight. The best control of this disease is spraying or dusting with one of the "fixed coppers." Sprays are recommended over dusts because they are easier to apply and cover the plants better. Some of the sprays are Tri-basic Copper, Copper A, or Copper King.

Sprays should be mixed according to the manufacturers instructions and applied at the rate of one gallon to 30-35 plants. Apply the first spray when the first cluster of blooms appear and repeat every 10 days until 4 sprays have been applied. Tomato blight thrives best in cool, damp weather. If such weather conditions persist, extra precautions must be taken.

Urged to Aid In Hospital Funds Drive

To all citizens of Boone County:

I believe that the greater part of the citizens of Boone County know of the current drive to raise funds for an extension of hospital facilities at Booth Memorial Hospital in Covington. The daily newspapers have carried the story of this drive and its progress almost daily. Although the drive in Walton and other counties officially closes Friday, June 25th, it is my opinion that few of the people of Boone County know that we are yet in the process of organizing for our part in this worthy project and that Boone County has been granted an extension of time for completing her drive.

When committees for the various communities have been selected and start their work, I ask you, in all sincerity, to give liberally. Boone County may some day be able to provide hospital service for her citizens through an institution of her own, but until that day comes, it is our duty to help support such institutions as Booth Memorial Hospital, which annually receives approximately two hundred cases from our county.

This paper and your local committees will give you further details of our local drive.

Edwin H. Walton, Temporary Chairman, Wm. Booth Memorial Hospital Extension Fund, in Boone County.

You're Invited To the Legion Dance Sat'day

The affair is sponsored by the Johnson-McElroy Post, 277, American Legion, recently organized and working toward a home of its own. So, do come out, and lend the boys a helping hand—your presence will be appreciated. Admission is to be $3.00 per couple and this includes refreshments, etc.

All members of the Post are requested to be at the garage Friday evening at 8 o'clock to clean and decorate the building.

Lebanon Aid to Meet

Methodist Aid to Meet

The Ladies' Aid of the Walton Methodist Church will meet for an all-day meeting on Saturday, June 19th at the home of Mrs. W. O. Bouse on South Main Street. Everyone invited.

Will Meet Again In About 30 Days

On Thursday evening, June 10, 1948, a meeting was held by the Telephone Subscribers committee, with Mr. G. B. Foscoe, President of the Consolidated Telephone Company, and the matter of a more satisfactory telephone service was discussed and a report of the progress made by the Company was given by Mr. Foscoe. Recommendations were made by the Committee and it was agreed that another meeting of the Committee and Mr. Foscoe would be held in about 30 days.

The telephone subscribers will be advised of the progress being made through the press and if the Committee feels that it is necessary to call a public meeting of all subscribers, a notice of said meeting will be published.

We submit the following report of the Consolidated Telephone Company, which was given to the Committee at the meeting held June 6:

June 12, 1948
Mr. Frank Milburn, Chairman,
Burlington, Kentucky.

Dear Mr. Milburn:

Last night at the meeting with you and your committee at Burlington for the purpose of discussing the progress made by the Consolidated Telephone Company towards bringing about an improvement in the general telephone service, I gave some figures in connection therewith. It was suggested that the telephone subscribers of Boone County are sincerely interested in knowing of the progress that we have made, and it was expressed that through some medium this information should be passed on to the subscribers. I am setting forth here below the principal points that I brought out at the meeting.

Since the middle of March, we have set in excess of 200 new poles, the cost of which with labor included amounted to approximately $310,000. We have used 85 coils of wire at a cost, including labor, of about $140,000. We have put in place approximately 1700 glass insulators at a cost of about $250,000. We have used 182 new cross-arms which with labor amounted to $600. We have installed about 47 new telephones at a cost including labor of about $150,000.

In addition to the above, we have paid J. N. Johnson Tree Trimming Experts a total of approximately $140,000 for about two months service in trimming trees away from lines throughout the Burlington area.

The above principal items representing a cash expenditure of in excess of $1,250,000, are in addition to material and labor used in ordinary maintenance.

Regarding our plans for the immediate future, I gave you my assurance last night that we will continue in our efforts towards doing all things necessary to further improve the telephone service. Necessarily there is some work that will have to be taken care of before other jobs and in our determination as to what work will be done first, we will continue to keep in mind that our obligation is to do those things that will improve the service for the greatest number of people first.

I should appreciate the privilege of meeting with you gentlemen again in about thirty days so that I may at that time advise you as to the further progress which we will have by that time made.

Very truly yours,
G. B. Foscoe.
